NYE: '30 SENATORS FOR WAR!'

CHARGES HAGUE NEW DEAL AXIS BALKS VOTE QUIZ

Sen. Tobey Reveals Official Pressure.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Senator Charles W. Tobey.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Charging that a Hague-Washington axis was formed to balk a congressional inquiry into vote frauds and Hatch act violations in New Jersey, Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] today denounced Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, and Hague's Hudson county political machine as un-American and a threat to the democratic form of government. Hague has been President Roosevelt's right hand man in New Jersey.

The charges were made public in the form of a minority report of the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures, drafted by Senator Tobey, who took a leading part in the inquiry. The majority members have not issued their full report.

Charged with Fraud.

Tobey charged the Hague régime with fraud, intimidation, and actual physical violence to voters at the polls. But, he continued, half the story has never been told of the "deplorable methods" resorted to in Hudson county politics and the "rotten conditions which have prevailed there under the rule of Hague, the all powerful political boss."

In the same report Tobey also charged that Oliver A. Quayle Jr., former treasurer of the Democratic national committee, "lied brazenly and unhesitatingly" about a $100,000 loan made by Richard J. Reynolds of the tobacco magnate family to the New Jersey Democratic state committee.

Tobey alleged that Reynolds, who succeeded Quayle, exceeded the Hatch act's $5,000 limit on individual political contributions by lending the New Jersey group the $100,000 last fall to finance radio broadcasts by President Roosevelt and Senator George W. Norris [Ind., Neb.], who was honorary chairman of the National Committee of Independent Voters for Roosevelt and Wallace.

Doesn't "Give a Damn."

The New Hampshire senator, gray haired, wiry, and known for his blunt outspokenness, who, incidentally, hails from the native state of Daniel Webster, recalled in connection with the New Jersey inquiry a retort made by Hague to advice once given by President Roosevelt while governor of New York.

The President, Hague was informed while on the stand, declared at the time that any public "servant" who lived in excess of his apparent means of income was duty bound to tell the people where his money came from.

"I don't give a damn about it," was the reply of the Jersey City political boss, according to today's report.

Calls Hague Abusive.

Tobey asserted that Hague was "similarly abusive" in his references to the United States Supreme court, particularly Justice Frank Murphy, former governor of Michigan.

The report alleges that various attempts were made by Hague minions to influence federal investigators working with the committee. Tobey told of one instance in which an investigator arriving in Jersey City learned that he had been described as "all right" by a "high government official in Washington" who had talked to Hague on the telephone. In another instance, the report charges, an influential government official contacted one of the committee members "in an effort to restrain the committee's investigation of the Hague stronghold."

"Axis" with Washington.

In this connection Tobey recalled that he made the assertion early in the inquiry that a Hague-Washington axis was at work to restrain the committee. Information which has come to him since then, he said, bears out this conclusion.

"It is my opinion as one member of the committee that the investigation in New Jersey cannot be considered solely as a record of political irregularities and abuses, but as a picture of a tragic condition, contra-

Eight to One Against

(AN EDITORIAL.)

The Chicago Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies said in a recent number of its official bulletin that the mail being received by middle western congressmen has been showing an 8 to 1 majority against H. R. 1776. This information came to the committee from "several responsible sources" which can hardly mean anything except the senators and representatives themselves. The outpouring of sentiment against the bill was attributed by the committee to the "unprecedented misrepresentation of the will of the people by The Chicago Tribune and its friends."

That doesn't make sense. We are charged with misrepresenting the will of the people and at the same time we are told that 8 out of 9 people who are sufficiently interested in the bill to write to their congressmen about it are against it.

The people of the middle west have had ample opportunity to hear the other side. The Tribune in its news columns has printed both sides and we have no monopoly of the means of communication. Night after night the spokesmen for the bill have been on the air to make their argument. The great majority of the professional commentators of the radio chains are supporting the measure. Many newspapers in this area and many national magazines are doing likewise. It is true that none of them has so large a circulation as ours, but we do not blanket them in any such proportion as 8 to 1. They have appealed for letters to congressmen, specialized in atrocity stories, and in general have whooped up the case for the bill. To hear them tell it Hitler will land in Washington almost any day now if the bill fails. This is nonsense and the people know it.

The obvious truth is that the people, having heard the arguments, don't want the bill. They believe it is both unnecessary for the purpose of aiding Britain and exceedingly dangerous for the United States. It flatters our pride to be told that they have been persuaded by us, but we know that isn't true to any really significant extent. They heard both sides as we did and made up their minds as we did. They are on our side and we are on theirs because the case for the bill is feeble and the case against it is overwhelming.

We don't mean to say that The Tribune's influence in the matter has been negligible. That would be false modesty. If it had not been for this newspaper many hundreds of thousands of people in this section of the country would have heard little but the propaganda for the bill. Thanks to us they have heard both sides. Deprived of a voice like ours in other sections of the country the people there have not rallied against the bill as resolutely as they have here. That is not the only explanation, but it is certainly an important one for the sectional diversity of opinion that many commentators have noted.

In other areas the war-shouters, the bleeding hearts, and the social leaders and climbers have had things pretty much their own way. There the voice of finance has been dominant. Such figures as James Warburg command an almost adoring respect. Mr. Warburg saw Mr. Roosevelt wreck whatever hope for peace and reconciliation lay in the London economic conference in 1933, but today Mr. Warburg is whooping it up for Mr. Roosevelt's war dictatorship as if he were the hope of the world. To hear Warburg tell it, America's mission is in Europe, not in America.

That is an attitude that is prevalent among the big figures of international finance. It raises the question whether the men who voice it are not seeking to use the American army and navy, the blood, and the money of America, to protect investments overseas rather than to safeguard America.

The Tribune never has and never will yield its opinions to this ruthless cabal. This is an American newspaper. Its voice cannot be bought with money or political office. It cannot be coerced by threats of social ostracism or the expectation of social advantage. We don't think that the welfare of 130 million people should be subordinated to the ambitions and passions of Park avenue, the Lake Shore drive, Wall street, or La Salle street.

'Crashes' Apartment of Queen; British Deserter Faces Trial

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 21, Friday.—The story of an army deserter who crashed the gate of Queen Elizabeth's room in one of the royal country homes and asked her to help him join the auxiliary fire fighting service was told this morning. The incident precipitated a drastic tightening of the regulations concerning the employment of servants and casual workers in all the royal households. The queen was said to have been astounded at the ease with which the deserter was able to wander around her rooms.

This morning's Daily Mail, telling the soldier's version of the story, said that he was conscripted into the army five months ago, despite his wishes to become a fire fighter.

Finds Home Destroyed.

His unit was dispatched to northern Ireland. Then came the heavy German raids upon the east end of London, where his home was located. He was worried; asked for a leave to return to London, and got it, only to find his home destroyed and his family scattered.

Then, the paper said, he returned to his unit in northern Ireland, which soon was ordered back to London. Once in this city, he deserted, still hoping to become a fire fighter. He was too young [21 years old] for that, however; was rejected, and passed the next several weeks wandering around, almost starved. He finally decided to ask the queen's help.

"I went to the labor exchange in the district where the king and queen live and got a job as fitter's helper in the royal household," the newspaper said the youth declared. "I found out where the queen's apartments were, strolled boldly to her room, and knocked on the door.

Queen Is Surprised.

"A voice asked, 'Who's there?' I answered and walked in. The queen seemed surprised to see me and asked why I had come. I said something and she then asked me to tell my story. She smiled and was nice to me.

"She shook hands with me and promised to help. She took my address and said she would write soon. The next day I gave up the job. After three weeks I became disheartened and gave myself up."

He now faces trial for desertion.

French Will Grow Taller with Aid of Wooden Soles

VICHY, Feb. 20.—Starting March 1, many persons in France are suddenly going to "grow" from two to four inches "taller." Leather is scarce, so most shoes are going to have wooden soles, which will be thicker than leather ones. Hence the increase in height. The uppers will be motley —variegated scraps of leather stitched together.

SURE DICTATOR LAW WILL DRAG U.S. IN CONFLICT

Warning by Nye

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], as he left here today to attend an "America First" rally in New York, declared that at least 30 of the 96 senators have expressed in private conversations their readiness to vote for war. Nye predicted that the United States will be in war 30 days after the President's dictator bill is signed.

"The President will create incidents which will lead us into war within 30 days," Nye said. "Congress will be confronted with a situation in which it will have no choice in the matter."

Citing the warlike statements of Senators Carter Glass [D., Va.], Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.], Claude Pepper [D., Fla.], Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], and other supporters of the dictator bill, Nye said the interventionists had abandoned all pretense of favoring only "short of war" aid to Britain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 20.—Warning of the "war madness" in the course of the national administration and assailing President Roosevelt for preaching "hate and fear," two United States senators tonight declared a great groundswell of protest from the American people can defeat the dictatorship bill pending before congress. This is the only hope of preventing the downfall of democracy, they declared.

Senators Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] and Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], speeding here from the battle on the senate floor in Washington, addressed a massmeeting of more than 3,500 persons overflowing the Mecca temple. They charged the "international bankers" in the east were at the root of the war agitation.

Pleased at Large Turnout.

It was the opening meeting in the campaign of the America First chapter in this city where war fever is running high. The sponsors were pleased to note their turnout was larger than a meeting held under the same roof last week by the leading redhot interventionist organization, the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

John T. Flynn, economist and writer, presided over the gathering. Amid cheers he told the crowd that down in Washington the administration wasn't so much concerned with aiding Britain as they were in going to war and "when the American people realize that they will rise in their might."

Another speaker, Socialist Leader Norman Thomas, scoffed at the propaganda of invasion of this country on the one hand and the dispatch of American bombing planes to the far Pacific on the other.

Hits War Mongers.

Senator Wheeler, gravely and with deep feeling, declared the proponents of war might plead for national unity "but if these international bankers think there will be unity with the mothers and fathers of America whose boys will be slaughtered upon foreign battlefields I say no—no—a million times no!"

"High government officials may talk of war," went on Wheeler. "Senators—too old to fight—may glibly speak of their readiness for war, but this bellicose bellowing is in Washington and thank God it is a reflection of sentiment of only a few war mongers.

"I am positive that the great mass

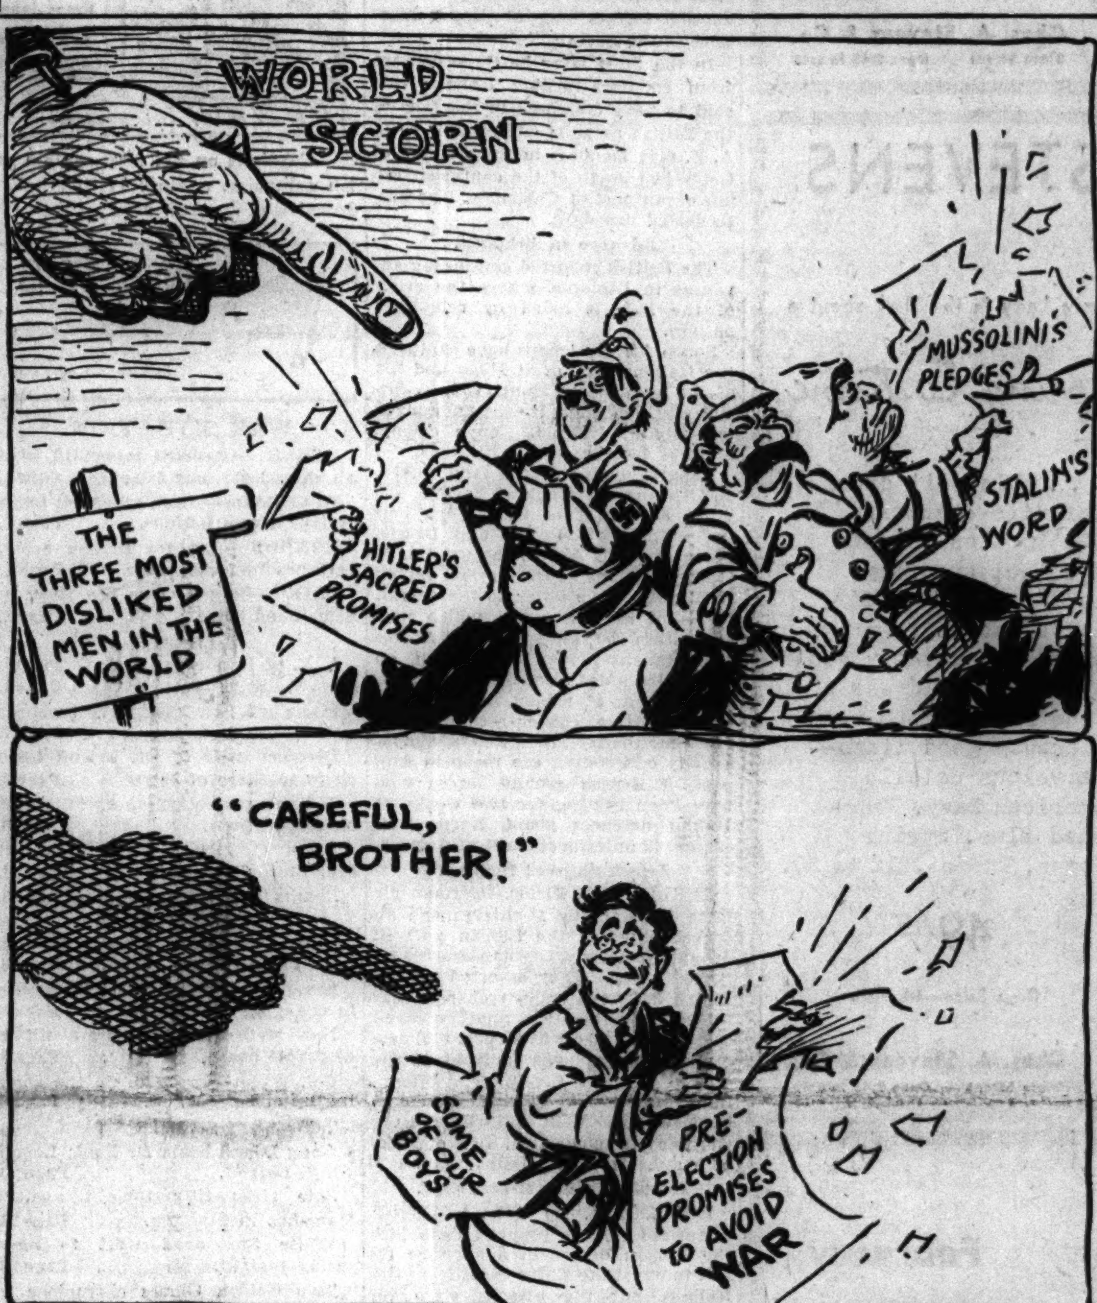
Nazis Attack 16 British Ships

EVERYBODY HATES A DOUBLE-CROSSER



Copyright, 1941, by The Chicago Tribune.

12 DESTROYED, WARSHIP IS HIT, BERLIN CLAIMS

Tells of Raids with Bombs, Torpedoes.

BERLIN, Feb. 20 (AP).—Fifteen merchant ships in the service of Britain and a British destroyer have felt the crash of torpedoes and bombs within the last 48 hours, according to a compilation tonight of German reports. Twelve of the merchant ships are believed to have been lost. The 15 ships totaled about 65,500 tons.

This surge of activity in the counterblockade of Britain was marked by the fact that none of the reports came from submarines. And surface raiding was represented only by the report of one of Germany's fleet of mosquito torpedo boats which dashed into the fogbound southern reaches of the North sea. There, the high command said, the crew of this fast little craft torpedoed two merchant ships, certified their destruction, and escaped.

As for the bombed ships, the Germans said they had to rely on what could be immediately observed by the attacking planes. Thus the reports on them varied from "total loss is assumed" to "believed lost."

Tabulation of Claims.

The following tabulation of German claims is made up from the regular communique of the high command, reciting actions yesterday, and reports given out with "informed" but unofficial stamp up to midevening covering operations today:

A 12,000-ton armed merchant ship "heavily hit with bombs" about 310 miles west of the Hebrides; "ship halted and total loss is assumed."

Two cargo vessels of 6,000 and 3,000 tons bombed off the mouth of the Humber river, East England, one is believed lost and possibly both.

Two armed freighters totaling 9,000 tons bombed northwest of Ireland; they "will never reach home ports."

Two cargo ships, 2,000 and 1,500 tons, dive bombed in convoy southeast of Harwich; the larger was heavily damaged and listed and the smaller was holed and fell out of convoy; both "assumed lost."

Yesterday's Results.

Yesterday's results were reported as follows:

British destroyer set afire near Harwich.

Two armed merchantmen, totaling 10,000 tons, torpedoed by speedboat.

Four merchantmen, totaling at least 6,000 tons, bombed in convoys north of the Hebrides and off the English east and southeast coasts.

Two merchantmen, totaling 16,000 tons, directly hit in air raid on shipping in harbor of British occupied Bengazi, Libya.

Sunk by British Submarine.

LONDON, Feb. 20 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight that the British submarine Sealion had sunk by gunfire a 1,500 ton Norwegian ship under German control "very close" to the Norwegian coast.

A communique describing the sinking said:

"The vessel was stopped and the Sealion made a signal instructing the master to abandon ship. The master of the steamer replied by signal, 'Thank you.' The Sealion waited 15 minutes while the crew abandoned ship in lifeboats. The ship was then destroyed by gunfire. The crew was safe in lifeboats since the vessel was very close to land."

The armed auxiliary vessel Crispin has been sunk, the admiralty also announced. Lloyds' register of merchant shipping lists the Crispin as a 5,051 ton freighter, built in 1935. [The ship was last in New York on July 2 on a commercial voyage.]

Ireland Counts Losses.

DUBLIN, Feb. 20 (AP).—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera told the dail [parliament] today that since the war began aircraft bearing Nazi insignia had attacked eight Irish ships and sunk four of them with a loss of 20 lives. Four of the attacks were made within 30 miles of the Irish coast, he said, adding that in two cases the ships were machine-gunned as well as bombed.

"In all the air attacks the markings of the attacking aircraft were identified as German," De Valera said.

Five other Irish ships were lost, three by mines and two by unknown causes. The aggregate tonnage of the nine ships was 14,205 tons.

C. I. O. Threat: Join Now or Pay $50 Fine

Charges that a new form of intimidation is being used by the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [C. I. O.] in an attempt to gain members among workers of the American Steel and Wire company in Waukegan were made yesterday by American Federation of Labor officials.

The S. W. O. C. local, No. 1115, has made no secret of its intention to penalize every worker who does not sign up on its rolls. In the last two days it has published advertisments in two Waukegan papers saying that all workers not signed as members will be "fined" $50 each as soon as the United States Steel corporation signs a national contract with the S. W. O. C.

Closed Shop Is Sought.

Negotiations are now being carried on in Pittsburgh, Pa., with Big Steel, which owns American Steel and Wire. One of the principal demands is that S. W. O. C. be granted the closed shop in all Big Steel's plants.

"Upon notification that the new contract has been signed," the advertisments said, "any man or woman eligible for membership in local 1115 and not a member will be fined $50. All moneys collected by this action will be turned over to some worthy charitable organization."

At present SWOC is the recognized bargaining agent at the plant in Waukegan, but has no closed shop agreement. It claims more than 1,400 of the 2,300 production and maintenance workers.

Promise Fight in Court.

Charles E. Foxworth, president of the shopmen's local 524 of the Bridge, Structural, and Ornamental Iron Workers [A. F. of L.], denounced the threat of a fine.

"A closed shop contract can be signed only when an organization can show it has majority membership in this steel subsidiary," he declared. "I accuse the C. I. O. of signing a majority of its members at the mill by misrepresentation and coercion. The threat of a fine is not sound labor practice. The A. F. of L. will fight this into court if necessary."

Harry O'Reilly, the federation's regional director, said the A. F. of L. had a considerable membership and will not permit its members to "be coerced" into paying fines.

FLY U. S. BOMBERS TO SINGAPORE FOR BRITISH ARMY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 [Special].—The air attaché of the British embassy tonight confirmed reports current during the last few weeks that United States bombers built on the Pacific coast for the British air force, were being flown across the Pacific ocean to Singapore as reënforcements to the British far east base.

The bombers are being flown from west coast factories to Hawaii by American pilots, it was learned, and then turned over to British pilots for the long flight to Singapore on routes with several undisclosed refueling points. Altho the planes were built for use in Europe, decision was made to transfer them to the far east because of the tension seen developing there.

Plane armaments recently have been shipped from the east to the west coast, it was learned, for fitting out the war planes at the factories.

German Army Spans Danube; It's in Practice

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Feb. 20. —German troops today held a dress rehearsal. They erected pontoon bridges at two points along the Danube river between Rumania and Bulgaria. This activity was interpreted here as either presaging a German march into Bulgaria or merely a demonstration intended to impress the Bulgarians and other interested parties.

Skilled German bridge crews did their work speedily, and entered Bulgarian territory to anchor the spans, according to a report from Sofia. Thawing ice in the mile-wide Danube appeared not to impede their efforts, the reports indicated. Tanks and trucks rumbled across the bridges to test their strength, said my informant in Bulgaria. The bridges were extended between the towns of Giurgiu, Rumania, and Ruse, Bulgaria, and Turnu Magurele, Rumania, and Nikopol, Bulgaria.

Report Rumania Calls Up Million.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Feb. 20 (AP).—Rumania has called nearly a million army reservists to active service effective March 15, diplomats both here and in Bulgaria were informed today, presumably to relieve the large German forces now standing at her frontier with Russia.

Two possible explanations were offered here. The first was that the Nazis, while fearing no soviet thrust, are assigning the Rumanians to quietly occupy that flank while the Germans hit to the south at Greece to reach the Mediterranean.

See "Gift" to Russia.

The second, and more generally accepted, was that the Germans are getting ready to give away still more of Rumania's territory to the soviet and figure that it would be easier to do that with Rumanian soldiers on the frontier than in the presence along that frontier of Nazi troops who have been formally pledged to defend it.

Speculations that the soviet was about to take another grab at Rumania—probably the province of Moldavia—were based upon the widely held supposition that Dictator Stalin had helped get Turkey to come to terms with Bulgaria and that this job had a price.

BRITISH ADVANCE IN SOMALILAND; CROSS KEY RIVER

Clear Major Barrier in Drive on Capital.

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 20 (AP).—British forces have battled their way across the Juba river in Italian Somaliland to clear a major obstacle in the drive toward Mogadiscio, 225 miles up the coast, the middle east command announced today. Mogadiscio is the capital and biggest seaport of the Italian colony.

The crossing of the river, considered a real military feat in view of its tricky currents, has put all lower Jubaland [about 10,000 square miles] into British hands. While the one force crossed the river near its mouth, another was pushing into Upper Jubaland in the north.

In the Juba river battle resistance from counterattacking Italians was said to have collapsed in the face of the British assaults and attacks by R. A. F. dive bombers in the vicinity of Gelib, just north of the captured Italian ocean port of Chisimaio. The battle lasted five days.

Advance in Ethiopia.

The British reported continuing advances in Ethiopia, where the army of the Nile is aided by rebellious natives.

South African troops have captured the Italian garrison at Mega and 600 of its defenders, along with rifles and machine guns, it was announced officially at Nairobi, Kenya colony. Mega is 40 miles inside Ethiopia.

Ranging ahead of the land forces, British airmen struck at Yavello, 200 miles northwest of the Kenya border outpost of Moyale, and Dessie, north of Addis Ababa, the capital.

New portions of the Gojjam region of Ethiopia have fallen to the patriot forces of Haile Selassie, which now are within 200 miles of Addis Ababa. The Italians have fallen back on Burye, 150 miles from the capital.

The R. A. F. raided Asmara, capital of Eritrea, concentrating on the airdrome there. These forays, almost a daily occurrence, are made in support of British ground forces who have been beating for two weeks at Italian defenses about Keren, rail center, 42 miles northwest of Asmara Attack Ships at Bengazi.

BERLIN, Feb. 20 (AP).—German air force units in the Mediterranean attacked ships in the Libyan port of Bengazi yesterday, German sources reported today. They asserted a fully loaded 8,000 ton troop transport was hit twice on the stern, another vessel of 8,000 tons also was struck, and several bombs exploded in front of the bow of a cruiser. Five "enemy" fighting planes were officially reported downed in the Mediterranean and the Germans acknowledged two of their own aircraft were missing.

Repulse British Desert Raid.

ROME, Feb. 20 (AP).—A British motorized column plunged deep into the Libyan desert in a surprise effort to wrest the Cufra oases from the Italians but the attacks were repulsed, the Italian high command reported today. Cufra lies on a caravan route some 500 miles south of Bengazi. Free French forces from the Chad territory have operated in the vicinity of Cufra in previous raids. Italians said the British column tried two raids in two days.

The brakes on the police truck failed to function, it was said, and the truck with all its passengers plunged into the river.

MOTHERS PICKET WHITE HOUSE TO PROTEST BILL 1776

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20—The Mothers' Crusade against Bill 1776 picketed the White House for an hour this afternoon. A large group from various parts of the country paraded back and forth carrying placards and singing their song "Our Boys Shall Not Lie in Foreign Graves" to the tune of "John Brown's Body."

They were neither received nor molested. Policemen stood on guard everywhere. A squad car drove up and down Pennsylvania avenue beside the marching pickets, and the White House gates were closed. Some of the mothers carried white crosses symbolic of gravestones. Others carried placards reading "kill bill 1776" and "hot dogs for royalty but cold shoulders for American mothers."

GREEKS REPULSE MASS ATTACKS IN COASTAL SECTOR

BITOLJ, Jugo-Slavia, Feb. 20 (AP).—Mass attacks by the Italians in the coastal sector of Albania were repulsed by the Greeks with heavy artillery last night, said reports reaching the border. The Italians still are rushing reënforcements to the front. The Greeks are using a large number of British long range guns, and scores of British planes are bombing the Italians in the Tepeleni sector.

Greeks Consolidate Gains.

ATHENS, Feb. 20 (AP).—Artillery dueling and consolidation of minor Greek gains in central Albania were reported today. The Greeks, it was said, mopped up nests of Italian resistance which remained after last week's offensive.

Greek artillerymen were credited in one front line report with capsizing boats in which Italian units were retiring across an unidentified river. Scores dumped from boats by the shellfire were said to have been drowned.

Later a Greek communique reported that five Italian planes were shot down in a single air fight. More than 200 Fascist prisoners were taken, the communique said.

PRESIDENT SIGNS BILL FOR A COAST GUARD RESERVE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—President Roosevelt today signed legislation establishing a new coast guard reserve patterned after the naval reserve.

The coast guard plans to call up at once 100 commissioned officers, 126 warrant officers, and 1,620 men. Maintenance of such a reserve is expected to cost about $3,500,000 annually.

Coast guard officials said the reserve was needed to guard against sabotage in harbors and inland waterways. Most of those called for the reserve are expected to be owners and crews of small craft.

The new legislation also converts the nonmilitary coast guard reserve into an auxiliary.

W-G-N HOLDS BIG R. O. T. C. PARTY TOMORROW NIGHT

Cadets, School Leaders Will Be Guests.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Officers and cadets from military training units of 45 schools and other educational institutions in Chicago and thruout Chicagoland will gather in W-G-N's main studio for the second annual Washington's birthday party for the R. O. T. C. tomorrow evening.

This tribute to the R. O. T. C. is to be given by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in coöperation with W-G-N. More than 600 R. O. T. C. representatives and educational and military leaders will be guests at this party which will be given in conjunction with the 9 to 10 p. m. broadcast of the operetta, "My Maryland," on the Chicago Theater of the Air program. The broadcast will be over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

Col. McCormick to Be Host.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, will be the host of the evening and will address the guests at a program following the broadcast.

At 6:45 p. m. out of town visitors will gather for a tour of the Tribune plant. At 7:25 all guests will assemble in the main W-G-N audience studio for a program preceding the broadcast. Three cadets from the Morgan Park Military academy will post the colors to open the program. The entire assembly then will sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and, led by a cadet from a Chicago R. O. T. C. unit, will give the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Following this the sound pictures, "Trees to Tribunes" and the new Tribune sports film, "The All-American Way," will be shown.

Program to Go On After Show.

Following the broadcast there will be a half hour continuation of the program. Philip Maxwell of the Tribune editorial staff will be in charge of this part of the program.

Among the 600 studio guests will be more than 400 cadets in uniform. Of these, some 200, representing 28 Chicago schools, will be cadets who have received Tribune awards in the form of gold, silver, or bronze medals for excellency in military training in the last semester. The schools represented will be the public high schools and St. Mel's High school and the Morgan Park academy.

More than 120 officers and cadets representing 17 military units from institutions outside Chicago will be among the guests. They will come from Chicago suburbs, various points in Illinois, and Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Missouri.

Gen. Bonesteel to Be Guest.

Special guests are to include Brig. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commanding general of the 6th corps area; Col. John T. Rhett, representing the R. O. T. C. in the corps area; Irwin N. Walker, vice president of the board of education, who will represent President James B. McCahey; Maj. Frank L. Beals, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of military training, who will represent Supt. William H. Johnson, and Col. W. F. Morrison, professor of military science and tactics in the public schools. A number of these guests and Col. McCormick are to speak.

Miss Marion Claire, W-G-N prima donna, and Walter Cassel, concert baritone, will sing the leading rôles in the broadcast of "My Maryland," produced under direction of William A. Bacher, with Henry Weber as musical director.

PRECINCT LEADER GETS YEAR IN JAIL FOR VOTE FRAUDS

Lawrence A. Rasmussen, a Democratic precinct captain and former deputy coroner, was sentenced yesterday in Criminal court to one year in the county jail for conspiracy to violate the election laws at the general election in November, 1938. The sentence, imposed by Judge Stanley Klarkowski, was the severest possible under the verdict returned Feb. 4 by a jury, with the exception of a possible $2,000 fine.

A motion for an appeal was made and a 15 day stay of execution was granted.

Witnesses for the state testified that Rasmussen ordered "short pencil" ballot markings and gave illegal instructions to voters in the 15th precinct of the 1st ward. John Franklin, an assistant precinct captain indicted with him, was acquitted.

EDEN AND BRITISH CHIEF OF STAFF ARRIVE IN CAIRO

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 20 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, chief of the British imperial general staff, have arrived in Egypt, it was disclosed tonight, for a series of conferences involving the entire military and political situation in the middle east. Eden's last visit to Egypt preceded the whirlwind drive of the British army into Italian Libya. Now, authoritative sources said, he had returned with Gen. Dill at a time ripe for a thoro review of African and eastern Mediterranean matters. Conferences with military leaders were scheduled.

Visit Deemed Significant.

LONDON, Feb. 20 (AP).—The visit to Egypt of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, chief of the imperial general staff, was deemed highly significant in London tonight in view of the uncertain attitude of Turkey and Greece toward the threat of German invasion. Gen. Dill, neutral sources said, probably will assure both the Turks and Greeks that Britain's military resources are strong enough to open and maintain a new front in the Balkans.

DIES DECLARES SOVIET A TRADING FRONT FOR NAZIS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] announced today that the house committee on un-American activities was preparing a paper showing that Russia "is using its favorable position" to act as a "trading front" for Germany, and possibly other axis powers.

"Russia is in a more favorable position, compared with Germany and the other axis powers, to trade with us," Dies said. "Transfers of funds and the purchase of supplies—that's the picture of Russia."

FIGHT 'EASY WAY' OF LEFT WINGERS, GRIFFITH URGES

Calls on Business Group for Leadership.

Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Big Ten conference, last night urged 1,000 members of the Business Men's committee to furnish leadership in the fight to stop the country from following "the Communists, the Nazis, the New Dealers, the so-called intellectuals and liberals along the road which leads to totalitarianism." He spoke at a dinner meeting in the Hotel Sherman.

Plans were outlined at the meeting for the Business Men's committee, which was instrumental in reducing voting frauds Nov. 5, to continue the fight for clean elections. One plan detailed calls for establishment of committees to enlist the friendship of voters thru giving them practical and intelligent help in personal problems. These committees would be formed in 16 so-called "bad wards" in which vote frauds have been most prevalent.

"Easy Way" Always Fails.

Maj. Griffith told the audience that experiments in the "easy way" of collectivism and the socialistic state had been tried again and again and always led to failure and disillusionment.

"We, as a people, have been following the 'miracle' men," Griffith said. "We are now consuming more than we produce; we are piling up debts that our grandchildren will have to pay or repudiate, and are concentrating day by day more and more power in the central government.

"I recall that in the 90's a man by the name of Coxey led an army of unemployed to Washington. Coxey had a great idea. It was this. Since we were then in one of our periodical depressions he proposed that the government appropriate 500 million dollars and spend the same for the building of hard roads, construction of government buildings, bridges and the like. The people of that time, however, were a hard headed lot and they put Col. Coxey in jail.

Coxey Father of New Deal.

"They said that he stepped on the grass in front of the White House. The real reason they put him in jail, however, was because he stepped on their economic toes. The people of that time agreed with Grover Cleveland that while it was the business of the people to support the government, it was not the business of the government to support the people. I often wonder what those people would do if they knew what our generation has done to that theory. Incidentally, I am surprised that the New Dealers have not built a monument to Coxey and given him credit for being the forerunner of the New Dealers of today."

Henry Pope Jr., chairman of the Business Men's committee, told the meeting that the ward committee plan is most feasible for continuation of the organization's work. He said six committees would be set up in each of the 16 wards to handle legislation, finance, extension, employment, publicity and material aid problems arising in their wards. Work of these committees, under this plan, would be coördinated thru six corresponding central committees.

In listing long term aims of the organization, Pope stressed the fact that friendship of the ward voters is the keynote to securing coöperation and clean elections. Edward F. Hill, leader of the committee 20th ward activities, outlined a plan for maintaining headquarters in a hall to give aid to the voters. He said the hall could be used as a meeting place for racial groups and that a lawyer would be present to furnish free aid in civil cases.

Fred W. Blaisdell, executive director of the Better Government association, told the committee members that they had learned that it is necessary to understand needs, hopes, and aspirations of the people of a precinct to gain coöperation.

"What can you do toward getting jobs for the worthy so that they can look the world in the eye and be good Americans?" he asked. "By intelligent coöperation with the people of the precinct you can transform it into a microism of the America we all desire."

NAVY TAKES OVER HISTORIC LINER GEO. WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—Like an old fire horse recalled from pasture, the historic liner George Washington was ordered out of retirement today to serve in the navy's growing transport fleet. Built in Germany for the North German Lloyd line, it was seized by the United States government at Hoboken, N. J., upon the outbreak of the world war and converted into a transport.

Eighteen times the George Washington went back and forth across the Atlantic before and immediately after the armistice, ferrying 48,378 passengers to Europe and bringing back 39,228. It took President Wilson and members of the peace conference to France and transported the king and queen of the Belgians on their visit to the United States in 1919.

Some years after the war the George Washington was operated by the government and the United States lines in the trans-Atlantic passenger service. It was laid up in December, 1931, by which time the competition from modern luxury liners had become severe.

Navy officials told newsmen that the ship had been taken over from the maritime commission without cost. She had already been moved to the navy yard at Norfolk, Va., for partial conversion into a transport, they said.

ADVISES MAYORS TO PREPARE FOR BOMBING RAIDS

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 20 (AP).—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York proposed today, particularly to mayors of east and west coast cities, that they take up the immediate problem of preparing for the possibility of bombing attacks.

Speaking at a midwest regional meeting of the United States conference of mayors, of which he is president, La Guardia asserted that from a study made of fire fighting under war conditions, each city must have available about $43,000 of supplementary portable pumping engines and other equipment for each present fire company.

In New York City, that would require an expenditure of about $16,000,000, in Boston $2,000,000, in Baltimore $2,500,000, Pittsburgh $1,500,000, and Philadelphia $3,000,000.

HOPKINS NAMED TO EMERGENCY PLANNING BOARD

New Group to Advise on Production Problems.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Harry L. Hopkins, who returned recently from a fact finding trip to England, bringing President Roosevelt confidential information on the prowess of British arms and the extent of the British needs for American war materials, today was appointed a member of the new planning board of the Office of Production Management which is handling the nation's arms purchasing program.

The board, which will hold its first meeting Friday, will be under the direction of OPM's production chief, John D. Biggers.

Other Members Listed.

Samuel Richard Fuller, chairman; Admiral William H. Standley of the navy; Maj. Gen. James Henry Burns of the army; George W. Meany, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor; James B. Carey of the Congress of Industrial Organizations; John L. Pratt, former executive vice president of General Motors corporation; William E. Lewis, chairman of the board for the Owens-Illinois Glass company, and Robert E. Doherty, president of the Carnegie Institute on Technology.

The OPM said that the board will advise Biggers on "industrial planning during the emergency and post-emergency readjustments."

The board will study production experience during the world war, the OPM continued, the industrial and mobilization plan of the war and navy departments, and the procedure followed during the last eight months by the National Defense commission and the war and navy departments.

Consider Tungsten Problem.

It is expected that one of the first problems with which the board will have to deal concerns the maintaining of an adequate supply of tungsten for arms and munitions production purposes. Army and navy officials, it was learned today, have asked OPM to stop releasing tungsten from reserve stock piles for nonmilitary uses except in cases of extreme necessity. They believe OPM officials have been too generous with the metal, according to reliable reports.

The request became known as the government sought to accelerate accumulation and production of tin and magnesium.

Army and navy officials have recommended that OPM try to keep the tungsten stock-pile strictly on a reserve basis so that there will be an adequate supply if Chinese sources are shut off, it was explained.

DENIES JAPAN MADE OFFER TO MEDIATE WAR

TOKIO, Feb. 21, Friday (AP)—Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka called a special press conference late last night to deny that he had made a reputed special offer to Britain to mediate the war in Europe.

"As foreign minister, I never have offered mediation to any nation in the world for restoration of world peace," Matsuoka said.

News in London was that Japan had made such a mediation offer, but it was reported here that confusion had arisen from the Japanese press use of the word "message."

"I replied to an inquiry by [British foreign secretary] Eden concerning matters relative to the Japanese mediation of the Thai-Indo-China dispute," said Matsuoka.

Report 2 Munitions Barges Sunk by Storm at Gibraltar

MADRID, Feb. 20 (AP).—Two large barges loaded with munitions and several smaller boats were sunk at Gibraltar in the hurricane that swept the Spanish peninsula Saturday, dispatches from Algeciras reported today. Some damage to warships at the British fortress also was reported.

BROOKS AND NYE TO SPEAK IN CITY ON DICTATOR BILL

Illinois Senator to Be on Radio Sunday.

Two leaders in the fight to defeat the war dictatorship bill, Senators Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] and Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], will explain their opposition to the measure in speeches in Chicago over the week-end.

Senator Nye will address a Washington birthday rally of the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee tomorrow in the Auditorium theater. He announced that he will discuss a double theme: "S. 275 [the senate version of H. R. 1776] Should Not Pass," and "The Profligate Spending of Preparedness Money."

Brooks to Speak Sunday.

Senator Brooks will explain his stand against the lend-lease bill in a radio broadcast over a national hookup Sunday afternoon from Chicago. The broadcast is sponsored by the veterans' division of the Illinois America First committee.

The program will be carried by the Mutual Broadcasting system at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and will be rebroadcast at 2:30 p. m. over station W-G-N. Edward F. McGinnis, chairman of the veterans' division and past commander of the Cook county council, American Legion, will introduce Senator Brooks.

Debate Plan Falls Thru.

McGinnis originally had planned to sponsor a debate on the lend-lease bill and invited Senator Brooks and Scott W. Lucas, Illinois Democrat, to appear together at the Civic Opera house. Brooks accepted, but Lucas declined. Senator Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat and interventionist, also declined the invitation.

A delegation from Illinois will leave Chicago Sunday for a meeting of America First chapter chairmen in Washington Monday to outline a last drive against the war dictatorship bill. The chairmen plan to call on senators in person. The future of the America First committee also will be discussed at the Washington meeting, at which Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman, will preside.

ASSAIL HAGGLING OF BRITISH OVER SITES FOR BASES

Senator Johnson [top] and Senator Bone

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—British bargaining over sites for the air and naval bases exchanged to the United States for 50 destroyers was the subject of condemnation in the senate today in debate on President Roosevelt's war dictatorship bill for aid to Britain.

Senators Homer T. Bone [D., Wash.] and Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.] said it did not become the British to behave like "cold-blooded business men trying to drive a hard bargain with all the canny instincts of a huckster" at a time when American taxpayers are being called upon to help finance Britain's war.

Report Grants Indefinite.

Senator Bone precipitated the debate when he called attention to a newspaper article disclosing that a special investigation of the difficulties encountered by the navy in acquiring sites for bases in the British possessions has been ordered by the house naval affairs committee.

Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] appointed a subcommittee to visit the British possessions and make a first hand investigation following a report to the committee by two of its members who had been delegated to confer with navy department officials. These members reported that, while the British got the destroyers promptly, there was nothing definite about what the United States was to get except a 99 year right to build and maintain bases somewhere in each of the eight British possessions in the western hemisphere.

It was supposed that some of the property owned by the British crown would be turned over to the United States for the bases, but only private lands were offered—for cash. Outlandish prices are being asked, according to members of the committee, and in some cases only unsuitable swamp lands are being offered.

Barkley Denies Delay.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky admitted after telephoning to the navy department that sites have been agreed upon and contracts let for the construction of only four of the eight bases. Altho the destroyer deal was consummated six months ago, Barkley insisted that there had been no undue delay.

Senators Bone and Johnson not only assailed the selfishness of the British but denounced the failure of the administration to keep congress and the country advised about this and other important matters.

"Of course, I realize that congress is becoming useless every day as an appendage to this tripartite system of government," Senator Bone declared. "It has less importance day by day; but it does seem to me that in a vague, tired, languid sort of way we ought to insist upon a little more knowledge."

PUT UNDER COURT SUPERVISION.

Judge Edward S. Scheffler placed Gordon Lepper, 19 years old, 5447 Cortez street, under supervision of the Boys' court yesterday after Lepper confessed he snatched purses from three women last Sunday. Lepper said he had been drinking. Investigators reported that he had no previous record of misbehavior and that he had returned the money and purses.

3 RAIDS IN NIGHT ROB LONDONERS OF THEIR SLEEP

LONDON, Feb. 21, Friday (AP).—German planes returned to London early today for the second time since midnight and the third attack of the night. Early reports indicated the main effect of the bombings was to rob Londoners of sleep.

During the night other raiders made another heavy assault on objectives in South Wales for the second night in a row. [It was indicated the objective again might have been Swansea, a port which was raided on Wednesday night.] Other raiders were over towns in west England, southwest England, and, in the daytime, east England. On the offensive side the British reported raids on Nazi held Brest and Calais.

Nineteen dead and 52 wounded were removed from a large London municipal hospital which was hit Wednesday night.

Aim at Port Facilities.

BERLIN, Feb. 20 (AP). — Informed sources said port facilities at Shanklin, on the Isle of Wight, were attacked last night, and several workshops of an armament factory at Fraserburgh in eastern Scotland were set afire.

CLINNIN OPPOSES AMERICAN ENTRY IN EUROPEAN WAR

Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin, commander of the Illinois reserve militia, addressing the Central Kiwanis club in the Hotel Sherman yesterday, attacked war mongers and interventionists who would put the United States into the European war.

"After engaging in three wars I am unalterably opposed to our entering war except in defense of the United States," said Gen. Clinnin.

"My sympathy is with England, however. I am opposed to the ideologies of Hitler, Stalin, and Mussolini. To God in His infinite wisdom I leave the task of dealing justly with the 'mad dogs' of Europe."

U.S. TAKING STEPS TO BUILD UP AIR POWER IN PACIFIC

More Planes Being Sent; Situation 'Serious.'

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—Swift steps will be taken to strengthen American air power in the Pacific, it was reported here today.

Both army and navy fighting planes of the latest type are to be dispatched to the Pacific fleet, Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, was said to have disclosed to the senate military affairs committee at a secret session.

Some committee members said he described the far eastern situation as serious and asserted army and navy chiefs had no intention of stripping American defenses to speed up war equipment deliveries to the British.

Reinforcement of air fighting units in the Pacific and legislation just passed by the house for building defense outposts at far away Guam and Samoa were regarded in some circles as parallel to recent British moves to strengthen the Singapore naval base and the northern Malayan peninsula.

The number of planes to be dispatched to the fleet was not disclosed.

Australian troops arrived this week at Singapore, considered possibly the first naval objective of Japan in any thrust which might be made toward the rich Netherlands East Indies.

British air reinforcements also have been sent to the northern part of the Malayan peninsula near Thailand [Siam] and French Indo-China, on which Japan was reported to have made sweeping military and economic demands.

As uncertainty over Japanese intentions kept far eastern tension high, Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura was reported to be holding back definite proposals for improving Japanese relations with the United States until a more favorable opportunity arose.

He acknowledged at a press conference yesterday that he found the "atmosphere" in the United States worse than he had expected.

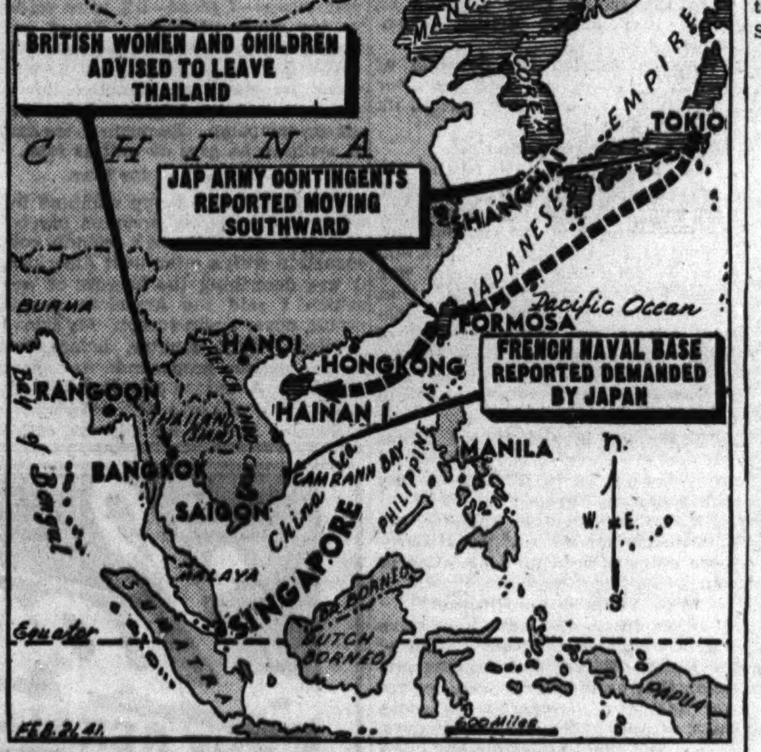
The American government, while apparently welcoming any Japanese move toward more favorable treatment of American interests in the far east, has made it clear that far greater problems now exist in American-Japanese relations.

Former Czecho-Slovakian Premier Sentenced in Exile

BRATISLAVA, Slovakia, Feb. 20.—Former Premier Milan Hodza of Czecho-Slovakia today was sentenced in absentia to 18 years imprisonment, and Dr. Stefan Osusky, former minister to Paris, to life imprisonment, by the Supreme court tribunal of Slovakia. They were charged with giving away military secrets and conspiring against the Slovak state. Their fortunes will be confiscated.

Japs Reported Moving Troops

(Story in adjoining column.)



New moves on the diplomatic and military checkerboard in the far east are explained by captions on the map.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 21, Friday (AP).—Japanese troop transports were reported steaming southward today from Formosa and Japan herself, headed presumably for Hainan Island—a likely way station in any drive that might be made upon Singapore—or for northern French Indo-China.

The story was heard here without confirmation but, coming as it did so soon after the arrival of heavy Australian reinforcements in Singapore, it was accepted in some quarters as indicating a Japanese answer to the British action.

Small contingents of Japanese troops in recent weeks have been steadily entering Indo-China, which lies next to Thailand [Siam], a country which in turn dominates the land approach to the Malay peninsula and to Singapore itself. Japan now is mediating a minor border war between Thailand and Indo-China.

Bangkok, Thailand, reported that 15 units of the Japanese fleet were known to be operating in the Siamese gulf and that British and Dutch citizens were leaving the country. The Japanese themselves declared that pro-British sentiment was rising within Indo-China.

Other reports were received that Japan had demanded use of the French naval base at Camranh bay, airports, railway and highway facilities in both countries and sweeping economic concessions.

NAVY GETS 100 LANDING BOATS OF 450 ORDERED

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 [Special].—The navy has received delivery of about 100 of 450 landing boats on order, quarters close to the navy department said today. These sources said that each of these power-driven craft is capable of putting ashore a landing party of about 40 men. The craft are specially designed for combat service and are not of the type employed for routine operations in port, it was added.

Under construction also, it was revealed, are 50 boats designed for the special purpose of landing tanks.

500 U. S. TROOPS, 142 OFFICERS REACH MANILA

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 20 (AP).—Troops, said by army officials to total "more than five hundred," arrived today on the transport Grant from the United States. The officials refused to state whether they were reënforcements or replacements.

Also arriving were 142 army officers and 97 army wives and children. The army families were at sea when tension over the far east situation flared suddenly, resulting in preparations to return families already here.

The Grant has a capacity passenger list for the return voyage, starting next week.

FINDS WAR BILL 'OUT-HITLERIZES' HITLER TYRANNY

Notre Dame Teacher Hits Roosevelt Plan.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Feb. 20 [Special]. —President Roosevelt's war dictator bill "out-Hitlerizes Hitler," combining the worst features of the Nazi and communist dictatorships, the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, professor in the graduate school of the University of Notre Dame, declared tonight.

He spoke before several thousand persons at a rally designated as "a pro-American mass meeting." It was organized by a local committee of church leaders and laymen who said they have no connection with any of the patriotic organizations which are fighting H. R. 1776, the dictator bill.

Verne Marshall, Cedar Rapids editor and chairman of the No Foreign War committee, also spoke. The assembly was one of the few anti-war mass meetings ever held in Iowa.

Would Destroy Democracy.

"Under the camouflage of safeguarding democracy thruout the world," said Father O'Brien, "the lend-lease bill would destroy democracy at home.

"The passage of H. R. 1776 will mean not only the destruction of our American form of government, but the plunging of 130,000,000 Americans into the flames of Europe's conflict at the whim of one man and, instead of helping, will only prolong the bloodiest conflagration in world history.

"Instead of enlarging the field of mass slaughter, America should try, in season and out of season, to bring the warring leaders to the inevitable peace table, where the foundation for a just and durable peace can be laid. Why not spend a billion for peace instead of twenty billions for war?

Threat to Security.

"If leaders now shouting belligerently for the crushing of Germany, Italy, and their allies, had to go out to shoot and be shot at, to be maimed and crippled and butchered like cattle, would they not change their tune?"

Not since President Wilson pulled the nation into war, after being elected on a peace platform, said Father O'Brien, has the American public faced such a threat to its peace and security as in this bill which would place "the dictatorial powers of peace or war, life or death, in the hands of one man."

$750 a Week

LINDA DARNELL.

Los Angeles, Feb. 20 (AP).—Linda Darnell, 17 years old, will receive $750 a week during 1941 under a contract with 20th Century-Fox studio approved today by Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson. The contract contains option clauses which will boost the young film star's salary to $2,250 a week in seven years. Judge Wilson ordered that $10,500 of her earnings this year should be placed in a trust fund for her.

And Miss Olympia Kozik, the lone girl on the army transport Hunter Liggett, says she had a "wonderful time."

She smiled, she blushed, and then repeated:

"Yes, I had a wonderful time . . . swimming at Flamingo beach . . . drinking sodas in the town of Dewey on the little island of Culebra . . . and always plenty of escorts."

She had been in the service just two months when she was assigned to the Hunter Liggett which carried the regular troops here after a month of maneuvering in Panama.

NYE INSISTS 30 SENATORS FAVOR GOING TO WAR

of real Americans, whether they live in New York City or Butte, Mont., are opposed to our intervention in the war unless we are attacked—then we will fight to the last man, but we will not fight again for empty meaningless slogans."

Wheeler, who led the successful fight against the President's Supreme court packing bill and who was the recent target of personal vituperation on the part of Mr. Roosevelt because of his opposition to the dictatorship measure, paused to defend his Americanism. He is an American, born in America, and of English stock, Wheeler said. He declared his abhorrence of political control by a "financial oligarchy" whether it was the Thyssens and Krupps in Germany or the Morgans, Warburgs, and other international bankers in America.

Wheeler Digs at Roosevelt.

Then came a dig at Mr. Roosevelt who, during one of his brief flurries in private business, was involved in a disastrous speculating venture in German marks in this country.

"I have never sold foreign securities to the American people or otherwise acted as an agent of any foreign power," remarked the senator amid applause.

Senator Wheeler denied the legislation before congress is either an aid to Britain bill or a national defense measure. It is, he charged, "a bill granting the President of the United States the right to intervene in the present bloody European conflict—and that power of intervention is the power to wage war."

On the eve of George Washington's birthday the American people stood at the crossroads of war or peace, the senator observed. He wondered whether they would hearken to the wisdom of the founding fathers who freed the nation from England or would they accept British propaganda.

Wheeler recalled the downfall of German freedom and liberties after the German reichstag surrendered its powers to one man.

Shall Congress Abdicate?

"Do you want congress to abdicate its war making powers?" he asked. "Do you want your congress to follow the example of the German parliament—want the President, and him alone, to determine the issue of war or peace? Or do you still believe that the Washingtons, Madisons, Franklins, Adams, and Jeffersons—all of whom experienced one man government—acted wisely in giving our elected representatives the power to declare war?

"Today we in the United States are told—'we are in the war.' If we are—who put us in it? Was it 'my ambassador to Europe?'

"If we are in the war—we are following in the ways of Mr. Hitler—there still has been no declaration of war.

Who Violated Constitution?

"If we are in the war—then some one has violated the constitution of the United States. The express provision that only congress can declare war has been disregarded as something of the horse and buggy days.

"I do not like to question any one's motives. In these troublesome times men's souls are torn and their hearts bleed. American mothers see their sons taken to camps to be trained in the refinements of mass murder. And when they hear the war department announce contracts to purchase identification tags and make inquiries for coffins—knowing full well who will wear the tags and whose bodies will fill the caskets—is it any wonder these mothers have stormed the halls of congress?

"To all you mothers who love peace—and to all you workers and to all you farmers who know what war means—I plead—lift your voices in the cause of peace. Resist war propaganda. Do not let the war makers intimidate you. Those of us who stand for peace serve notice now—we will not be frightened by any smear campaign. Remember, we can, if we have to, give as well as take.

Anoint Nation for War.

"This nation is being anointed for war. We are being prepared psychologically. Recently, in a friendly conversation with a prominent American, I was describing the horrors of war which I said the American people would never again accept. My friend replied, 'Why, senator, before this deluge of war propaganda has spent itself the American people will want war. They will love it!'

Senator Nye, in his address, called the roll of the war mongers, including the most militant of the columnists "and the Roosevelts and the Knoxes and the Stimsons and the Morgenthaus."

"Hate and fear planted by them have brought our nation to the brink of the most terrible challenge it has ever known," said Nye, who sponsored the first neutrality legislation in congress.

The senator predicted that not only death and heartbreak would come to many American homes as a result of the administration's course but that the nation would be saddled with "isms," its economic, social and political life in a "shambles."

Senator Nye said he was "sick and tired" of the talk about our life as a nation being dependent upon somebody else's navy.

"The only navy in the world that has ever been a threat to any liberty or any policy pursued in the western hemisphere is the navy which we are now caused to believe is our first line of defense," asserted Nye. "We never, never have been dependent upon the British navy. We are not dependent now upon that navy, and God forbid the day when we shall let ourselves be dependent upon that navy.

"Under the lease-lend bill the United States is being asked to do for England many, many times more than England's dominions are being asked to do for England."

Handing over the powers demanded by President Roosevelt constituted "insanity, madness, suicide," Nye said.

Bewildered by Defeatists.

"I am bewildered by the prominence of the defeatist attitude that has been planted thruout our population of 131 million people. Newspapers each day reek with the word that the lend-lease bill is certain to pass, that the fight which we are making against it in the senate is for a cause already lost.

"Believe me when I tell you that the cause of the fight is not lost. It is lost only if the American people, given full opportunity to know what is in the bill, decline to make their voices of protest heard by their senators in Washington."

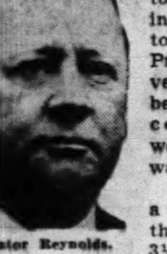
QUOTES HISTORY TO SHOW FOLLY IN DICTATOR BILL

Reynolds Cites Arguments Used 132 Years Ago.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] surprised administration leaders today by declaring his intention to vote against President Roosevelt's dictator bill because of his conviction it would lead to war.



Senator Reynolds.

Reynolds addressed the senate for 3½ hours, denouncing the dictator bill, which his colleague, Senator Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.], supported yesterday in a speech expressing his readiness for war. Reynolds' declaration against the bill surprised administration leaders because he voted to report the measure from the foreign relations committee and had been relied upon to support it in the senate.

Quoting history to prove his point, Reynolds said the same argument now being advanced in support of "all out" aid to Great Britain was advanced by American anglophiles 132 years ago, when Napoleon was seeking to invade England.

Compares Two Speeches.

Reynolds quoted from a speech made in the senate at the time of Napoleon by Senator Pickering of South Carolina as follows: If that power [France], swayed by that satanic genius, Napoleon, should win, would she not take Nova Scotia, Canada, Louisiana, the Antilles, Florida, and South America? After these conquests would not the United States, the only remaining republic, be conquered?"

Reynolds called attention to the remarkable similarity between this argument and statements now made by supporters of the dictator bill, such as Senator Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], who declared on Monday:

"As realistic persons we recognize that without the navy of Britain afloat we are in grave danger. . . . I think the invasion would come by way of Iceland, Greenland, Newfoundland, the St. Lawrence, the Richelieu, Lake Champlain, and down the Hudson river."

Quotes John Adams.

Just as there are Americans today who believe in America first, Reynolds asserted, there were men in the senate and elsewhere 132 years ago who did not agree with the Pickerings. He quoted John Adams, second President of the United States, as follows:

"Our gazettes and pamphlets tell us that Bonaparte will conquer England and seize command of the British navy and send I know not how many hundred thousand soldiers here and conquer from New Orleans to Passamaquoddy. Tho every one of these bugbears is an empty phantom, yet the people seem to believe every article of this bombastical creed and tremble and shudder in consequence. Who shall touch these blind eyes?"

Reynolds assailed the argument that the United States is dependent for its security on Great Britain. The truth of the matter, he said, is that Britain depends on the United States for the preservation of her empire, as evidenced by her appeals for "all out" aid during the Napoleonic wars, in the world war, and in 1941.

Reads from Editorial.

Reynolds read excerpts from what he called a remarkable editorial in refuting the contention that Great Britain will not need American troops even if the United States enters the war. The editorial was published in the Raleigh [N. C.] News and Observer, which is owned by Josephus Daniels, world war secretary of the navy and now President Roosevelt's ambassador to Mexico.

"England does need troops from far off," the editorial said. "If it did not, Australians would not now be fighting in North Africa. It will not soon need more men in England, but already Hitler makes disturbing motions in the Balkans toward a possible new battleground in the near east.

"If America determines to go to the aid of an assailed democracy, no fear of war will deter it. But America should not move in aid under any illusion that it can serve only with money and materials and with no risk of men. . . . If we are going to save the world, we cannot count on saving our skins at the same time."

Divorced in France

DANIELLE DARRIEUX.

VICHY, France, Feb. 20 (AP).—The newspaper Le Journal said today the divorce of Motion Picture Actress Danielle Darrieux and her husband, Henry Decoin, was announced in Paris. Decoin had directed Miss Darrieux in pictures in Hollywood and France.

700 GO ON STRIKE AT PLANT MAKING MILITARY GOODS

Cleveland, O., Feb. 20 (AP).—C. I. O. unionists struck today at the Willard Storage Battery company in protest, their leaders said, against the concern's failure to give a satisfactory answer to demands for health protection measures. R. E. Reisinger, regional director of the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers, said nearly 700 men walked out before the regular week-end shutdown. The plant has subcontracts for military aircraft, and truck batteries. A company spokesman said "prospects are satisfactory" for settlement within 48 hours.

Shirt Makers Walk Out.

Troy, N. Y., Feb. 20 (AP).—Approximately 1,000 employés of Cluett, Peabody and company, shirt and collar manufacturer, walked out today, a national organizer for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers [C. I. O.] said, because of what she termed the company's failure to settle "a number of grievances." The company has a $228,000 government contract for army shirts. It employs 3,800.

FERRYING PLANES TO BRITAIN: HERE IS HOW IT'S DONE

Pilots Tell Facts Behind Atlantic Crossings.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The inside story of the trans-Atlantic delivery flights of American bombers from Canadian air bases to military aerodromes in England can now be put together from a number of sources, most of them returned pilots. More than 60 such aerial deliveries have been completed over the 2,100 mile water course. Most of these have been made during the last four months.

One flyer, who refused to allow his name to be used, also disclosed that while "a few" planes and pilots have been lost in attempting the flight, not one crash has been attributed to plane or engine failures. Not one of the planes has fallen into the sea, altho there have been accidents at take-offs in Canada and in attempted landings in England.

Take 10 to 11 Hours.

Most of the crossings have been completed in from 10 to 11 hours. One of the longest was 11 hours, 30 minutes. The shortest on record is one of about 7 hours 45 minutes, made by Capt. Pat Eves, a former Imperial Airways pilot who headed a crew aboard a Lockheed Ventura bomber. The Ventura cruises at 200 under the flight plan adopted for the crossing but had a 70 mile an hour tail wind.

The ferrying program is based upon the assistance of an average 20 mile an hour tail wind for all flights. The prevailing westerly winds over the route during the winter months, the pilots have found, are closer to an average of 50 miles an hour, thus giving welcome added speed for each crossing. With the coming of spring these velocities are expected to diminish.

Five types of planes have been flown over thus far and two others will be flight delivered during the spring and summer, the pilots disclosed. The first ships to make the flight were Lockheed Hudson bombers with two 1,100 horse power Wright Cyclone engines each. Second were the Lockheed Venturas, which have two 1,250 horse power Twin Wasp motors.

Others Flown Over Sea.

Others are the Boeing B17C four motored bomber, powered with 1,200 horse power Cyclones; the Consolidated Model 28 long range flying boat [identical with the famous Navy PBY patrol bombers] with two Twin Wasps; and the Martin Maryland bomber. The Maryland has two 1,200 horse power Twin Wasp engines.

Within a few days, perhaps already, the pilots said, the first Consolidated Liberator or B-24 bomber will be flown over. This is a 335 mile an hour four motored bomber with a 3,000 mile range. The engines are Twin Wasps of 1,200 horse power each. Following soon will be the Consolidated Model 31 boat with two Duplex Cyclone engines of 2,200 horse power each.

The entire ferry-flight program has been worked out in great detail by former Imperial Airways trans-oceanic pilots. In every instance the motors are cruised at about half throttle. The ships all carry gasoline for 3,000 miles of flying altho the actual crossing is closer to 2,000 miles. This means that the bombers have fuel for about four more hours of flying after they land in England.

Take-off Field Described.

There is no secret that the take-offs are from Botwood airport in Newfoundland, the pilots said. This was to be the great commercial airport for trans-Atlantic service until war came. Now it is the main Canadian field for the ferry work with its three 4,500 foot runways and one 4,800 foot runway. The shorter runways are 600 feet wide and the longest one is 1,200 feet wide.

The field is on one arm of the Bay of Exploits on the north coast of Newfoundland. It is some 25 miles southeast of the town of Botwood and at a height of 540 feet above sea level, which makes it fog free.

Botwood has a radio beam and full lighting equipment. Both are used by the trans-Atlantic flyers. Take-offs always are at night or at dusk so that the ocean crossing will be made in darkness, and the landing in England in daylight. The Botwood beam speeds the outbound pilots on their way, but does not extend for more than 200 miles on the great circle course that is flown.

"Almost every flight has been made chiefly by dead reckoning," one airman said. Dead reckoning is a method of flying entirely by clock, airspeed indicator, and compass. The course followed requires pilots to change the direction of flight a few degrees about once an hour, heading first northeastward and finally coming into England heading southeastward.

Radio signals from British stations usually are used on the last 200 miles of flight to guide the bombers in. Flyers know just what field to approach, and signal their arrivals with flares when they have found the proper landing area, they said.

Overloaded at Takeoffs.

The Hudson, Ventura, and Martin Maryland bombers all are overloaded slightly when they start their trips. The normal weights of the Hudson and Ventura bombers are respectively 17,500 pounds and 18,500 pounds. In order to carry the 1,200 gallons of fuel needed on the Hudson and the 1,250 gallons on the Ventura, they are loaded to 19,750 pounds and 20,716 pounds respectively.

The Maryland's normal maximum loaded weight is 15,297 pounds. But to carry the 1,100 gallons of fuel required this ship is loaded to 18,302 pounds at take-off.

None of these bombers has regular tanks to carry such fuel loads. The British, in Canada, install collapsible rubber tanks in the bomb bays and cabins, and these are linked to the airplane's regular fuel system.

As the bombers' regular tanks are emptied in flight the fuel in the rubber containers is pumped into them. The rubber collapses and is stored out of the way in the fuselage. This expedient alone makes it possible for these smaller planes to make the crossing.

The most critical moment in the flights are at take-off, one pilot said. The heavily loaded little Lockheeds are tricky and must be held on the ground until a speed of 120 miles an hour is reached.

NETHERLANDS PRINCE TRAINS IN BRITAIN AS FIGHTER PLANE PILOT

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands today revealed that he has been training for four months with the British air force. He already has upward of 50 hours' solo to his credit, some of it in trainer planes as fast as Spitfires and Hurricanes.

The Tribune correspondent last saw Bernhard in November when he accompanied the prince and his instructor to an R. A. F. training school to watch the prince fly. The prince told me he had no intention of joining the R. A. F., but hoped to go thru the full training course for fighters and pilots, including gunnery, mechanics, and wireless operating. He considered this appropriate to his rank as a group captain in the Netherlands air force, but he would not say whether he would actively join the group of Dutch pilots now comprising the Netherlands air force in Britain.

My impression after seeing Bernhard glide and land smoothly at the end of an hour alone in the air was that he has a natural aptitude for flying. His instructor confirmed this and said that the prince had been fully ready to solo after only 6 hours of instruction.

NEW STATE PLAN CALLS FOR END OF PAROLE BOARD

Duties Would Be Filled by Five Officials.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 20.—Abolition of the state parole board was recommended to Gov. Green today by the committee he assigned to combine all state crime and fire fighting agencies into a new department of public safety.

The governor's committee, which now undertakes the centralizing of all forms of public assistance under the present welfare department, recommended to Green that in place of the parole board, major parole powers be vested in five superintendents in the division of corrections, which would be a part of the department of safety.

These five would hold the posts of superintendent of prisons, superintendent of paroles, superintendent ot parole supervision, superintendent of crime prevention, and state criminologist.

Subject to Veto.

The group would sit en banc on the parole of all convicts, but their decisions would be subject to the veto of the director of public safety. If such a post is created, many think Gov. Green will award it to T. P. Sullivan, chief of the highway police.

Another section of the plan approved today calls for utilization of trained criminologists on the prisons' diagnostic depots as a parole research staff because of the constant study they make of convicts. They would originate parole recommendations based upon the degree of apparent rehabilitation they observe in prisoners.

The heads of the division of corrections would then pass upon the recommendations and order a parole or further retention, and their decisions would in turn be subject to the director's veto.

Three divisions have been set up for the new department: corrections, highway police, under which the bureau of criminal investigation and identification would function, and fire marshal. The division of corrections, with five units, would be the largest of the three.

An Important Job.

As presently contemplated, the superintendent of crime prevention would be an extremely important figure in the new setup, since his duties would include the extinction of rackets and vote frauds and the tracing and crushing of "fences," underworld merchants dealing in stolen property.

Sues for Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. VIRGINIA BRUNER.

A temporary alimony hearing in the Superior court of Judge Rudolph Desort terminated abruptly yesterday when Earl Bruner, 26 years old, asked by his estranged wife's attorney to state his income, replied: "What's yours?"

Judge Desort ordered Bruner, who has been in the sheriff's custody since Tuesday, to remain in custody and appear again today. Mrs. Virginia Bruner, 23, of 902 North Austin boulevard, Oak Park, has a divorce suit pending charging cruelty. Her attorney, Robert Cantwell Jr., said Bruner deserted her last September.

She learned he was in Chicago recently, and had Bruner arrested by Oak Park police on a child abandonment warrant. He was turned over to sheriff's deputies Tuesday on a writ previously issued by Judge Desort to insure that Bruner would not leave the court's jurisdiction.

The couple was married in 1936. They have a son, William, 5 months old.

CRIMÉ FIGHTERS ASSAIL NITTI AND JUDICIAL LAXITY

Bertram J. Cahn.

The Chicago crime commission, in its annual report yesterday, pledged continuance of its campaign with law enforcement authorities against labor racketeering and gambling. Bertram J. Cahn, at a meeting in the Union League club charged that "the underlying cause for the immunity of racketeers in every field can be assigned to the insidious power of the men who control political patronage."

Much of Cahn's report was devoted to Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, successor to Al Capone. He described Nitti as "the outstanding character of the racketeers and gangsters in Chicago who are playing a daily double by chiseling into the fields of both gambling and labor."

Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the commission, also told of its work during the 22d year of its existence.

Sewell L. Avery, Swigart, Edward B. Wilcox, and Howard Van S. Tracy were named directors for a five year term. Burt A. Massee was elected a director to fill a vacancy for a term expiring in 1942. Cahn and other officers were reëlected.

DONNELL'S FOES YIELD; DECLARE HIM GOVERNOR

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 20 [Special].—Forrest C. Donnell, Republican, today was declared by a joint session of the legislature the elected governor of Missouri, 38 days after he was supposed to have been inaugurated. Immediately Lawrence McDaniel, his Democratic opponent in last November's election, announced that he would file a contest.

The Democrats, who fought the seating of Donnell with every political weapon they could use, surrendered to a mandate of the state Supreme court instructing that Donnell be put in office on the face of official returns showing he won by 3,613 votes. The court, which consists of seven Democrats, made its ruling yesterday.

Speaker Morris E. Osburn of the house declared the result of the election before a brief joint session of the house and senate, and next Wednesday was set as the day for the inauguration.

COL. WHIPP TO DO THE SHAKING UP AT ST. CHARLES

Green Appoints Veteran Trouble Shooter.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Col. Frank D. Whipp.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 20.—Gov. Green late today announced that a veteran trouble shooter in the state penal system, Col. Frank D. Whipp, would for the present relinquish his title of superintendent of prisons in order to supervise widespread changes at the St. Charles Training School for Boys.

Discipline and the welfare of the inmates of the school have so disintegrated, the governor said, that he has assigned Col. Whipp and T. P. Sullivan, chief of the highway police, to determine whether the institution should be manned with trained guards.

Long History of Escapes.

The fatal beating of a young Negro inmate by two St. Charles pay rollers a few days ago climaxed a long history of escapes and trouble which has kept St. Charles in the public eye for several years.

Altho Gov. Green did not replace Capt. William T. Harmon as superintendent, he announced four other appointments as the result of the recent trouble.

C. W. Evans, former public school principal at Decatur and other Illinois cities, was given charge of academic and vocational education at St. Charles.

Harold Johnson, former director of athletics at James Millikin university, Decatur, was placed in charge of the recreational program.

U. of C. Professor to Help.

Harrison Dobbs, professor of applied sociology at the University of Chicago, was named to the state board of welfare commissioners and will aid Rodney H. Brandon, director of welfare, to set up an entirely new personnel system for state institutions.

Barney Long, head of juvenile parole supervision, was directed to spend whatever time is necessary at St. Charles to put personnel changes into effect.

"In making these assignments and obtaining the coöperation of the men I have asked to serve," the governor said, "we are taking every safeguard to prevent recurrence of such tragedies as the recent murder of a boy, and to put a stop to the frequent escapes from the school which have terrified that section of the state.

"Reports given me indicate that discipline and the welfare of the inmates have disintegrated because those who have the juvenile offenders in charge have been unqualified political appointees and under political pressure."

TAKE IT EASY! GREEN URGES THE ASSEMBLY

Fears Hasty Changes in Constitution.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 20.—Gov. Green has asked that the Illinois general assembly proceed carefully and thoughtfully in all matters concerning changes in the state constitution and state revenue laws.

He said today that he made the request to the big six of the assembly, the presiding officers, majority leaders, and the finance committee chairmen of the two houses at a luncheon in the executive mansion yesterday. All, he said, were in accord with his thought that there should be no undue haste, no risk of conflicting action, on subjects of such great importance.

The Six Conferees.

The three representatives of the senate were its president, Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, Majority Leader Arnold P. Benson, and Senator Thomas P. Gunning, appropriations chairman. The house leaders were Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Majority Leader Fred W. Rennick, and Representative Hugh Green, chairman of the appropriations committee.

Gov. Green did not make an announcement on this subject, but information concerning his action was brought out when newspaper men questioned him about his attitude toward two resolutions introduced yesterday by Senator Harold G. Ward [D., Chicago]. One would provide for a constitutional convention to rewrite the basic law of the state and the other proposed a gateway amendment which would permit three simultaneous amendments to the constitution. The constitution now prohibits amendment of more than one article at a time.

Revenue Article Problem.

In this connection the old topic of the revision of Article IX. of the constitution arises. This is the revenue article, which now prohibits the classification of property for purposes of taxation. Some lawyers contend that this prohibition bars the Green plan to take the sales tax off food as well as enactment of a state income tax favored by labor and agriculture.

Gov. Green said with emphasis that he was not seeking delay in constitutional and revenue legislation. He said he favored as early consideration of the subjects as possible.

"In my opinion all of these matters should be considered together and with reference to each other. There should be no piecemeal program which might and probably would lead to confusion and conflict," the governor added.

Whole New Constitution.

In general terms he suggested that if the constitutional program is to look toward complete revision there is little need toward pressing the gateway amendment and that if rewriting of the revenue article is to be sought it might be made a part of drafting an entirely new constitution.

"It seems that here in Illinois every time we tackle a big revenue problem we run smack up against the constitution," he said. "Therefore, the two subjects should be taken up together."

DIES FROM FUMES IN TRUCK.

Freeport, Ill., Feb. 20 [Special].—John Lewis, 45 years old, of Winfield, Ia., was suffocated to death by fumes from a combination oil and charcoal heater in his produce truck here early today. Lewis and his nephew, Walter Singsheim, 20, of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., arrived last night with a load of potatoes and went to sleep in the truck.

EX-WIFE LOSES FIGHT TO SHARE FRIEND ESTATE

Court Refuses to Cancel Physician's Divorce.

Mrs. Magdalen Friend Lanskop.

A woman lost a long legal battle yesterday to prove that she was insane eight years ago. By losing this fight she also lost half of a $2,000,000 fortune.

The woman is Mrs. Magdalen Friend Lanskop. She claimed she was insane when, in 1933, she was divorced by Dr. Emanuel Friend, noted Chicago physician. The divorce deprived her of the right to claim a widow's share of the estate he left when he died five years later.

It was her suit to prove herself insane in 1933 and thus to set aside the divorce that was lost by Mrs. Lanskop yesterday. Judge John J. Lupe, in a 15,000 word opinion, decided against Mrs. Lanskop, finding that she was sane and not insane, and dismissing the suit.

Sought $1,000,000 Share.

Had the divorce been set aside, as it would have been had Mrs. Lanskop's claim of insanity [she said she recovered her sanity subsequently] been upheld, she would have been entitled to $1,000,000 from the estate, her lawyers said, since a widow is entitled to half her husband's fortune if there are no children. Dr. Friend was childless.

Judge Lupe cited the "care" with which Mrs. Lanskop handled a $25,000 divorce settlement granted in lieu of all dower rights. During hearings on the case, Judge Rudolph Desort of Superior court had testified that Mrs. Lanskop was sane when the divorce was granted.

In 1917 Dr. Friend married Mrs. Lanskop, then Miss Magdalen Alexander. He was 47 years old, and she was 24. She sued for separate maintenance in 1933, but Dr. Friend won a divorce on his cross bill charging desertion. She moved to Laguna Beach, Cal., and in 1935 married her gardener, George Lanskop. During the trial Mrs. Lanskop sought to prove she was insane at the time of this second marriage.

Cites Her Own Letter.

Judge Lupe yesterday read a letter Mrs. Lanskop wrote to Dr. Friend less than a month after their divorce, thanking him for her freedom. The judge termed it the letter of a sane woman. He also cited testimony of her friends and business acquaintances who asserted she was sane.

"If Mrs. Lanskop had been considered insane in 1933 her attorneys had every opportunity to appeal the divorce decree," Judge Lupe said. "If it was so obvious she was insane, why did no one oppose her second marriage?"

Judge Lupe said also that Mrs. Lanskop's married life with her gardener had been described as happy and that witnesses had asserted she continued to live with Lanskop after the filing last fall of her suit to have the divorce set aside.

Her suit was opposed by the Northern Trust company, executor of the estate, represented by Attorney A. J. Pflaum.

MEMBERS OF ASCAP O.K. CONSENT DECREE IN ANTI-TRUST SUIT

New York, Feb. 19 (AP).—More than 700 members—a majority—of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers approved unanimously tonight the board of directors' decision to consent to a decree designed to end the federal government's criminal antitrust action against the society.

The decree, terms of which were announced yesterday, would provide for assessment of fines of $24,000 afainst ASCAP and require changes in ASCAP'S operations' policies.

Ratification came after New York's lieutenant governor, Charles Poletti, special counsel for the organization, asserted it was to the benefit of the authors, composers, and publishers of the nation to do so.

President Gene Buck said he would fly to California to conduct another ratification meeting of the west coast ASCAP members at Beverly Hills tomorrow night.

Quincy Attorney to Head Soldier and Sailor Home

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 20 (AP).—Director Rodney H. Brandon of the state welfare department announced today the appointment of James Nielsen, Quincy attorney, as managing officer of the Illinois soldiers and sailors' home at Quincy. Nielsen, whose appointment was effective today, succeeds Kenneth Elmore, who recently resigned.

A. F. L. ATTACKS SEAWAY PLAN AS UNWISE PROJECT

Miami, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP).—The administration-sponsored St. Lawrence river waterway project was condemned today by the American Federation of Labor as a costly power policy that would largely benefit Canada at the expense of the United States.

George M. Harrison, president of the Railway Clerks' Brotherhood of the A. F. of L., was designated to head a committee from the federation's executive council to oppose reopening of the issue.

Harrison said the cost, which he set between 900 million and 1 billion 300 million dollars, would fall largely on the United States, while the project would have no economic justification. He declared that agricultural interests of the midwest, supporting the proposal, would reap little benefit on exports because their exportable surpluses already had passed into hands of "speculators and brokers" by the time they could use the water route.

TELLS OF 'ORGY' AND POKE IN EYE FROM A WOMAN

Stanley Baldwin, 50 years old, a salesman of cold storage doors, told Master in Chancery Henry L. Burman yesterday that his wife, Irene, 40, and a woman friend staged such a "bacchanalian orgy" Jan. 5 in the Baldwin apartment at 425 Oakdale avenue that he was forced to call police to quiet them.

"Beer bottles were all over the place—left over from the previous night," Baldwin said. "When I returned home at 5:30 p. m. the two women were still drinking. I finally went to the police station and returned with two policemen. The other woman, dressed in only one flimsy garment, hit me in the eye and chased me around the room. I spent a week in the hospital."

The hearing was on Mrs. Baldwin's plea for temporary alimony while her divorce suit, charging cruelty, is pending. Baldwin has filed a cross bill, charging habitual drunkenness.

The next 1,000 miles will be free

HERE'S the way it's working out, according to owners' reports that reach us:

Compared with mileage from 1940 models, 1941 Buicks with Compound Carburetion travel from 10% to 15% farther on the same gasoline cost.

Which means, roughly, that when a Buick owner has 8,000 miles on his speedometer he can look forward to another 1,000 miles at no cost for gasoline.

That's pretty nice in any car—but have you sampled the zip and ginger (not to mention the room and steadiness) of the FIREBALL Buicks that give these results?

No? Then better call your local dealer for that demonstration right now!

TAX COLLECTION AX FALLS FIRST ON CORPORATIONS

Pay or Lose Personalty, Toman Warns.

County Treasurer John Toman sent letters yesterday to 10 corporations that are delinquent for large amounts of personal property taxes, informing them that unless payment is made in 15 days he will seize and sell enough property to satisfy the past due bills.

The action was described as the start of a campaign to collect the huge total of 250 million dollars of overdue personal taxes, whose frozen condition has embarrassed all the county's many governing units. Toman plans to sent out at least 5,000 such letters, at the rate of 15 to 20 a day.

Has Ample Powers, He Says.

Under the tax laws, Toman said, he has ample power to seize and sell properties delinquent without appeal for court orders. The method has not been used in Cook county, however, for more than 20 years.

The treasurer emphasized that he had no intention of worrying small taxpayers or going into homes to sell household goods. The first to feel the new tactics will be business firms, it was announced, and later individuals who have filed returns showing considerable amounts of intangibles.

As an example, one of the first firms notified is delinquent for a total of $45,000 in 1937, 1938, and 1939 taxes. Toman's letter quoted his legal authority to levy, and his inability to abate the bill or forgive penalties accrued.

To Post Notice of Sale.

Under the plan, he will have his deputies, at the end of the 15 days, post notices in the company plant that a sale will beheld at the end of five more days. In that period the delinquent's property will be under guard of the deputies.

County Assessor John S. Clark, who with other county officials has long urged this method of collection, said he was furnishing the treasurer with 'air tight cases" and that few legal difficulties were anticipated. Toman heretomore had argued he might be sued for large amounts by those sold out. The county board has agreed to get him a protective bond, and he said he had been persuaded to change policies.

The nice points about the seizure of mortgaged properties were not worrying the treasurer, he asserted. Clark has handed him accounts involving no mortgages at the time returns were made and Toman's attorney, Arthur Sullivan, said that mortgages made later would have to be proved valid by the taxpayer.

Lenders Would Be Affected.

Sullivan also said the law could be made to apply to mortgage lenders who had failed to make returns and pay on the holding of the security.

When it was suggested that perhaps the owners could bid in their own properties at small amounts, it was explained that Toman could, if necessary, retain a lien on the property for the unpaid tax and hold another auction later.

In 1939 more than 50,000 business firms and 280,000 individuals were billed for personal property taxes, but less than a third have paid. Less than 55 per cent of this levy has been collected.

COLD WEATHER SLOWS SALE OF AUTO LICENSES

Louis Rixmann, city collector, said yesterday that cold weather has retarded the issuance of city automobile licenses. Yesterday only 6,958 were issued, compared with a normal run of 15,000 to 24,000 a day during the current drive for licenses. So far this year 459,397 city licenses have been issued, against 472,094 a year ago. Capt. David Flynn, head of the police traffic division, said that only 272 summonses were issued yesterday to motorists who lacked 1941 stickers.

Shirt's Too Big

The American Institute of Laundering in Joliet was almost out $25 recently when a fine figure of a man walked in to try to fill "the world's biggest shirt." He is Sherman Villman, 29 years old, and he stands a neat 7 feet 1 inch, and tips the beam at 330 pounds. The $25 is a reward offered to any one who can wear the shirt.

But, big as Sherman is, the shirt is just a bit bigger. It has a neck size of 30 inches and a sleeve length of 50 inches. Four feet wide across the shoulders, it measures six feet from tail to collar. Sherman's ordinary shirts require a 17½-inch neck and a 39-inch sleeve. Sherman, who comes from Racine, Wis., is in Joliet because of the defense building boom.

vening free elections and bringing into the open the philosophy and methods which stem from the political boss who rules the domain," Tobey's report stated.

"In campaign times in particular the leaders of our government preach to the citizen and tell him of his great privilege as a free American to cast his vote on election day and of his duty to vote, and of the sanctity of the ballot box.

"What a mockery is made of such preachments where, as in the Hague domain, 'free' voters are beaten up at the polls and given illegal 'assistance' by party bosses, where floaters vote the names of dead men and the names of people long since placed in insane institutions, and when evidence which is pertinent to an investigation of fraud is burned.

"Such methods dilute the effect of the vote of the truly free voters, and steal the vote of the intimidated voters. Such things are tragedy and yet they go on year after year.

Has Highest Tax Rate.

"Unless elected officials of the government make a fearless effort to rid the government of these un-American machine bosses these conditions will increasingly undermine the very democracy we seek to preserve.

The senator noted that Jersey City has the largest tax rate, of any city of similar size in the country and has the greatest per capita debt. Property owners, he said, are "paying many times over for the small benefits they receive from the political régime which controls the city."

The report charges that Hague, who testified that his annual salary during the last 20 years has never been more than $8,000 and that he has no outside remunerative position, has grown increasingly wealthy during the years he has held political office in Jersey City.

33D DIV. OFFICERS OFF TO INSPECT CAMP FORREST

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 20 (AP).—Adjutant general Leo M. Boyle said tonight that two members of the 33d division headquarters staff were en route to Tullahoma, Tenn., to make a final inspection of Camp Forrest where infantry units of the Illinois National Guard will begin a year's service next month.

The inspection will be made by Lieut. Col. John A. Prosser and Andrew T. McAnsh. Plans call for the arrival of 10,000 Illinois National Gardsmen at the camp by March 15.

Boyle also said Maj. Sherwood Dixon of Dixon, and Capt. Terrance E. Overgaard of Chicago, had been assigned to attend a special course of instruction for battalion commanders and staff officers at Fort Benning, Georgia, Feb. 26 to May 23.

The Texan, who collapsed from nervous exhaustion last week just after the house recreated the committee for about 15 months and gave it $150,000, has since been confined to his home. He said today he planned to return to work next week and meet with committee members to plan a long-range program.

FIELD ESTATE FIGHTS LINK TO GAMBLING SUIT

Belleville, Ill., Feb. 20 [Special].—An attorney for the estate of Marshall Field, pioneer Chicago merchant, filed a petition in Circuit court here today requesting dismissal of an injunction issued against the estate in Attorney General George F. Barrett's state-wide fight on organized gambling.

The Field interests had been named as lessors of property used as bookmaking establishments. The attorney, Russell Classen, contended that the estate's trustees, including the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, had no connection with the business of the defendants named as gamblers. He attacked the court's jurisdiction, and added that no allegations of unlawful acts had been made against the Field estate.

Hundreds of defendants were named in the injunctions. A hearing on a plea to amend the attorney general's injunction request is to be considered by the court on Monday.

JANICE LOGAN'S NEW HUSBAND ARRIVES BY PLANE FROM FRANCE

Miami, Fla., Feb. 20 [Special].—Jacques Schoeller, French newspaper man, arrived here today by Clipper plane by way of Africa and Martinique, and promptly planned to fly to New York City to join his bride, Shirley Logan Schoeller, 23 years old, movie actress and granddaughter of Mrs. Frank G. Logan, Chicago art patron.

Mrs. Schoeller, known in films as Janice Logan, reached New York three days ago on the liner Excambion. She revealed at that time that she had gone to France last May to find Schoeller and had married him Nov. 25 in Bougival, near Paris, in German occupied France. She then went to Lisbon, Portugal, and waited two months until he sent word that he had obtained clearance to leave France. He left by plane from Lisbon several days after she had sailed.

Schoeller and his bride expect to fly from New York to Chicago tomorrow to see Mrs. Schoeller's father, Stuart Logan, investment broker.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—The senate passed today a $395,357,775 deficiency appropriation bill, carrying $375,000,000 for work relief activities during the next four months.

Passage was on a voice vote. The bill now goes back to the house for consideration of amendments.

The measure carried $7,217,775 more than the sum voted by the house. Increases included $6,670,000 for defense housing; $269,000 for the naval training station at Newport, R. I., and $253,775 for the naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill.

How Bottling in the Country Brings You Fresher Milk

With All the Cream Left In!

I NOW BRING to every Chicago home—what I have worked for, for years. Fresher milk with all the cream left in—bottled in the country, rushed from the country, every morning, direct to your food store.

It was impossible to do this under the old glass-bottle system. Glass bottles could not be hauled to the country where the milk is, so the milk had to be hauled to the city where the bottles were. There it was stored, cooled, pasteurized and finally bottled . . . a slow, expensive, flavor-losing process.

So we pioneered the use of an utterly new type of paper bottle—made of virgin spruce fiber, sterilized and sealed inside and out with superheated paraffin. Not merely covered with a cap but SEALED until you break the seal in your own kitchen.

We installed polished stainless steel equipment in our modern country plant... near the cows, where rents are low, where the air is fresh and clean.

Ready then to bottle fresher milk in new sterile paper bottles which are easy to carry and weigh 1½ pounds less than a glass bottle of milk, we arranged a system of speed delivery. Our giant refrigerator trucks are rushed to Chicago each morning. They are met by smaller refrigerator trucks which quickly deliver Dean's Bottled Milk to leading food stores.

In making economies all along the line I have been able to bring Chicago homemakers bottled-in-the-country, fresher milk, with all the cream left in—and at an amazing saving! Be sure to put Dean's Milk on your shopping list today!

YES, WE CAN DEFEND AMERICA.

A correspondent asks whether the United States could survive after the defeat of England, whether this country and the other countries in the western hemisphere could combat the axis powers economically, and whether if British opposition to the Fascists, communists, and Nazis were eliminated a successful attack could be made by them upon this country. The answer to Nos. 1 and 2 is yes; to No. 3, no.

The war party has made the United States defenseless without Great Britain. There are nearly 150 million English speaking people on the North American continent. It has the greatest production potential in the world. The skill of Americans in using what they have matches that of the Germans and the British, and their private enterprise in this modern era of new methods has always shown itself to be several jumps ahead of the nearest competitor.

Altho the best European technologists have rare skills, the American got far into the future while they were still in the past. That is not saying that the European product is not a good one. The American method of getting it in quantities for widespread use is superior, and that method is in use elsewhere only by adoption and imitation. When it is the business of American industry to produce material for defense it will maintain its superiority. America has man power and it has machine power.

The moat which separates it from potential enemies on either side is the widest any national defense ever had. If the British empire is at this moment geographically unfortunate it is because the nucleus of it, the place of greatest population and greatest production, the site of its commercial, industrial, and financial power, is the spot most exposed to continental enemies. If the geographic structure of the British empire had reversed the position of two islands, if Great Britain had been where New Zealand is and New Zealand were the exposed Achilles heel, the present struggle—if it had occurred at all—would have had a completely different character. The vulnerable part would not be the essential part.

If English speaking people are obliged to defend what is called their way of life and the principles they have thought necessary to preserve it, they would suffer a diminution of power if Great Britain disappeared. But they also would be then situated in their greater stronghold; their accessibility to attack would be diminished. It could be said that their power to resist attack would be increased.

Any enemy would encounter new disadvantages. We think that these disadvantages would be insurmountable. It is not true that the United States succumbs if the war in Europe should have an outcome all Americans would deplore. The idea that it would succumb cannot be believed even by all the people who advance it. It is merely the handiest scare raiser that they can find.

What a changed world would mean economically we can't precisely foretell. International trade has always meant competition and striving for markets with an undertaking to produce better goods at cheaper prices than those offered in competition. Trade will follow profits, and the profits must accrue to both sides in the trading.

The Nazis think they have a new monetary system and a new economic structure. They think that they can sweep the earth with it. It is so full of fallacies, the chief of which is that coercion can be a permanent instrument of government, that there is good reason to believe peace will be a greater dissolvent of it than war. Anyway, if we preserve free industries and the incentive which normally actuates private enterprise, we see no reason to fear that a free economy will fall the victim of a slave economy.

That's what the difference amounts to and as believers in the eternal truth that the free man is better than the chained man we can take our chances in an economic warfare—if that's what it's to be called—which opposes one against the other.

THE END OF AN ERA.

Persons now in their middle life are apt to be saddened at news of the death of the last of the 80,000 civil war veterans who have been domiciled in the National Soldiers' home in Milwaukee. It marks the passing of an era which reached its height in the last decades of the 19th century when civil war men and the G. A. R., in which they were organized, were a controling influence in political and civil life.

Maybe the veteran was symbolic of the horse and buggy age which it is currently the fashion to hold in sneering contempt. For a generation and more after the Union army was dismissed, its soldiers took their pick of political offices. They chose Presidents and they elected themselves county clerks, and mayors, and coroners.

Around the turn of the century the G. A. R. encampments were great national gatherings and conventions. A colorful part of them was the parade of soldiers, often miles long. Now the men who marched in them all are gone but a scattering of individuals nearing 100 years of age.

These civil war veterans in their day were a high spirited lot, sometimes given to roistering and fun that became the men who had saved the Union. They were splendid citizens who, after saving the Union, turned in and helped settle and develop a nation.

For the first time since 1866, there is none left living in the great national home in Milwaukee. Their places have been taken by the veterans of the Spanish-American war and, in greater numbers, of the world war.

Col. Charles M. Pearsall, resident manager, always said the civil war men as a class were the best the home ever housed. Whatever the land of their origin, he said, they were always stalwart Americans. They gave color for half a century to an American scene which may never be repeated.

It is saddening to think they are about all gone.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION.

Philip Harrington, commissioner of superhighways and subways for Mayor Kelly, recently addressed the Western Society of Engineers on the subject of the overcrowding of the city's streets because of excessive and uneconomical use of the private automobile for daily travel. He pointed out that it takes five times as much street space to accommodate a man when he drives an automobile as it does when he uses a public carrier and, during rush hours, he needs 12 times as much.

The question is what can be done about it. Simply telling a man he ought to use the suburban train, bus, street car, or elevated instead of his own car is not effective. Modernizing equipment and improving local transportation is one way of persuading him to leave the car at home for the use of his wife and family. The Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee recently made a move in this direction by the installation of new four car, streamlined electroliners operating between Chicago and Milwaukee, which have been termed the most luxurious interurban electric trains in the country.

The American Transit association, in a recent study, found that the average office worker in a business district requires 150 square feet of working space and an automobile 140 square feet of space for parking. The association's suggested answer to the problem of vehicular congestion is to build underground tunnels to take all the delivery trucks off the street. Pedestrians and display windows would be placed on a level with the second floors, an arrangement which has been employed for many years in the city of Chester, England. Passenger automobiles would be kept on the ground level.

The city of tomorrow will be built along some such lines if traffic congestion continues its present rate of increase.

THE MAIL MUST GO THRU, BUT NOT IN CHICAGO.

Walter A. Rosenfield, state director of public works, showed proper prudence recently when he canceled an injudicious authorization to spend $100,000 in gas tax funds on plans for a Congress street bridge. Mr. Rosenfield's misgivings have been borne out amply by the testimony at the army engineers' hearing on the application for a bridge permit.

There would be no use for the bridge, of course, unless the real estate grab that has been misnamed the Congress street superhighway were built. The present approaches to the bridge site are a two block alley on the east and an arcade under the central postoffice building west of the Chicago river.

This arcade is necessary to the efficient operation of the huge new postoffice building. It is used for the loading and unloading of mail trucks. If thru traffic were routed thru the arcade the trucks could not use it. The postoffice department and the public buildings administration have also found that heavy east and west traffic at that point would seriously impede the approach of mail trucks on the Canal street and River drive sides of the postoffice. For this reason they are opposing the bridge permit, an opposition in which every business man in the city interested in efficient mail service should join.

It may be that the war department will be forced to the decision that even tho the bridge and the concomitant blocking of the postoffice approaches are most unwise, it is powerless to refuse a permit for the bridge unless it impedes navigation. Even so there is no excuse for the state government, which must approve all gas tax expenditures, or the city government going thru with a project to sabotage the city's mail service.

The Congress street project will provide a poorly designed highway that starts nowhere, goes nowhere, and will serve only to enrich the speculators who have purchased land in the hope that it will be condemned at fancy prices. The sooner Chicago forgets this nutty scheme the better off the city will be.

WILLKIE REVEALS OWN HOAX.

[Bucyrus (O.) Telegraph-Forum.]

When Wendell Willkie testified before the senate foreign relations committee last week he revealed that his campaign for the Presidency last fall was a hoax. When he was storming the country last September and October in search of votes to defeat Franklin Roosevelt, there were those among us who believed he was sincere and a sort of "gift from heaven," but there were others among us who grew more skeptical of his campaign tactics as the weeks passed and were disgusted by the time election day rolled around.

Questioned at the committee hearing, Mr. Willkie was confronted by Senator Nye with a campaign statement made by Candidate Willkie in which the candidate predicted that the United States would be in war by April. Here was Mr. Willkie's reply:

"Well, that was a bit of campaign oratory."

Then, when questioned by Senator Clark relative to campaign accusations by Mr. Willkie that Mr. Roosevelt was guilty of "inflammatory statements" which might lead this country into war, Mr. Willkie refused to answer upon recommendation of Senator George. The former candidate of the Republican and, or, New Deal party disliked to have his campaign declarations return home to roost. He passed it off as a dead issue because the election is past, but he asked the millions of American voters to accept it as a very much alive issue just a few months ago.

There is but one conclusion and that is that Mr. Willkie was not honest with the people when he made a statement merely as "campaign oratory." This is the cheapest kind of campaigning. It is New Dealish to say the least.

All that has happened since the election indicates strongly a tieup between the supposed Republican and the New Deal candidate. To those who could see thru the fog of partisanship it was there even before the election. Why didn't President Roosevelt campaign more than he did? Why was he so cocksure of election? Why did Wendell Willkie run over to his own back yard right after the election was over? Why didn't he campaign against the President instead of with him? Yes, he did take a few raps against domestic policies of the New Deal. He couldn't do otherwise lest he reveal the hoax then instead of now.

After a close study of two gold and mother-of-pearl Lemaires, the Linemaster has come to the conclusion that the bees are a trademark of the firm, carried over from the Second or possibly the First Empire. The glasses were bought in the 1880s or early 1890s. They were popular in this country as Christmas and birthday gifts, and have been handed down as heirlooms.

Scenario for a Sonja Henie Movie.

From the rink rises the happy laughter of youth at play; the sun, a vast orange disk, is settling tranquilly in the Skokie mists; the sparrows have retired for the night; the serenity of a late winter afternoon is at hand.

Out of the fast descending twilight emerges a man. He nears—he's an inebriated man! Omycountry'tisofthee! He's on skates!

He backs against a tree. He takes aim and, using the tree as a fulcrum, he shoves and shoots out on the ice, an abandoned, untrammeled, no-mother-to-guide-him comet. Ten feet he glides—20 feet—30—Osaycanyousee what we see?

No time for the man to debate a course of action; no time for committee hearings; no time for conference; no time to take the matter under advisement. Ah, no. The Ides of March have come, destiny is riding hard, his clock of fate is fixed. Perhaps he utters a prayer; perhaps his whole past unfolds before him. Who knows?

He strikes.

And this gentle housewife, who has not an enemy in the world, who has never harmed a fly, soars in ungraceful astonishment over the top of a surrounding wall of snow, closely pursued by the man. Beyond the wall lies Italy—one Tony and his popcorn-peanut roaster. Tony is seated on the handles of his equipage, his bronzed face in a newspaper, absorbed in the latest dispatches from Africa. Without so much even as a "Surprise, surprise," the good housewife and her drunken satellite assault Tony from all sides.

The next moment all three are among Tony's beloved peanuts, popcorn, apples, chewing gum, crackerjack, butter and salt; the air is choked with Hepburn emotion and devout Latin orisons.

The initial shock passes; the apples cease rolling; the skaters gather. The inebriate sits up unsteadily, removes the G. H.'s skates from his ribs, places his hand on his chest, and announces sternly:

"If this be treason—hic—make the most of it!"

DEFYING THE WEATHER MAN.

MOST of us are able to adjust ourselves reasonably well to the vagaries of weather. During the torrid season we take off surplus clothing, while we bundle up to the eyebrows when the mercury hovers around zero. It is this ability to adapt ourselves to diversified conditions that permits us to maintain well being. We have learned to sidestep numerous acute attacks of illness by avoiding foolhardy procedures such as exposing the body to arctic blasts or to sunstroke.

Few of us realize, however, the striking effect of chilling. If we could see how rapidly millions of tiny capillaries contract and collapse whenever a cold blast strikes the skin, we would understand what is meant by "internal congestion." The surge of blood out of the cuticle must be accommodated and made room for by the vital organs, including the great vessels and the liver. At best, a temporary loss of resistance will ensue because certain areas are deprived of nutriment, while others are so engorged that normal function becomes impossible.

Those who encounter ever shifting weather exhibit far more thyroid disease, diabetes, pernicious anemia, and kidney disorders. The reason appears to be that the circulation of inhabitants of semitropical regions—where the mercury level is rather steady—is more even and is thus subject to less strain.

As we would expect, air pressure and the velocity of the wind play important rôles. For example, the nervous system is far more likely to suffer when severe storms are of frequent occurrence, or when profuse perspiration drains the system of needed salts and fluids. We have all heard victims of arthritis foretell an oncoming fall of the barometer because their joints become more painful. In like fashion, those who have recovered from tuberculosis may complain of pleurisy whenever a "blow" is impending.

Humidity is also a factor, as quick evaporation from the skin and the mucous membranes—particularly the nose—may actually alter the percentage of salts within the blood. It has been shown that during the winter our tissues contain more potassium than calcium. Perhaps this is due to the lack of fresh vegetables—an excellent source of lime. During the summer, exactly the reverse is true. More probably, however, the change is related to a loss of water thru the skin and the fact that we usually exercise less. More milk—which supplies this mineral—is a good rule for the colder months.

The objective which we all hope to accomplish is to bring about so perfect a balance that the behavior of the human machine will be smooth and even, regardless of external factors. If we can keep our homes during the winter at approximately 70 degrees Fahrenheit—with the relative humidity at 30—we will place no more burden upon the kidneys and liver than during the summer, even with more evaporation. But should there be a trifling extra load it would not be sufficient to affect health.

We must recall, however, that the more we use the epidermis as an excreting agent, the more will we spare the renal organs and the digestive tract. But this is not an unmixed blessing because, along with sweat, we throw off minerals. Nevertheless, it is a relatively simple thing to replace salt by adding it to the diet.

It certainly isn't common sense to defy the elements—to go out of doors when Jack Frost is about—bareheaded and without proper clothing. A thoro soaking on a raw, rainy day is almost sure to be followed by a spell of sickness. To pursue such practices is to ask the body to perform adjustments which are too violent.

GAS POISONING.

P. F. writes: How can carbon monoxide poisoning be prevented?

REPLY.

Make certain that the flues leading to the chimney are tight and that adequate draft is provided. Carbon monoxide gas is produced whenever combustion is incomplete. With dampers closed and a slow fire, poisoned air may be liberated.

GERM REMOVER.

S. A. B. writes: In your article on first aid you state that wounds should be washed with soap and water. I always understood that an antiseptic is preferred—that bacteria from water would complicate the situation.

REPLY.

CITY-MANAGER PLAN.

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 13.—I wish to correct a few misstatements made by Thomas K. Davey in his letter of Feb. 8 against the city-manager plan.

There are now over 500 cities in the United States with this form of city government instead of "about 400." Out of every five cities changing their form of government today, four adopt the city-manager plan. In fact, more cities adopted the city-manager plan in 1940 than in all the previous nine years. That does not seem like a "sickly growth" but a very encouraging and healthy growth in 25 years.

Cambridge, which Mr. Davey mentions as having thrown it overboard, did not have it but voted last year to adopt it. Kansas City did not throw overboard the city-manager plan. In its reform movement last year, it elected a new council who appointed a new city manager, a man who has been conspicuously successful as city manager in another city. No good plan will run itself without citizen support. In Kansas City the citizens had allowed a political machine to control their city government. When the citizens were aroused, they broke the control of the political machine.

Many people feel that if Kansas City had adopted the proportional representation method of election when it adopted the city-manager plan, the political organization there might not have been able to secure such a stranglehold on the government. For proportional representation helps to prevent one group in a city having absolute control.

We believe the city-manager plan will help to promote sound political leadership based on local issues, not national.

More than 180 organizations in Illinois have indorsed the idea of securing enabling legislation so that Illinois cities can have the democratic right to vote upon it if they wish.

MARIETTA B. TAWNEY,

GOOSE AND GANDER.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—In Saturday's TRIBUNE we read that arms exports to Britain in 1940 totaled 176 million dollars. In the same issue on page 1 we read that Senator Lrown of Michigan admitted that the "anticipated probable cost of Roosevelt's program to aid Britain and other foreign countries" between now and July 1, 1942—about one year and four months—is 7 billion dollars.

One hundred seventy-six million dollars spent in the United States is about to break England financially, but 7 billion dollars spent by the United States to aid Britain will make the United States prosperous and happy. I believe it because they say crazy people are happy and we must be crazy. DAVID ANDERSON.

ON QUARANTINING WAR.

Benton, Ill., Feb. 13.—There is a strong point in favor of the "isolationists" that I have not heard clearly pointed out. It is: What they are trying to isolate is trouble.

No one denies the efficiency of isolating measles, scarlet fever, or smallpox. Why not war? AMERICAN WOMAN.

ALBERT HOFFMAN.

HOME DELIVERY.

Iowa Falls, Ia., Feb. 18.—May I put in my five cents worth regarding the question brought up by Dr. DeLee?

I agree with Dr. DeLee. I say any obstetrician worthy of the name can deliver a large percentage of his cases in the home as well as in the hospital. I grant it is much more convenient for the doctor to have the patient in the hospital, but I also say that it seems to have been the tendency of late in medical education to teach the young doctor in such a manner that he is lost when it comes to delivering a baby outside a hospital.

So far as repairing damage done at childbirth "by the wrecking crew with patient upon kitchen table," any so-called doctor who cannot do it there cannot do it in the best hospital in the world.

It was my privilege to have worked under Dr. DeLee at the old Maxwell street place and in an experience extending over nearly 40 years and some 4,000 deliveries, over one-half of them in homes, I still say that a doctor can do the work there, safely, if he has had the proper training and is not lazy.

ANALOGY.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Columbus discovered America in 1492 and it was then owned and operated by the Indians. I am reminded by your photograph in today's TRIBUNE that in 1876, when "Custer's Last Stand" took place, the whites still had not been able to conquer the Indians. But soon thereafter the opposition of the Indians finally did cease. Nearly 400 years of war were required to conquer, and the whites certainly had a vastly superior force and equipment, but the Indians constantly moved west and continued to fight. How long will it take Hitler, who is not now on United States territory, to conquer the same vast expanse of territory?

Where is the old guts and tenacity of the people of the United States that they allow themselves to be scared first by the shadow of the kaiser in 1917 and now by that of Hitler? How Hitler must laugh at us in our frantic fright, confusion, hysteria, and defeatism that is bringing us to the verge of ruin financially and politically. L. DUDENBOSTEL.

HOSPITALITY IN WASHINGTON.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—The grand duchess of Luxemburg was made welcome on the steps of the White House by the first lady. Lord Halifax they ran out to meet before he even landed. We all remember the hot dog party for the king and queen. But the Washington police greeted the mothers pleading for the safety, yes, the very lives of the sons they love so dearly. M. V. RUTHRAUFF.

GASOLINE ALLEY.

Vinita, Okla., Feb. 14.—Will you please convey to your artist, King, my thanks for his creation of "Gasoline Alley," and my congratulations that he has carried it on so successfully for 20 years! I think I began following the fortunes of Skeezix almost from the time he was laid on Walt's doorstep, and it is still my custom to read that strip first.

HARVEY E. AVERILL.

CENSORSHIP?

Madison, Wis., Feb. 13.—In your issue of Feb. 11, F. J. K., Rapid City, S. D., suggests "rebroadcasting extracts from speeches made by the two major party candidates as big factors in averting our entry into the war."

Better even than that, I am sure, would be a rebroadcast of the entire speech made by our ambassador, Hugh Wilson, the night of Sept. 3, 1939 [the day England declared war on Germany], from London over the National Broadcasting system.

However, let me warn you, you can get a copy of any other speech made by Mr. Wilson or other speakers, but on your request for a copy of this particular speech you will be told they [NBC] regret that "it is not available for distribution." Surely that can't mean censorship—or does it? K. H.

ANOTHER DEFEATED CANDIDATE.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—The birthday of Abraham Lincoln brings to my mind a forgotten man whose influence was thrown whole-heartedly behind Lincoln and was a very material factor in saving the Union. I refer to the "Little Giant of Illinois," Stephen A. Douglas. All honor to Lincoln and also Douglas, who was such a good loser that he attended Lincoln's inaugural, holding the President's hat while he took the oath of office. ROBERT W. MCKINLAY.

JOINT OWNERSHIP.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Under the date of Dec. 18 you published an article on the subject "joint bank account." Where three individuals hold stock "in joint tenancy with right of survivorship and not as tenants in common" is it possible for one of them to sell stock without the consent of the others? If not, can stock certificates be issued so that this can be done?

L. B.

Presumably what you are principally interested in is whether the fractional purchaser can obtain a new certificate from the transfer officer. We suggest you take this question up with the transfer officer of the corporation.

In general, if the number of shares is divisible by three, we see no reason why one of the three co-owners should not be given a certificate for his one-third of the stock in exchange for the other two-thirds.

PROBATE DEPENDS ON VALUE.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—One year ago my father died leaving no will. I am his only child and would like to know:

1. What steps should I take to have a vacant lot deeded to me? I have the deed and tax receipts. Also, on two other lots there are mortgages.

2. Where do I apply to check up on the amount due? E. M.

1. Probate would be necessary in order to produce a readily salable title but you might find a purchaser who would be willing to waive probate. The decision depends in part on the value of the assets.

2. Apply to the county clerk, County building, for an estimate for redemption.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 30.

1. The berry which in its wild state has small thorns over the edible berry itself is the Blackberry Gooseberry Strawberry Raspberry.
2. The distance from baseline to baseline in a tennis court is 36 feet 48 feet 78 feet 96 feet.
3. Approximately 80 per cent of the air around us is Nitrogen Oxygen Carbon dioxide Argon.
4. A good major league outfielder would have a batting average of approximately .189 .273 .318 .411.
5. If a man in uniform came along the street carrying a ditty bag, would he be a Soldier Aviator Sailor Policeman.
6. A certain man came home later than he had expected, and quietly tiptoed upstairs to avoid waking his wife. Next morning she asked him what time he had come to bed. They had a large hall clock which struck the hours and also struck once to mark the half hours. Her husband replied: "As I opened the front door, I heard the clock strike once. Later as I was climbing into bed, it struck once. I couldn't sleep very well and some time later I heard it strike once. Then, just as I was about to doze off, I heard it strike once, for the fourth time." When did he get home?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

MIRROR REVUE BROADCAST OVER MUTUAL SYSTEM

U. of C. Collegians Give Their Show a Preview.

A talented group of collegians from the Midway took over W-G-N's In Chicago Tonight program last evening and presented a sprightly coast to coast radio preview over the Mutual Broadcasting system of the forthcoming University of Chicago Mirror Revue.

The Mirror Revue, which was especially directed to the 48,000 alumni of the university scattered across the nation, reflected music and mirth covering the 50 years since the institution was founded. The university is observing its fiftieth anniversary.

Ardis Molitor singing with the Mirror cast in performance over W-G-N last night.

A Rousing Patriotic Song.

The student-written music ranged from a can can number suggesting the naughty nineties and the first world's fair thru Viennese waltzes, swing tunes, and on to a finale in the form of a rousing patriotic song, "Cheer for the U. S. A." The Revue was concluded with Marion Claire singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Student written, the Mirror show was presented mainly by students. Co-eds with the assurance and finish of professionals sang the tuneful songs, with men giving a hand here and there and the W-G-N orchestra and chorus providing the musical backdrop.

Packed with Lively Music.

The revue was packed with some of the liveliest and loveliest music ever written for a college revue. The studio audience was delighted with "One Night in Vienna," sung by Ardis Molitor and Albert Droske. Miss Molitor also was featured in "Night Bird" and Droske in "You Look So Beautiful in Blue." Bret Morrison and Bob Jellison presented a humorous sketch depicting two alumni, out of school a few years, operating switches in a railroad yard.

Betty Ann Evans was featured in a pretty ballad, and Hattie Payne was roundly cheered for her satiric "I Want to Be a Glamor Girl."

Ruth Wehlan gave a lively jitterbug interpretation of her own "Warning to a Campus Wolf" and Dick Lieber and Frank Reker cut some campus capers on the piano. The show was produced by William A. Backer.

W. W. O'Brien, formerly a well known Criminal court lawyer, returned to practice law in the Criminal court building yesterday after having been disbarred for four and one-half years. O'Brien showed Chief Justice James F. Fardy an order entered Tuesday by the Illinois Supreme court reinstating him in law practice. The high court gave no reason for removing the disbarment.

CHARTER COUNCIL OF C. I. O. HERE; 250,000 MEMBERS

The Congress of Industrial Organizations has chartered an industrial council which will represent nearly 250,000 members of unions affiliated with the C. I. O. in Cook county, it was announced yesterday. Samuel Levin, chairman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America in Chicago and a member of the school board, will be the council's first president.

Levin said the charter was issued Feb. 14 after a meeting of 80 delegates from numerous C. I. O. locals. Officers were elected and a constitution adopted at the meeting, he said. He said no person shall be eligible to be a delegate who is a member of the German-American bund or a communist.

Following the announcement, Allen Glenn, an official of the United Automobile Workers union, said the charter will be opposed as not representing the majority of C. I. O. union members here.

PLENTY OF FOOD BARGAINS TO FILL SHOPPER BASKET

Hams, Turkeys Offered at Low Prices.

BY MARY MEADE.

If there wasn't room enough in your market basket last week to hold all the bargain foods sighted in the stores, you'll be glad to know that most of these bargains are still available this week-end—with a few new ones added.

All the makings of a special holiday dinner to celebrate Washington's birthday are available at reasonable prices. The menu will probably include a ham, baked in cider sauce, or even at plump roast turkey, specially priced for this occasion, and of course the traditional golden-brown crusted cherry pie.

Smoked ham and beef head the list of good meat buys for the week, and some stores are having big sales of genuine native beef steaks, round and swiss steaks at a very reasonable cost, and tender, juicy sirloin, and porterhouse, that the man in the family will appreciate, at a few pennies more.

Good Price on Turkey.

Hen turkeys, ranging in size from 10 to 12 pounds, are selling at especially good prices. Other moderate priced meats are standing rib roasts, pork loin roasts, center cut pork chops, lamb shoulder chops, chuck roasts, frankfurters, spareribs [try them stuffed and baked, or broiled with a zippy barbecue sauce], and bacon.

If an old-fashioned chicken-potpie with a flaky pastry topping appeals to you, better make a note on your shopping list that fowls for stewing purposes are selling at a very reasonable cost.

Citrus fruits remain on the list of good buys, and prices have even taken a downward trend since last week on the wholesale market. Take advantage of this fact and add a few jars of orange and citrus marmalades to the jam and jelly cupboard. Or you can purchase some ready prepared orange marmalade, on sale at several grocers this week-end, for it makes a delicious accompaniment for toast, biscuits or other hotbreads.

Good Variety in Apples.

Varieties of rosy red eating apples, Delicious, Winesaps, Jonathans, and Rome Beauties for baking, are still very reasonable.

The predicted decline in the price of green peas has come, and a downward trend in the prices of spinach, tomatoes, green peppers, and lettuce may be noticed in most stores. Cauliflower and celery can't be included in the bargain list this week-end for prices have stepped up a bit.

Even a small family can make use of several pounds of potatoes in a few days' time, so stock up on Idaho russets while they're so reasonable. They're excellent for baking.

Along with the usual fresh vegetable supply, there are always frozen vegetables available to give variety to the meal. For an appetizing meatless menu, try a combination of asparagus stalks on toast, green peas in cream and buttered whole kernel corn.

Offer Bargains in Fish.

Fresh water smelts may be added to last week's supply of fish, while sea pike, Canadian whitefish, yellow perch, and yellow pike are available at about the same prices as last week. Frozen halibut, salmon, and perch fillets should be good buys, and oysters, which always sell readily, are still coming into the markets in fair amounts.

This week's market list even takes care of canine appetites, so if there's a puppy in the family, you may be interested in a special sale of canned dog food that includes one free can with every five purchased.

BE IT EVER SO HUMBLE, THE HOMELY PRUNE IS AKIN TO ROYALTY IN PIE

The humble prune makes a very proud looking pie that gets better with every bite. Hiding under a high meringue you'll find a lightly spiced, tender prune filling. Here it is:

PRUNE MERINGUE PIE.
[One 9 inch pie.]

1 baked pie shell
2 cups prunes, cooked and chopped
½ cup light brown sugar
⅓ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup prune juice
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
¼ cup granulated sugar

Mix prunes, brown sugar, flour, salt, cinnamon, fruit juices, and egg yolks. Cook in double boiler until thickened and creamy, stirring constantly. Turn into baked crust. Beat egg whites until foamy, add granulated sugar while beating, and beat until stiff. Add lemon rind. Spread meringue over pie and bake 15 minutes in a moderate [350 degrees] oven to brown meringue.

YES, YOU'LL HAVE NO BANANAS (OR HAM) LEFT OVER

There are many ever-so-good ways to serve a slice of broilable ham, and this way [read on!] is one of the best. It's extremely easy and you might try it for company when time is limited. The family will like it, too.

HAM SLICE SUPERB.
[Serves four.]

1 center-cut ham slice, about 1 inch thick
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
Brown sugar
Ground cloves
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 bananas

Spread ham with half mustard, sprinkle lightly with brown sugar, ground cloves and half the lemon juice. Broil in oven or pan broil slowly until lightly browned. Turn, spread with remaining mustard, and sprinkle second side with brown sugar, cloves, and remaining lemon juice. Cut thoroly ripe bananas into quarters lengthwise, roll in brown sugar, and arrange around ham. Continue broiling until bananas are heated thru. Turn bananas during cooking.

SAUCES BREAK THE MONOTONY IN SERVING MEATS

Piquant Surprises Are Found in Leftovers.

Meat sauce has saved the day for many a leftover or too-familiar meat. There are all kinds of sauces, from gravies made with the meat drippings, to those specially concocted to cover up the fact that there is no gravy. Their function is to add moistness and flavor to the meat, either freshly cooked or leftover from a previous meal. But more important than this, they do wonders to relieve the monotony of daily menus.

Here are a group of flavorsome sauces, all of which could be used for reheating leftover meats.

CURRY SAUCE.

2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons flour
1 to 1½ teaspoons curry powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water or stock

Melt butter and slightly cook onion in it. Blend in flour, curry powder and salt. Add water or stock and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve hot.

Brown horseradish sauce is excellent with beef, but may be used with other meats also.

SPICY SPANISH SAUCE.

2½ cups tomatoes
1 small white onion, minced
¼ cup green pepper, minced
5 tablespoons chopped celery
Sprig parsley, minced
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains cayenne pepper
Dash of pepper
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
2 teaspoons tarragon vinegar
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine all ingredients except last 4 and simmer for 15 minutes. Blend flour and butter, add sauce enough to blend. Then add to vegetables. Continue cooking, stirring constantly until thickened. Add vinegar and Worcestershire sauce, mixing well. Remove from heat and serve hot. This sauce may be used with leftover meat, if desired.

Spanish sauce is really a form of tomato sauce and creole sauce is another variation on the tomato theme. It is very much like the Spanish sauce and the two can often be used interchangably in recipes. This particular creole sauce contains mushrooms as a slight variation.

BROWN MUSHROOM SAUCE.

3 tablespoons butter
Few drops onion juice
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup cream
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
1 teaspoon beef extract or 1 bouillon cube
Salt and paprika

Brown butter slightly, add onion juice and flour and brown flour. Pour on cream gradually, while stirring constantly. Add mushrooms which have been sauteed in butter. The butter in which mushrooms are browned may be used to make the sauce. Season with beef extract or bouillon cube, salt, and paprika.

TOMATO-BACON SAUCE.

4 slices bacon, chopped
4 tablespoons onion, chopped
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2 teaspoons sugar

Broil bacon in pan until slightly browned, add onion, and cook until onion is soft; then add flour and brown slightly. Add remaining ingredients and cook with constant stirring until sauce boils; then turn down burner and simmer 5 minutes. Serve with any kind of meat or fish.

CREOLE SAUCE.

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons minced onion
¼ cup minced green pepper
¼ cup chopped mushrooms
1½ tablespoons flour
2 cups tomato juice
Salt and pepper

Cook onion, green pepper and mushrooms in butter for about five minutes or until mushrooms are lightly browned, over very low flame. Stir in flour and add milk, stirring until thickened. Season to taste. Pour hot sauce over meat or heat sliced meat in the sauce.

A plain tomato sauce may be made from the creole sauce recipe, by omitting the green pepper and mushrooms, or you can make a tomato sauce with bacon as in this recipe.

QUICK BARBECUE SAUCE.

¼ cup catsup
¼ cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
½ teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons vinegar

Combine ingredients and simmer gently for 5 minutes.

BROWN HORSERADISH SAUCE.

2 tablespoons butter or meat dripping
1 teaspoon minced onion
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup meat stock, bouillon or tomato juice
3 tablespoons horseradish
Salt and pepper

Melt fat, add onion, and let cook for several minutes. Add flour, then brown, and stir. Add liquid gradually, cooking and stirring until thickened. Add horseradish, salt, and pepper to taste and more liquid if needed. Serve hot with sliced beef, or reheat beef in sauce.

HERE'S THE MOST AMAZING WAY TO SAFELY LOSE UGLY FAT YOU'VE EVER READ ABOUT

. . No Strict Diet Lists!
. . No Strenuous Exercise!
. . No Distasteful Drugs!

IN every section of the country today, women have marveled at the wonders of a safe, easy reducing method—which requires no strict diet lists; no strenuous exercises; no drugs. Increases energy as weight goes down. It's the identical method Dr. Damrau of New York used in tests among a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed directions implicitly, and was responsible for an average loss in weight of 7 pounds per month.

Unbelievably Easy to Follow

All you do is mix ¾ glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ glass of water and drink before meals and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly—which means you avoid overeating, thus reducing caloric intake considerably. Then this happens: First, this delicious drink satisfies your craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to overeat fattening foods—but you never suffer a hungry moment. Second, the natural dextrose in Welch's is quickly consumed, and by this process not only aids nature in consuming excess fat but also increases your energy.

That is why weight is lost naturally; why you not only look better but actually feel better; have more energy. And this proved method is just as beneficial and effective for overweight men, as it is for overweight women.

Do This One Important Thing

There is only one thing to watch—eat sensibly, which means you avoid overeating; and be sure to use only genuine Welch's Grape Juice, selected by Dr. Damrau in his convincing test. Welch's is always full strength. It contains full measure of natural dextrose which is so important. And because Welch's is always full strength, it is delicious when diluted—very economical to use. Start this proved reducing method today and watch your energy go up as your weight goes down.

IRENE RICH

lovely star of the screen and radio, now past 40, weighs the same as she did at 16. She recommends the easy Welch way to reduce.

HERE ARE THE FACTS OF THIS SENSATIONAL REDUCING TEST

Dr. Frederic Damrau, 247 Park Avenue, New York, studied the effect of Welch's Grape Juice on weight reduction in a group of intelligent and cooperative patients, who followed his instructions implicitly. All were overweight and desired to reduce.

These patients were not asked to restrict their diet in any way, or to exercise more than was their custom; nor were they given any drugs. They were simply instructed to drink a glass of Welch's Grape Juice before every meal—3 parts Welch's; one part water.

In this way, the group lost an average of 7 pounds a month, and they did not suffer from hunger or faintness. The same group, while not taking Welch's, had been gaining more than 1½ pounds per month.

SWORN STATEMENT

"I hereby certify that I have interviewed Dr. Frederic Damrau of 247 Park Avenue, New York, with reference to the Welch reducing test conducted under his supervision. I have also reviewed his scientific records and case reports. To the best of my knowledge and belief, based on the accuracy of Dr. Damrau's records and statements, the facts concerning this reducing test and the chart of average weight reductions are substantially correct."

HERE'S THE WAY TO START A DAY —WITH WAFFLES

BY RUTH COOK.

There should be a waffle week. Most cooks need to be reminded occasionally of how good a crisp hot waffle can be.

Dessert waffles and breads baked in a waffle iron for time saving are fine, but they should not be allowed to push breakfast waffles out of the menu picture. This is the time of year and the kind of weather that makes waffles a real breakfast.

They need not be the same waffles each morning either—there are buttermilk, bran, whole wheat, cornmeal, and a variety of waffles suitable for the first meal of the day. To save time and help you thru those first few sleepy moments of breakfast getting, mix your dry ingredients the night before. You can even measure the milk, keeping it in a cup in the refrigerator. Or you can buy a prepared pancake mix. Most of them make excellent waffles as well as griddle cakes.

BACON WAFFLES.

[About 5 Medium.]

1¼ cups sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
⅓ cup melted shortening
6 strips, chopped cooked bacon

Sift dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks and add to milk. Stir into flour mixture and add shortening. Beat enough to blend. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and chopped, cooked bacon. Bake in hot waffle iron.

Orange waffles are an excellent breakfast waffle variation. Serve them with honey that has been warmed in a double boiler.

ORANGE WAFFLES.

[Six or Nine.]

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
1 cup orange juice
⅓ cup milk
Grated rind of ½ an orange
6 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together. Beat egg yolks until light and add milk. Add to flour mixture along with orange juice and grated rind. Fold in stiffly bealen egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron.

Try rice waffles the next time you have a little plain cooked rice left over. They are best when served with butter and shaved maple sugar.

BRAN WAFFLES.

[Six 7-inch Waffles.]

2 eggs
1½ cups milk
¾ cup bran
1½ cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
⅓ cup melted butter

Beat egg yolks slightly, add milk and bran, and let soak while sifting dry ingredients. Stir sifted dry ingredients into liquids. Add melted butter and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron.

These buttermilk waffles are extra-special:

RICE WAFFLES.

[Six or Nine.]

1 cup flour
3 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
3 tablespoons butter, melted
2 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
1 cup cold cooked rice

Sift dry ingredients together and stir in the milk, beaten egg yolks, and melted butter, which have been mixed together. Add rice and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in preheated waffle iron.

BUTTERMILK WAFFLES.

[About 6 Medium Waffles.]

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
3 tablespoons sugar
2 or 3 eggs, separated
2 cups buttermilk or sour milk
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

Sift flour with dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks and combine with buttermilk, adding to dry ingredients. Beat until well blended. Add melted butter; fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in preheated waffle iron.

Patriotic Cherry Tarts

The filling for these patriotic looking cherry cream tarts can be made in a jiffy, for it requires no cooking. Just blend together 1⅓ cups sweetened condensed milk, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1½ cups sour, pitted cherries (1 No. 2 can), and 2 egg yolks. Pour into baked tart shells. Garnish with clusters of maraschino cherries and small hatchets cut out of pastry and baked until golden brown. Chill the tarts before serving.

THESE RECIPES USE ECONOMY CUTS OF BEEF

Here are two excellent recipes using two different economy cuts of beef. Both are steaks, one from the arm, the other a flank steak.

SWISS STEAK.

Arm steak, cut 2 inches thick
Flour, salt and pepper
1 onion, sliced
2 tablespoons lard
2 cups tomatoes
1 carrot, diced.
½ cup corn
1 small green pepper sliced.

Mix flour, salt, and pepper and pound into steak. Brown steak in lard. Add vegetables, cover, and cook over very low heat [300 degrees] for 2½ to 3 hours, or until tender, adding water if needed.

FLANK STEAK FRICASSEE.

[Serves 6.]

2 pounds flank steak
Prepared mustard
Flour, fat
1½ cups milk, water or canned tomatoes
¾ cup rice.
Salt, pepper, paprika

Have market cut flank into thin steaks. Cut in serving pieces and spread with mustard; dredge with flour. Brown in fat in a heavy skillet; then add liquid and the well washed, uncooked rice. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika and cover tightly. Cook over very low heat for about 1 hour. Uncover and place in moderate [350 degrees] oven for 15 minutes to dry out rice.

There's More Than Meets the Eye to Meat Carving

Fifty men, all set to take up a new hobby of wood carving, were disappointed last week when they came to The Tribune Public Service offices to buy Mary Meade's "Easy Lessons in Carving." They'd read a description of the booklet which appeared on this page. But "Easy Lessons in Carving" deals with meat carving and if that's what you want, get the booklet for 5 cents at The Tribune Public Service offices, or send 7 cents in stamps to Mary Meade.

Who Is This Girl?

RANSACKED.

"Mac," Plume said, "I'm not worrying about Lank. He's slept out on worse nights than this."

"In a bedroll—but he hasn't got a bedroll, nor a poncho. And it's coming on to snow before morning. So we'd better find him." Mac's tone showed he was worried.

"He come out of Abney's road, and turned and took off thru the brush right here. He was following somebody—horse tracks, see?"

"Those might be any tracks." They might, Mac knew, be the tracks of Storm's palomino. She had come this way.

"Nope, Lank was following them. And he got down here and stood in the chaparral, watching somebody—and then he lit a cigaret—here's where he struck the match on this rock, and there's the match. Then he drove on. Limb broke right there where the truck went thru. Wait a minute—Mac, he was trailing three men on horseback and one on foot—and they were driving sheep."

"Sheep?"

"Sign's plain. Big bunch by the tracks. Bart and me wondered why they didn't come down off this ridge when we fed, in the pasture down yonder. Good reason—they wasn't here."

"Let's get along."

Darkness was thick and cold when later they found the truck. Lank was lying in it, huddled out of the wind, one boot off, blood dripping from a gunshot wound in his ankle. He was stiff with cold, sick, and blue around the mouth.

"Thought you guys would never come," he muttered thru chattering teeth. "I tried to walk but I couldn't make it. I run down some sheep rustlers and one of 'em shot me in the foot. They was driving off about forty of them Shropshire ewes and yearling lambs."

"Mexicans? Hump Dane's men?"

"I don't know. I never saw any of 'em before. There was three of them on horseback, and a boy afoot."

"Word's gone around that Harp's dead," Plume said. "We'll have more of this. Why didn't you come back and telephone the sheriff, Lank? You didn't have any gun on you, you might have got killed."

"I had a heavy wrench. I figured maybe if I could drive the truck into the sheep, I could scatter 'em before they got 'em thru the fence. But one of 'em had a rifle and he cracked down on me. Right foot, too—I couldn't drive."

"Lead my horse, Plume—I'll drive the truck in." Mac took off his sheepskin-lined coat and spread it over the long, shuddering form of the wounded cowboy. "I guess I'd better fill up the tank and take Lank straight to town. There might be a shattered bone in that ankle."

"Mac, there ain't none of this any use! We're fighting something we can't see nor lay a hand to. I'm a going to get me that sheep ranch up toward San Angelo."

"No," McCullough said. "They're not running us off yet, Plume. There's a reason why Dane wants me to stay here—and I'm staying now if only to find out what that reason is!"

"All right," Plume said, patiently, "but from now on I'm toting me a gun!"

The snow fell that night, hiding every track, lying so deep in the valleys that it was impossible for McCullough to return to the ranch. With Lank, whose foot had been dressed by the town doctor, he stayed at the little hotel, starting back to San Mateo at noon. Lank had refused to remain in town, and lay on blankets in the bed of the truck, smoking cigarets and swearing wearily when the jolts were painful.

"I didn't like the way that sheriff talked when you telephoned him," he shouted above the rumble of the wheels over the untracked snow. "What'd he mean—he better telephone Hump Dane before he took out after those rustlers?"

"He meant just that, Lank—Dane's let it be known that he's boss of San Mateo. I hope Plume and Plantamora got those horses up. This snow is going to lie awhile. We'll have to feed today."

"And me laid up and the place shorthanded," Lank mourned. "But maybe we'll be moving Monday, anyway. Dane ain't going to let you boss that ranch, and him not meddle with it."

"Maybe he will, Lank—till he gets what he wants. That's why I agreed to stay—I decided I had to find out what he wants."

"Huh! You might fool yourself, Mac, but you ain't fooling me. That yellow haired girl's keeping you on San Mateo. I ain't blaming you, understand. She's a cute piece of calico. How a mean, pusillanimous hombre like Hump could have a girl like her, is a puzzle."

They put Lank in the wing room with the rose-colored curtains—the room where once Gertrude had painted her face and plucked her eyebrows, sitting before the round mirror. A fire burned on the hearth and Mom had dusted the place and put warm blankets on the white bed.

"Ain't bad enough I got to be shot in the foot like an Injun hog thief—but now I got to lie here and look at this flossy layout!" Lank complained.

"You shut up and be thankful you ain't out in the cold bunkhouse!" retorted Mom. "This bed has got a swell mattress on it, and you been jawing about a good mattress for a couple of years."

Mac made Lank comfortable, then crossed the corridor to his own room. He opened the door, then drew back and shouted, "Mom! Come here!"

Mom hurried, stood beside him, staring. A window was open in the room, and snow had blown in and lay in a triangular drift on the floor. Every drawer in the high chest had been opened, its contents tumbled about, books had been pulled down from a shelf, the clothes that hung in the closet had been flung on the floor. Mac's suitcase lay sprawled open, empty as he had left it when he unpacked. Even the bed had been torn apart, the mattress overturned.

"Somebody got in here last night," Mom explained. "Plume locked up everything good before we went back to our house. Look—here's where they pried the window open."

"Somebody," Mac closed the window, frowning at the confusion, "was looking for something. Look in the other rooms, Mom—they may have looted the place."

"I've been in all the other rooms. What do you reckon they were looking for—tearing up the place like this?"

"Can't tell till I check up and see if anything is missing. Whoever it was, knew that I was in town; that the house was empty. And the snow hid all the tracks."

"Whatever they wanted — they didn't find it," he said.

"You call the sheriff, Mac. My lands, if you'd been here asleep in this room you might have got your throat cut. Nice business, when a person ain't safe anywhere."

Puzzled and angry, Mac set his possessions in order. Plume came in and the look of haunted worry on his kind old face increased.

"It all hangs together, somehow," he insisted. "This is all of a piece with Lank getting shot. I don't like none of it. You come along and go with me up to San Angelo, Mac."

"Not till we see this thru, Plume. We're not going to be run off this place. That's what this is—and I'm going to know why."

At noon, when bundled against the cold, Mac was helping Bart chop open bales of hay, Mom came waddling out of the ranch house, a shawl over her head, her feet thrust into Lank's boots.

"Mac, the sheriff's in there," she said worriedly.

"About time," Mac slid down from the rampart of hay. "He was mighty lukewarm when I talked to him in town."

"Mac——" Mom's face was gray and she was chewing her lips, "It ain't about Lank getting shot. He says he's got to arrest Lank—for assaulting somebody."

"My God!—what now?"

O, THERE'S MORE TO COOKING MEAT THAN MEETS EYE

Unless You Read It in Mary Meade's Booklet.

Ideas about meat cookery have changed a lot in recent years. Roasts that once were cooked in a hot oven, with just a little water in the pan and a cover over it, aren't considered roasts at all by the modern homemaker.

She reserves the covered pan and added water method for pot roasts and other less tender cuts of meat, and she would never, never use a hot oven for any meat. If she wants an extra brown roast she might sear the meat for a few minutes, but she'll turn down the heat for the remainder of the time.

How the Moderns Do It!

The modern homemaker puts her nice, tender roast on a rack in an open pan and pops it without further ado into a moderately slow [about 325 degrees] oven. When her meat thermometer registers the required internal temperature for that particular kind of meat she removes the roast from the oven and it's ready to carve.

Of course she sprinkles it with seasonings somewhere along the line, and she may brown potatoes in the drippings and make a gravy to go with them. But it's a decidedly simpler process that she uses, and her roasts shrink less, are juicier and more tender than those cooked in the out of date way.

Mary Meade Offers Booklet.

If you are unfamiliar with the modern methods of meat cookery or need to brush up on them, Mary Meade's "Modern Meat Lore" is just the book for you. APPETIZING BAKED FISH DISH CONCOCTED FROM FROZEN FILLETS

Frozen fish fillets are always popular with the cook, because they come cleaned and ready for the frying pan. In this recipe the fillets get baked, with a stuffing and a yummy sauce. You'll like the results.

BAKED STUFFED FISH FILLETS.

2 fish fillets [haddock, lake perch, or halibut]
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of white pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
½ tablespoon parsley [chopped]
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine bread crumbs, melted butter, salt, pepper, paprika, parsley, and lemon juice. Spread this dressing on one of the fillets and cover with second fillet. Pour lemon almond sauce over the top and bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven for 35 to 40 minutes.

LEMON ALMOND SAUCE.

½ cup butter
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup almonds, blanched and slivered

OLD PALS ARE UNITED: COFFEE AND CINNAMON

When coffee was first introduced in America, in 1668, a New York coffee house combined it with cinnamon and honey. The honey took the place of the lump sugar you use today. Hostesses are now reviving the idea by putting a dash of cinnamon in each coffee cup and serving the hot fresh coffee with a topping of whipped cream and a dusting of cinnamon. A cinnamon stick is used for a spoon.

MR. REX TAKES SOME PRIDE IN OUR WEATHER

He Compares it with That of Other Cities.

Those given to contemplation of dark clouds with silver linings, the sunshine breaking thru, not so ill winds that blow some good, and kindred natural phenomena dear to the hearts of weather forecasters and composers of popular songs are invited to consider Chicago's 1940 weather record.

Not enough sunshine? Not so, says Frederick Rex, municipal reference librarian. Ten big cities had fewer sunny days than Chicago in 1940. Too wet, you say? Eight of the nation's 28 large cities were rainier. Too much snow? How would you like to live in Binghamton, N. Y., or four other places? A little foggy for your taste? No foggier than San Diego, Cal.

Mr. Rex observes that Chicago is no windier than Miami, and is no worse than the 14th windiest city. He adds that Chicago is not too hot, not too cold, and that it suits him fine. Here are some comparisons he has prepared to show that it also ought to suit you and you and you:

Number of Sunless Days—

Cleveland	86	Peoria, Ill.	60
Pittsburgh	82	Baltimore	59
Milwaukee	67	Cincinnati	57
Buffalo	66	Binghamton	57
Washington, D. C.	62	Chicago	52
Indianapolis	62

Number of Days with Rainfall—

Buffalo	179	Portland, Ore.	145
Pittsburgh	172	Detroit	144
Cleveland	166	New York City	134
Binghamton	162	Chicago	133
Seattle	161

Number of Days with Snowfall—

Binghamton	114	Detroit	96
Buffalo	100	Cleveland	95
Pittsburgh	98	Chicago	84

Number of Days with Dense Fogs—

Pittsburgh	33	Minneapolis	11
New York City	19	Detroit	10
Portland, Ore.	17	San Diego	10
Kansas City, Mo.	13	Chicago	10

Number of Days with Wind of 32 m. p. h. or More—

New York City	102	Seattle	15
Buffalo	80	Kansas City	12
Cleveland	65	Minneapolis	11
Philadelphia	26	St. Louis	9
Baltimore	26	Salt Lake City	8
Pittsburgh	19	Miami	7
Milwaukee	18	Chicago	7
Savannah, Ga.	15

Mr. Rex could do the same sort of thing to demonstrate that 15 cities had more days when the temperature was 90 degrees or higher, that 11 had more cloudy days, that 15 had fewer clear days. But this is enough to give you an idea.

Why

MEAT

Is a "Must" for Soldiers

A great general said, "An army marches on its stomach."

A modern army quartermaster says:

This Seal means that all statements made in this advertisement are acceptable to the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

The food elements that help men in military service to maintain physical fitness are just as vital to the civilian laborer and office worker in "the battle of life."

Meat is recognized as a great source of the highest quality proteins. Now it is coming into its own too for its B vitamins.

Not only individuals, but governments too, are recognizing the importance of these vitamins in the public well-being. For instance, vitamin B_1, a member of the vitamin B group has recently received the recognition of Great Britain: To help maintain the well-being of its people, the British government decreed that certain highly refined foods deficient in this vitamin are to be fortified with vitamin B_1.

The recent discovery of its content of B vitamins places meat on the list of basic foods important for thiamine (vitamin B_1), riboflavin (vitamin B_2) and the anti-pellagra vitamin. All are needed to maintain normal health and well-being.

Isn't it a pleasure to know that the meat we love also has sound scientific reasons for being eaten?

Old Steps and New to Vie in Dances Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

"ONE, two, three, kick!" rings out in hotels, halls, and homes from the north shore to the south side these nights as all Chicago swings into the conga and the rhumba. As one group learns the "South American Way" the easy way with a series of suppers and lessons on alternate Fridays the graduates of another class are found doing their gliding and hip swinging in public.

The latest rhythms will share the spotlight with America's own folk dances at tonight's round of dancing parties, however. A tentative rhumba or a militarized conga may pop up at the Army and Navy ball at the Congress hotel, or sweep the floor at a young people's party at the Saddle and Cycle, but it will be "swing your partners" and "grand right and left" at a meeting of the Square Dancers in the Chicago Yacht club's downtown clubhouse.

Maj. George B. Morse Is Chairman of Ball.

South American rhythms will be set off with resplendent uniforms and full dress attire at the Army and Navy party, which is the 18th annual affair. It will be held in the large Gold room of the hotel. There will be a reception at 10 o'clock, followed by a grand march a half hour later and a presentation of massed colors at 10:45 o'clock.

Maj. George B. Morse is chairman of the ball. Some of the especial guests will be Admiral and Mrs. John Downes, Gen. and Mrs. Charles H. Bonesteel, Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, and Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague.

Even the chaperones will dress up for an advertising party the Dinner-Dance club is giving at the Saddle tonight. Each young guest must come as an advertisment and, since the days of the "familiar figure" theme in advertising seem to be over, the party should bring forth a crop of ingenious costumes. Prizes will be awarded for the best ones. Mrs. Roger Faherty is in charge of arrangements.

Old clothes and low heeled shoes will be in order at the Square Dancers' party. "Are you having special decorations?" some one asked a member of the committee in charge of the meeting. "Goodness, no," was the reply. "We've had to move out all the furniture."

The attractive little clubhouse at the foot of Monroe street won't be without a cozy atmosphere, however, for there will be a grate fire around which the dancers may gather when they stop to catch their breath. Mrs. Stewart Boal, Mrs. Gilbert Osgood, and Mrs. William B. Goltra made the arrangements for tonight's dance, which is the first to be held at the club.

Country Club of Evanston Putting On Floor Show.

Members of the Country club of Evanston will see how it's done at a floor show at the club tonight and then remain to try new steps and sing new songs themselves. "Date at Eight" is both the title and theme of the show, which was written by members.

Dr. Otho E. Scott, president of the club, and Mrs. Scott will have a large table of guests for the performance, and so will the junior Edward M. Tourtelots [she is the show's leading lady]. Mrs. C. Hunter Lindsay, show director, will entertain at cocktails with Mr. Lindsay in their home preceding the dance.

Reservations also have been made by the Norman Johnsons, the John W. Shaws, the Bingham Van Dykes, Mr. and Mrs. William Sennott Jr., the Kenneth A. Reids, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hemenway, the Raymond Brookbys, the Harvey B. Lindsays, and the Harlan Hackberts. Commander and Mrs. Ralph W. G. Matthews will bring a group from the Chicago Town and Tennis club.

A class of Winnetka young marrieds wines and dines at the homes of members on alternate Fridays and then goes on to the Winnetka Community House for rhumba lessons from a professional teacher. The William Steinwedells, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hines, the Murray Whitfields, the John Derns, the John R. Montgomerys, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Mackenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Horton Fell III., the William Maceys, and the Charles Prices are among these students. They will meet again next Friday.

Harvard Club Is Giving Annual Dinner Tonight.

Harvard wives will be widows tonight when the Harvard club of Chicago gives its annual dinner at the Blackstone hotel. Samuel Eliot Morison, professor of history at Harvard, will be guest speaker.

Evan Spaulding is president of the club, Howard Gillette Jr. is secretary, and Michael Cudahy is assistant secretary. Walter C. Coleman heads the dinner committee. He is being assisted by Joseph L. Valentine, Arthur G. Cable, William C. Boyden, H. Stuart Stone Jr., Hawthorne Pettie, and William C. Egan.

Both the Cordon and the College club are having musical teas this afternoon after the Chicago Symphony concert. Miss Naomi Cook of the Chicago Opera company will sing at the Cordon and Miss Maurine Parzybok, contralto, will sing at the College club. Miss Parzybok will be accompanied by Barrett Spach.

The Cliff Dwellers also will serve tea after the concert. Mrs. Roy Franklin Dewey, the hostess, will be as-

When Dorothy Fathauer grows up she probably will go to Mills college, of which her mother, Mrs. Walter F. Fathauer, is a graduate. Mrs. Fathauer is president of the Chicago Mills College club, which will welcome the president of the college, Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, at a reception on Sunday in the Glenview home of the Elias Cornells. Dr. Reinhardt is on her way from California to attend a convention of the American Association of School Administrators next week in Atlantic City, N. J.

Auto License Tags Are Set to Music by Ganz

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Having presented a musical interpretation of vitamins last week, the Chicago Symphony orchestra is now busy with no less a subject than automobile licenses. The third movement of Rudolph Ganz's new piano concerto, heard in Orchestra hall last night for the first time, contains three ideas which are based, respectively, on his own 1940 and 1941 licenses and on Frederick Stock's 1940.

The method, presumably, was to let each number represent a degree of the scale, and to enter adjoining octaves for 0 and 9. Altho the concerto as a whole is dedicated to Dr. Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra, this third movement, says the composer, is an ode to the State of Illinois and to Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes. Mr. Hughes has already signified his pleasure at the idea of Illinois license tags being set to music.

With the composer himself at the piano and with Dr. Stock conducting, the new concerto made a very good impression. It has a crisp, military air, and in several of its episodes the roguish Ganz humor is apparent. In the presentation of its ideas the concerto is clear, vigorous, and convincing. The slow movement is full of a fascinatingly unsentimental sort of sentiment and the celesta is used in what Dr. Ganz himself calls a mocking manner.

Dr. Ganz played the concerto in bravura style, making much of its many opportunities for brilliant, percussive effects and giving its humorous episodes their proper pertness.

The program's other principal item was Bruckner's beautiful Third symphony, which contains some of its composer's finest ideas and is not marred by the excessive length of some of his later works. Here the Bruckner mysticism, intense tho it is, never becomes unmanageable. And it is relieved by the lovely merriment of that theme in F sharp major in the last movement.

The program began with Wagner's "Polonia" overture, which was inspired by the Polish revolution of 1830 and is being played at this time in recognition of the 50th anniversary of the American debut of the Polish pianist and statesman, Ignace Jan Paderewski. After the symphony and the concerto, excerpts from the Glazunoff ballet, "Ruses d'Amour," brought the concerto to a close.

Wishful Thinker.

Perhaps the baker at a little French bakery on the near north side had his mind on international matters when he adorned the birthday cake Mrs. Peter Koch ordered for her child's third birthday party Wednesday. She had asked that "You Are Three" be written on the cake in icing. Altho it was a chocolate cake she found that the icing was done in red, white, and blue, and that the inscription read "You Are Free."

BOAT SHOW BRIEF.

If I had a schooner or sloop
I'd sail away from the Loop.
The moon would be high,
And so would I.
And so is the price of a sloop!
—Miss Smith.

Cuffnotes.

The forthcoming March issue of Poetry Magazine will have two items of unusual interest to Chicagoans—an article on the late James Joyce by Thornton Wilder, and some poems by Maude Phelps Hutchins, her first published poetry. Lately I Walk Lightly, She Waited and Waited, There's Something Appealing and Gothic Lover are titles of the poems. . . . Thornton Wilder, who is at work at New Haven on another play, will be back in Chicago for the summer quarter at the University of Chicago. His sister, Janet, known to a number of Chicagoans, who is biology instructor at Mount Holyoke college, is to be married shortly, and her brother will give her away.

Refugees.

While M. and Mme. David Van Buuren, a Belgian banker and his wife, were in Chicago recently, M. Van Buuren to speak at the University of Chicago and Madame at the Y. W. C. A., she and Mrs. Charles W. Gilkey, vice president of the Chicago Y. W. C. A. were in a taxicab chatting briskly when the driver interrupted.

"Pardon me, madam, but are you from Brussels?" he asked. When Mme. Van Buuren said she was he told her he was from Brussels, too. "I was chauffeur for Mme. S. . . . ." he added.

Understatement.

Clearing Out Our Small Remaining Stock of Czecho-Slovakian Linens.

We will not be able to obtain any more of these fine linens from Czecho-Slovakia because of conditions abroad, due to circumstances beyond our control.

Windy City Story.

A gentleman named Orloff who lives on Ohio street had his hat taken off by the wind the other day. A man walking near him captured it, and was carefully brushing it off when Mr. Orloff reached him.

"What do you mean 'old'?" demanded the other.

"My hat, which you so kindly rescued for me," said Mr. Orloff, extending his hand for it.

Kenilworth Club Dance.

The Kenilworth club is giving a Red, White, and Blue ball tonight. Dinner will be served at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Jervis J. Babb, Mrs. Harold O. Barnes, and Mrs. John Nuveen Jr. are in charge of arrangements.

Costume Slips Rival Luxury Gowns in Fit

BY REA SEEGER.

Designers have fussed, cut, and fitted costume slips so that the newest arrivals rival the smooth fitting of luxury gowns. Insets, seaming, bias panels, straight panels, fullness achieved with tricky tucking or shirred insets, and other telling devices have been used by wizards at the business of making underlayers that stay in position no matter how you will twist and turn.

If you like the swish of taffeta under your suit, you'll like the dotted affairs. Bright big printed dots of bold color against contrast are particularly effective. Gold, red, light blue, pink, and white dots about the size of a dime are spattered precisely against street colors like red, navy, brown, and black. They have a finely pleated ruffle around the lower edge, a bra top that really fits like a bra, and the streamlining is something to rate the best applause.

Wash satin slips are other finds, . . . These come in white, pink, black, and navy. They are cut with flawless detail, achieving a fit that makes the smoothest sort of an underlayer. The bra top is exceptionally well cut and fitted. A decorative edge around the upper outline is of soft sheer chiffon fagoted to the satin. This provides a visible attraction for transparent blouses.

The satin is washable and will not sag. Even after repeated tubbings the shades stay the same original tint.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. Joseph William Walton of Jacksonville, Ill., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Ruth, to Robert Laning Clifford of Evanston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clifford of Washington, D. C. Miss Walton was graduated from Mount Holyoke college in 1937 and has been doing graduate work at the University of Chicago. Mr. Clifford prepared at Mercersburg academy for Princeton and was graduated from the Harvard Business school. He was engaged in business in Chicago until he was called to Washington as a captain in the Officers' Reserve corps for duty in the office of the administrator of export control in the war department.

The engagement of Miss Marion Marx to N. Larkin Osborn was announced at tea recently by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August R. Mark of Shelby, Mich., and Chicago. Miss Marx is a senior at Northwestern university, where her fiancé is taking his master's degree. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Osborn of Wichita, Kas., and is a graduate of Friends university in Wichita.

Campaign to Enroll Registered Nurses Started by Red Cross

A campaign to enroll every qualified registered nurse in the Chicago area in the First Reserve of Red Cross Nurses by April 1 was started yesterday by officials of the Chicago committee on Red Cross Nursing service. A total of 759 nurses in this area already are members of the reserve, and the committee hopes to double this number.

"To meet the needs of the army and navy, more than 10,000 new enrollments in the reserve must be obtained throughout the nation," said Mrs. Ada R. Crocker, chairman of the committee. The First Reserve is the official reservoir of nurses for the military forces, and already the army has requisitioned 4,000 nurses for active duty in army posts by July 1.

To be eligible for the reserve a nurse must be less than 40 years old, physically fit, and a graduate of an approved high school and recognized school of nursing.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

By WYNN

Friday, Feb. 21.

Today is excellent for putting to the test the ideas and plans you have been working on, if you are sure you're willing to find out their true values. Deal with those older; study financial matters; bring your best logic to the surface.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from today, your birthday, focuses any domestic secret, and personal problems from your past; new outlook necessary. Make no sudden changes this year. Care with elders, home folks, own capital. Danger: May 6-20.

Tomorrow.

Excellent for thinking things thru, and for getting things done.

Do you want an individual interpretation for your own personal date? Send 10c for your 1941 horoscope to WYNN, Tribune Astrologer, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, date of birth, and address.

Art Institute Offers Unique Print Display

BY MARCIA WINN.

Without the fanfare of a much publicized international exhibition, the Art institute has opened a display which in quality, scope, and rarity of the items shown, as well as from a standpoint of sociological influence, is without present or past parallel.

This is a display of woodcuts and engravings from the first century of printmaking [1400-1500]. It shows in 139 little pictures, many of them smaller than a postcard, the first use of art as propaganda [the medieval equivalent of the modern handbill] and the first production of art on a scale so inexpensive the masses could afford to buy it.

From a cursory view of the pictures alone the casual visitor might learn little of this. He might be enchanted by the wooden, doll-like forms of the two seminude crowned gentlemen struggling on the top of what seems to be a flag pole. He might learn more from its title, "Satire of the Emperor [Frederick III.] and the Pope [Paul II.]," but its significance lies in the fact that it probably was the first caricature and had an avid popularity in Italy and Germany.

The visitor might be amazed at the freshness of the colors, as in the stained glass effect of "Agony in the Garden," but this retention of color by cheap paper thru four centuries comes from the fact that they were preserved, if preserved at all, as end papers in books or as linings for box covers. Again, he might be entranced by the infant Christ who, in receiving a sprig of roses from a benign St. Dorothy, certainly is pushing a wooden-wheeled tricycle, but again he probably would be unaware that this, like the majority of the early prints, was a bit of pertinent propaganda.

The earliest prints that scholars can affix a date to are around 1390 or 1400, altho the Germans had been printing textiles for a number of years. The implications, according to Carl O. Schniewind, curator of prints and drawings at the Art institute, were that prints could have been made centuries before they were if the people had felt the need.

Until 1390, when the first paper mills were opened in Germany, it would have been too expensive a piece of propaganda, as the cost of parchment was prohibitive. But cheap paper provided the medium, and the artists, working in the highly sophisticated tradition of the Van Eycks and the great Italians, did beautiful work.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Feb. 20.—Saying that the movies "could do with" something is like saying a bum could do with a square meal—it's obvious. Pictures have sought and bought talent relentlessly and can do with more. They can, for instance, do with some more female singers.

Hollywood has its Durbins, Fayes, and MacDonalds—but what about some newcomers? Not that the old ones aren't all right—but suppose one of them should break a leg, then what? And Hollywood, the poor people's Ponce de Leon, is forever in search of youth. Here's Deanna Durbin, for instance, getting married. Here's Judy Garland creeping into the reports on the lovelorn columns and actually playing her own mother in a picture. What about somebody new? Not necessarily a prodigy child, but just a newcomer of any attractive age who has some stuff?

In the last two nights two very interesting young ladies have been presented at projection room showings. One, Susanna Foster, has been in a couple of pictures, but is carrying the weight of one for the first time—a number called "Hard Boiled Canary." The other, Kathryn Grayson, is making her movie debut in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary" and it's an impressive first performance.

Eleven days ago Miss Grayson—whose real name is Zelma Hedrick—celebrated her 19th birthday, and the ensuing 10 days were exciting ones. She made her first radio program and came out in her first movie after a year and a half of being under wraps at MGM. A year and a half, incidentally, in which she grew a foot.

Her voice is a soprano with the lilt of youth in it and the foundation of study beneath it. I'd say she sings much better than either Garland or Durbin—but that doesn't mean that she's yet a rival of these two young stars, for personal charm is nine-tenths of movie success and it's too early to tell how much of that she's got. She is not a beauty but is attractive, and has that invaluable "nice girl" look about her.

Susanna Foster, Paramount's young hopeful in "Hard Boiled Canary," is the girl Metro forgot and Paramount picked up. Her folks are a lot poorer than Kathryn Grayson's and Susanna still can't get over the pleasure of having real butter or tearing into a good steak.

She was 16 in December. She can sing an A above high C—a note which was used to turn on all the lights at the San Francisco fair. She was born in Chicago, daughter of Lester Lamont Larson—a football hero under Amos Alonzo Stagg—and Viola Flanders. Her real name is Susanna DeLee Flanders Larson. She was named Susanna because she's related to Stephen Foster, who wrote "Oh, Susanna." DeLee after the noted Lying-In hospital physician who delivered her. She could sing pretty well when she was 4. When she was 11 or 12 she was singing Saturdays and Sundays in a Minneapolis movie theater [her father had moved there in the investment business].

Susanna went on singing in parks, other theaters, and on the radio. A Minneapolis music critic sent a record of her voice to Hollywood, and Louis B. Mayer brought her out with her mother. Like Kathryn, she went to school—but after a year her option was dropped. Things were tough for a long time after that—until Paramount gave Susanna a chance in "The Great Victor Herbert." She was good enough in this to be put in a new film called "Interlochen," made last spring.

Drabness of a Wife and Home May Bore Man

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Does middle age subscribe to drabness, as "John T." accuses in a letter directed to us? And does this drabness subscribe to the wanderlust peculiarly noticeable in husbands of middle age and thereabouts?

There's food for thought in John T.'s proposal that drabness eventually gets a man so "down," he is bound to break out in search of color, adventure, excitement.

On the other hand, there never was an era in the history of women in which the middle aged put up a better appearance, whose lives were more colorful, whose minds were more alive and young and alert than right now. Naturally, all women do not respond to current opportunities. Some do become dull in appearance, mentally dull, with dull home backgrounds, and pitifully drab conversationally.

Anyway, John T. says: "I've held a theory for a long time that the husband who becomes intrigued with feminine interest outside the home is led into mischief because of the monotony and utter drabness that confronts him when he plies nightly his weary footsteps to the home threshold. He is met by a woman who, in spite of beauty parlors on every street corner, looks as if she never saw the inside of one. The man knows exactly what the woman is going to say, what she is going to serve him on the same dull-looking dining table, in the same dull black or dark brown or battleship gray frock. I could go on with a number of other home-atmosphere dullnesses, but enough has been said to enroll me in the public enemy class by those women I refer to who still are virtuous, honest, trustworthy, and good, but without a grain of charm, glamor, even interest, for all of it."

You may come back at John T., if you wish, women. We'll open the column to your opinion!

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

In deciding whether to bid or pass borderline hands, experts subconsciously employ a measure which is now being put into the Culbertson system as a formal rule. It is simply this: When your hand is a plus value short of an opening bid, and you cannot decide whether or not to open the bidding, count the honor cards [an honor card is any ten or higher card]. If the hand contains six or more honor cards, it usually is wise to overlook the plus value shortage. Indeed, those six honor cards may in themselves be considered a plus value which can be added to the total honor trick count of the hand. Compare the following holdings:

1. ♠K632 ♥A542 ♦AJ3 ♣42
2. ♠KQJ5 ♥K1093 ♦A65 ♣42

Both these hands count precisely two and one-half plus honor tricks, yet hand No. 1 should not be opened, whereas hand No. 2 most certainly should not be passed. The difference, of course, lies in the relative solidity. The presence of six honor cards in hand No. 2, as against only four honor cards in hand No. 1 makes all the difference in the world. Thus it will be seen that the rule of adding a plus value for six or more honor cards is an effective and simple method of valuing "intermediates" which, incidentally, become of enormous importance in the play of close contracts.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

West could have rescued himself from the dangerous situation created by South's take-out double, by the simple expedient of bidding one no trump over it, anticipating a possible leave-in by North. When he failed to do so, East hardly could risk increasing the contract by a "stab" rescue with either minor suit. Besides, his heart void and two trumps were reasonable support, he thought. As it turned out, he was right! North's leave-in of the take-out double was tempting, despite his four hearts, because of his own nonvulnerability against West's vulnerability.

North's opening lead of the heart ace, however, was far from shrewd. Since the declarer had contracted for only seven tricks it was extremely unwise to plan to "ruff him down" with heart leads. With a quadruple sequence in trumps North had everything to gain and nothing to lose by attacking the trump suit itself.

Dummy ruffed the heart ace and led a diamond to declarer's ace for the cashing of the heart king and the ruffing of the other heart loser. After that declarer simply waited for the defenders to lead spades. By this means he made his three top trumps.

Obviously, on the proper opening of a trump, dummy's ruffing power would have been reduced to nil and, in addition, declarer's king of hearts would not have been established. In short, a three trick penalty, 800 points, instead of a fulfilled contract would have resulted.

Bright Child Never Strains His Intellect

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Today I want to jot down some observations and comments on gifted children, and when I use the expression "gifted children," I am doing so in the wider sense, meaning not only children who are intellectually brilliant, but those who are gifted with a special talent, as in the creative arts.

To begin with what we might call the human angle, gifted children need not be self-conscious little prigs. If they become so, it is not because they are gifted, but because their parents have been unwise, even silly, in raising them. I have seen brilliant children who began early to smirk with self-importance only for that reason. Of course, their natural attractiveness was greatly reduced by that self-consciousness. In contrast, I have seen other children in this classification who were simple and natural, easy, well balanced, and usually socially poised boys and girls. They had sensible parents.

The gifted children I've known also were healthy. As a group, brilliant children tend to be healthy and well developed, altho, of course, we have exceptions here as elsewhere. But again the result has been due largely to the wisdom of their parents, who have encouraged regular living and outdoor activity. Brilliant children can use their brains and talents to the full without strain, if they have normal amounts of rest and exercise.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Feb. 21, 1941.

Universal day—If the other fellow asks for your help today, give it willingly. Perform small services.

Personal days—If your chart shows that this is a nine day for you, and you see that the advice universally is for a two day, then you know that you have two emotional numbers to deal with today. Two is supersensitive and easily hurt, and nine is ready to blow up, so you will have to use the balance of the two, and keep the emotional quality of the nine on an impersonal basis if you don't want to have your feelings hurt and maybe hurt some one else's feelings. The emphasis of two is on little details and service, while the nine asks for universal coöperation and tolerant understanding.

Paris Rations Clothing; Shops Face Disaster

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 13 [Via Berlin—Delayed].—Restrictions on the sale of clothing and textiles caused consternation today in Paris, where about one out of every 10 persons is engaged in some branch of these industries.

Leading dress designers, however, are dealt with most lightly because the government is determined to fight against Chicago, New York, and Hollywood becoming the centers of women's fashions. A free hand is being given to the 15 best dressmaking houses now displaying new spring styles. These and a few other designers will be permitted to sell their new models in limited quantities without the printed vouchers now required for other branches of the trade.

The story is a far different one with ordinary retailers and the tens of thousands of small dealers and neighborhood dressmakers. For them the new restrictions spell disaster.

Due to the increasing shortage of merchandise one large department store already is planning to close one of its buildings. Owners of other department stores are gradually vacating upper floors as their stocks become depleted.

Hardest hit of all are the thousands of old women who run "merceries," or humble dry goods stores in side streets, eking out a living by selling low grade wearing apparel, newspapers, stationery, cheap perfumes, and similar articles.

Some fashionable shops along the Champs Elysees, which were patronized by many women who prefer to have three dresses at $7 than one at $20, also may be forced to close. These dealers now fear that if only one or two dresses or coats are to be permitted annually their customers will prefer better materials.

The new regulations, which come as a result of a shortage of raw materials, will practically prohibit the purchase of clothing or dress materials by adults for some time. There will be no restrictions on baby clothes and it will be comparatively easy to purchase wearing apparel for children between the ages of 3 and 17 years.

10,000 WILL SEE MIDDLEWEIGHT BOUT IN STADIUM

First 15 Rounder at Weight in State.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Tony Zale, member of the 1934 Chicago Golden Gloves intercity team, tonight will risk his world middleweight title for the first time in a return bout against Steve Mamakos, aggressive Washington, D. C., fighter, in Chicago Stadium.

It is the first 15 round match at this weight to be held in Illinois since boxing was legalized in 1926. In the last 160 pound title bout held in this state, Mickey Walker successfully defended the crown by beating Ace Hudkins in 10 rounds in Comiskey park 12 years ago.

In a previous meeting Zale scored a victory over the challenger in a fierce 10 round fight in the west side arena on Jan. 10. The decision was not unanimous, but Zale appeared to have a clear margin, chiefly because he floored his 23 year old foe twice, once each in the fourth and 10th rounds. The Greek contender refused to take a count on either trip, fighting back furiously each time he regained his feet.

Fans Give Mamakos Chance.

Because Zale was not impressive in this encounter fans are giving Mamakos a chance to become the champion. They like the Washington slugger's ruggedness and determination, assets he first displayed in a bruising 10 round draw fight with Milt Aron last Sept. 9. In a return bout he dealt Aron a sound beating Nov. 25.

Despite Mamakos' accomplishments, Zale must be regarded as the favorite. Tony, who is 26 years old, has what it takes to beat a fellow with Mamakos' weapons—a powerful right hand wallop and plenty of stamina. Zale can beat any one his weight he can hit and Mamakos appears to be a ready target. Zale is confident he will score a knockout within eight rounds.

Mamakos Seeks 40th Triumph.

Mamakos, however, believes Zale will tire himself out after a few rounds, and predicts Tony will not finish the 11th round. Mamakos will be seeking his 40th triumph in 50 fights. The previous setback by Zale was his ninth. The match unaccounted for is his deadlock decision with Aron.

Zale, who has lost only to Billy Soose in an overweight match in Mills stadium last Aug. 21 since dethroning Al Hostak earlier, will be making his 58th appearance during a seven year campaign. He has scored 45 victories.

Weigh In At 1 P. M.

The fighters will weigh in at the Illinois boxing commission offices in the Steger building today at 1 p. m. Zale expects to be at 159¾ pounds and Mamakos at 156½.

It is estimated more than 10,000 will contribute to gate receipts exceeding $25,000. Zale will receive 37½ per cent of the net. Mamakos will collect 12½ per cent.

Hostak's reappearance in a 10 round supporting match against George Burnette of Detroit has attracted attention. In his Chicago debut, while still champion a year ago, Hostak was impressive altho he lost a 10 round bout with Zale. It was their first meeting and the title was not at stake. Hostak's handlers blamed a hand injury for this setback. When Zale relieved the Seattle battler of his crown on a 13 round technical knockout in a return bout, brittle hands also were said to be a contributing factor to the defeat.

May Get Title Shot.

If he wins decisively over Burnette he will be granted a chance to regain the championship against the Zale-Mamakos winner, the promoter said.

An additional contest of 10 rounds will bring together Altus Allen, 1939 International Golden Gloves heavyweight winner, and Gunnar Barlund of Helsingfors, Finland.

'Action Ahead!

Hawks Score 4-2 Victory; Tie for Fourth

New York, Feb. 20 (AP).—Chicago's fighting Blackhawks, determined to clinch a spot in the Stanley Cup playoffs, fired three quick goals past Rookie Goalie Charley Rayner in the third period to whip the lowly Americans before a small gathering in Madison Square Garden tonight. The victory, their second straight, gave the Chicagoans a tie for fourth place with the New York Rangers in the National Hockey league standings.

The Hawks will move to Montreal tomorrow for a duel with the Canadiens Saturday night and then dash back to New York to settle that fourth place dispute with the Rangers Sunday.

Thoms Breaks the Tie.

Bill Thoms seized upon a lapse by the Hooley Smith-Pat Egan defense half-way thru the third period to break a 2-all tie. The Chicago center intercepted a pass between the two men deep in the American end of the rink, raced past them, and fired home a rising shot for what proved to be the winning goal.

Max Bentley's breakaway shot three minutes before the end of play with Brother Doug helping made the victory certain.

Of the earlier goals, three went to defense men on long shots and one was as freakish a product as ever has

Dade and Menchaca Defend Titles.

Windup Is Near

THE last three Golden Gloves sectional teams will be picked tonight and tomorrow, thereby completing the field of 43 invading teams for the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium next week. The Detroit Free Press and the Memphis Commercial Appeal will hold finals tonight and the Kokomo, Ind., Tribune will conclude its bouts tomorrow.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Boxing fans will focus particular attention on the Golden Gloves teams representing Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Fort Worth, and Muncie during the Tournament of Champions, which will be held next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday in the Stadium. Out of the 44 centers which sent representatives into last year's battle for Golden Gloves, these six cities emerged with the eight titles, Chicago taking three and the other five accounting for one each.

Two of last year's champions will be back to defend their supremacy. These are Harold Dade of Chicago, and Richard Menchaca of Fort Worth. The other four cities also seem assured of strong representation again this year, judging by the strength displayed by fighters in the sectional tournaments. Cleveland and St. Louis already have picked powerful teams and Detroit will complete its tournament tonight.

Cleveland's Tough Again.

Cleveland, which last year sent Joe Maxim to the middleweight championship, will be represented this season by eight versatile punchers. The team includes an Italian florist, a German factory worker, and an Irish-English-American high school boy.

The Tournament of Champions draws from so vast an area that no one section is able to dominate this event, which reduces a field of more than 350 fighters to the 32 semi-finalists. They will come back on March 7 to fight it out for the titles. At the conclusion of last season's Tournament of Champions 21 cities had placed representatives among the 32 semi-finalists.

Detroit Places Four.

Among these semi-finalists Detroit had the largest representation with four fighters, one of whom, Tony Ancona, went on to a championship. Chicago had three and all of them stayed in to the finish, Savior Canadeo and Cornelius Young winning titles in addition to Dade. Fort Worth also had three, but Menchaca was the only one to last. Gary, Des Moines, St. Louis, and Oklahoma City finished the Tournament of Champions with two fighters each still in the running. Fourteen other cities had one survivor each.

Gary is sending up another one of the Joyce brothers—Eugene—to compete in this season's Tournament of Champions. James Joyce lost to Menchaca in last season's bantamweight final and Willie Joyce was the 1937 featherweight champion. Eugene boxes in the 118 pound class.

Soldiers Are Coming.

The Camp Livingston squad, made up of army men of the 32d division, will leave Alexandria, La., today by automobile for Chicago. The soldiers on the team are winners in the tournament conducted by the Alexandria Town Talk, one of the 43 newspapers coöperating with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in the sponsorship of Golden Gloves eliminations. The team consists entirely of Wisconsin men

The Kinship of Sorrow.

People we've laughed and had fun with
Are sometimes forgot down the years.
There's something so fleeting to pleasure,
It never endears as do tears;
A casual encounter some summer,
Then we leave them and pleasantly say,
"It was awfully nice knowing you, really,"

But people who've suffered together
Never drift very widely apart;
Those who have shared your deep anguish
Forever abide in your heart;
For somehow there's something to sorrow
That draws us all ever so near
The laughter is shortly forgotten,
But we always remember the tear!

GOOD BY, WINTER! SOX TO HEAD FOR COAST TONIGHT

Party of 15 Includes Six Chicago Boys.

Stringer Yields

LOU STRINGER, the Cubs' high priced rookie second baseman, will sign his 1941 contract next Wednesday morning when the Cubs arrive in Chicago on the way to their Catalina Island training camp, it was indicated yesterday by Jim Gallagher, general manager. "Stringer will take the boat with us to the island," Gallagher said. Stringer also denied reports that he had formed a holdout combination with Lou Novikoff, the slugging outfielder, who is one of the 12 unsigned Cubs. Clay Bryant, sore-armed pitcher, yesterday signed his contract.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Fifteen of the 35 fellows who hope to take orders from Jimmie Dykes thruout the 1941 season will congregate in Comiskey park at 10 o'clock this morning to get marching orders from Joe Barry, the White Sox traveling secretary.

At 6:23 o'clock tonight the party will leave on the City of Los Angeles streamliner from the Northwestern station. It will deposit them in East Los Angeles early Sunday morning and the remainder of the journey to the Pasadena training base will be completed by bus.

Six are Chicagoans.

Among the 15 who will be under Secretary Barry's protection are six Chicagoans, ample proof that the White Sox are doing all right by native sons. Four of the half dozen are pitchers—Orval Grove, Ed Weiland, Orville Jorgens, and Walter Navie. The other two may make up one half of the Sox infield next season. They are Bob Kennedy, third baseman, and Don Kolloway, who will bid for the second base assignment.

Navie, 6 feet tall and weighing 185 pounds, has had little advance ballyhoo, but he has such a seasoned observer as Billy Webb more than slightly excited. The 22 year old southpaw is one of the outstanding youngsters culled from the Sox minor league affiliates, says Webb, who is director of the club's minor league operations. Navie was with Shreveport in the Texas league last year.

They'll go to Work Monday.

Other members of the California-bound delegation are: Pitchers Pete Appleton, John Humphries, Jack Hallett, Joe Haynes, Jess Dobernic, Warren Martin, and Clyde Unstead; Catcher Mike Tresh, and Infielder Jimmy Webb. Other members of the Sox official party making the trip are Edgar Munzel, director of public relations, and Sharkey Colledge, club house chief.

Training routine for this group, and several players already in Pasadena, will start next Monday morning in Brookside park, which is within easy walking distance of the Rose Bowl. The second squad, completing the roster, will report March 1.

The squad's departure will be broadcast on the regular 6:15 p. m. W-G-N sports program.

Webb announced yesterday the renewal of working agreements with four minor league clubs. They are Lubbock in the West-Texas league, Jonesboro in the Northeast Arkansas, Wisconsin Rapids in the Wisconsin State, and Waterloo in the Three-Eye.

"FAT MEN" START, TOO.

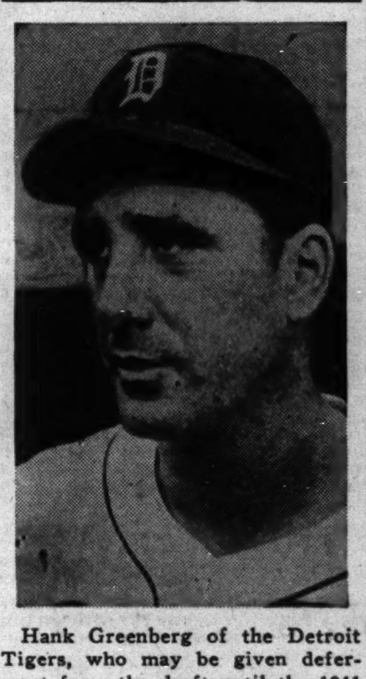
Army or Baseball?



Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers, who may be given deferment from the draft until the 1941 baseball season ends, according to a Detroit newspaper. His board chairman says he has not asked to be deferred.

Greenberg and Draft Cause a Stir in Detroit

Detroit, Mich., Feb 20 (AP).—The question of whether Hank Greenberg is to be a soldier or an active ball player in 1941 was reopened tonight while Hank himself was on the high seas headed for home after a vacation in Hawaii.

On only one point did there seem complete agreement—the matter isn't settled yet.

Regarding published reports that the Detroit Tigers star may receive occupational deferment from the draft board, a draft board official expressed surprise. The Detroit Free Press said it was understood that Greenberg, in returning his questionnaire, had entered a claim for deferment as a necessary man.

"That part of it is not true unless he has done so in the last couple of days," said Ben O. Shepherd, chairman of draft board No. 23. "I don't think he is asking for deferment on any grounds."

Greenberg Lands Tuesday.

The Free Press meanwhile stuck to its original story. Shepherd had emphasized that he had not been in close touch with draft board offices lately.

The Free Press said that Greenberg, who was expected to be drafted by June 1, returned his questionnaire to the board on Feb. 14.

"On it, it was understood," the newspaper said, "was his claim for deferment as a 'necessary man.'"

When last commenting publicly on his possible draft, however, Greenberg said he was willing to enter the army whenever he was called. His local order number is 621, and draft officials here have said that he probably will come up for induction by June 1.

Board Receives No Reply.

The Free Press said that under the selective service act an occupational deferment may not be granted without a report and affidavit from the employer—"in Greenberg's case, the Detroit Baseball company or Walter O. Briggs [club owner]."

The affidavit must bear the employer's statement that the draft selectee is needed, the newspaper pointed out.

"It is understood," the newspaper said, "that Greenberg's board has referred his case to Briggs but has received no reply."

The selective service act defines a necessary man as one whose civilian activities are contributing to the national health, safety and interest and whose removal from his civilian activity would cause a material loss of effectiveness in such activity.

LONG ISLAND'S 2D HALF SPURT WHIPS DEMONS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Long Island's Blackbirds and De Paul's Blue Demons last night wound up the annual basketball double header series in the Coliseum with a battle that thrilled a crowd of 5,000 before the New Yorkers scored a hard earned 44 to 40 decision, thereby repeating an earlier 44 to 30 victory over the Demons in Madison Square Garden. The game was preceded by another in which Loyola's Ramblers wound up their seasonal appearance in the Coliseum with a 36 to 30 conquest of Detroit's Titans.

The victory was Long Island's 19th in 21 games to date, and marked De Paul's sixth defeat in 17 games. Loyola, which barely had time to get on the floor after a road trip, in which it won two out of four, hung up its 11th victory in 19 appearances.

De Paul fought back from a 16 to 3 deficit in the first half to assume a 25 to 24 intermission lead, largely due to the work of Sophomore Jim Cominsky, who tied with co-Capt. Elmer Gainer for De Paul scoring honors with 10 points. The Blackbirds can attribute their success to their free throwing proficiency, a department in which they connected 16 out of 19 times.

Demons Rally Delayed.

The inspired first half rally of the Blue Demons didn't get under way until after 12 minutes had been played. Thru this span of action, Beenders, Lobello, Schwartz, and finally Sophomore Cohen, on a long set shot, had accumulated 16 points against De Paul's three, eked out thru Gainer's basket and O'Rourke's free throw on Lobello's foul. Thereupon, Weksler with a basket and a free throw; Sacks, with a set shot fro mfar out, and O'Rourke's one hander made it 16 to 10.

Schechtman then hit on a free throw, Cohen repeated, and Schechtman scored from the field to double the Blackbirds' total at 20 to 10. They increased this to 22 to 14 before Jim Skrodzki connected on a pusn shot. He shortly after was removed with another injury to his already ailing right leg. Gainer then twice deceived Benders on pivot shots to make it 22 to 20, but Schechtman hit from the side, and the New Yorkers led, 24 to 20. Sachs then drove in for a push shot, and here Cominsky not only stole the ball and scampered in for the tying basket, but delivered a free throw on Lobello's foul after the half ending horn.

Deadlocked Three Times.

The score in the second half was deadlocked at 27-27, 31-31, and 34-34. Schwartz then delivered a free throw for Long Island, but Cominsky came thru with a follow shot after Bob Wozny and Carter O'Rourke had failed at the free throw mark. Lobello then scored on one of his patented set efforts, and from there on the Demons never approached closer than a point at 38 to 37, on Gainer's free throw. Lobello, Dick Holub, and Sophomore Saul Cohen, who clicked on three important free throws in a row in the last five minutes, clinched the victory for the visitors.

TERRY HAPPY AS CHIOZZA SHOWS SPEED IN DRILL

Demaree Joins Giants; Works Out Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Feb. 20.—Manager Bill Terry sent the New York Giants thru their first complete batting and fielding drill this afternoon and, when it was over, announced he had a surprise which may develop into an ace in the hole. Terry referred to Lou Chiozza, former infielder, who has been on the shelf since suffering a broken leg in 1939.

"He's the biggest surprise in the world to me," said Terry. "Chiozza can change the entire team outlook. Why, he was just learning how to play his position when he was injured. He looks great."

Outfielder Frank Demaree arrived from the coast and will join the squad tomorrow. Joe Orengo, new infielder, en route from the west coast by automobile is expected Saturday. Burgess Whitehead and Bob Foxx, newly acquired University of Tennessee star, also are expected shortly.

BEES VANGUARD LEAVES.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 20 (AP).—Three pitchers and a catcher were in the Boston Bees party which entrained with Traveling Secretary Duffy Lewis tonight for the training camp in San Antonio, Tex.

President Bob Quinn is staying behind until Sunday because of business matters, some of which concern a syndicate he is trying to organize to buy out C. F. Adams' controlling interest in the club.

Pitchers Art Johnson, George Barnicle, and Al Javery and Catcher Stan Andrews were aboard the special. The youthful battery of Frank Lamanna and Sig Broskie is expected to join the party in Cleveland tomorrow and Tom Earley, Dick Errickson, Phil Masi, and Nick Strincevich will be picked up in St. Louis.

Manager Casey Stengel and the remainder of the battery candidates will be converging upon San Antonio from other directions. The first practice session has been scheduled for Sunday morning. Infielders and outfielders have been ordered to report a week later.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 20 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates leave tomorrow morning for the San Bernardino, Cal., training camp with 17 aboard, including 10 players.

President William Benswanger and Manager Frankie Frisch already are on their way and are due in camp tomorrow or next day. All other players will join the National league team's special enroute or go direct from their homes to be ready for opening practice on Feb. 24.

DOERR BALKS AT OFFERS.

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP).—Second Baseman Bobby Doerr, one of the two unsigned Boston Red Sox, is a holdout, General Manager Eddie Collins admitted today as he entrained for Boston.

"Doerr has put such a high value on his services that we are unable to meet his figures," Collins said.

Collins added that Doerr, now recuperating in Los Angeles from an appendectomy, has rejected two recent offers.

The Red Sox official indicated that he did not expect any salary disputes with the club's other unsigned player, Ted Williams, brilliant young outfielder.

"I expect he will bring along his signed contract when he comes here next week for spring training," Collins said.

DODGERS FINE CASEY.

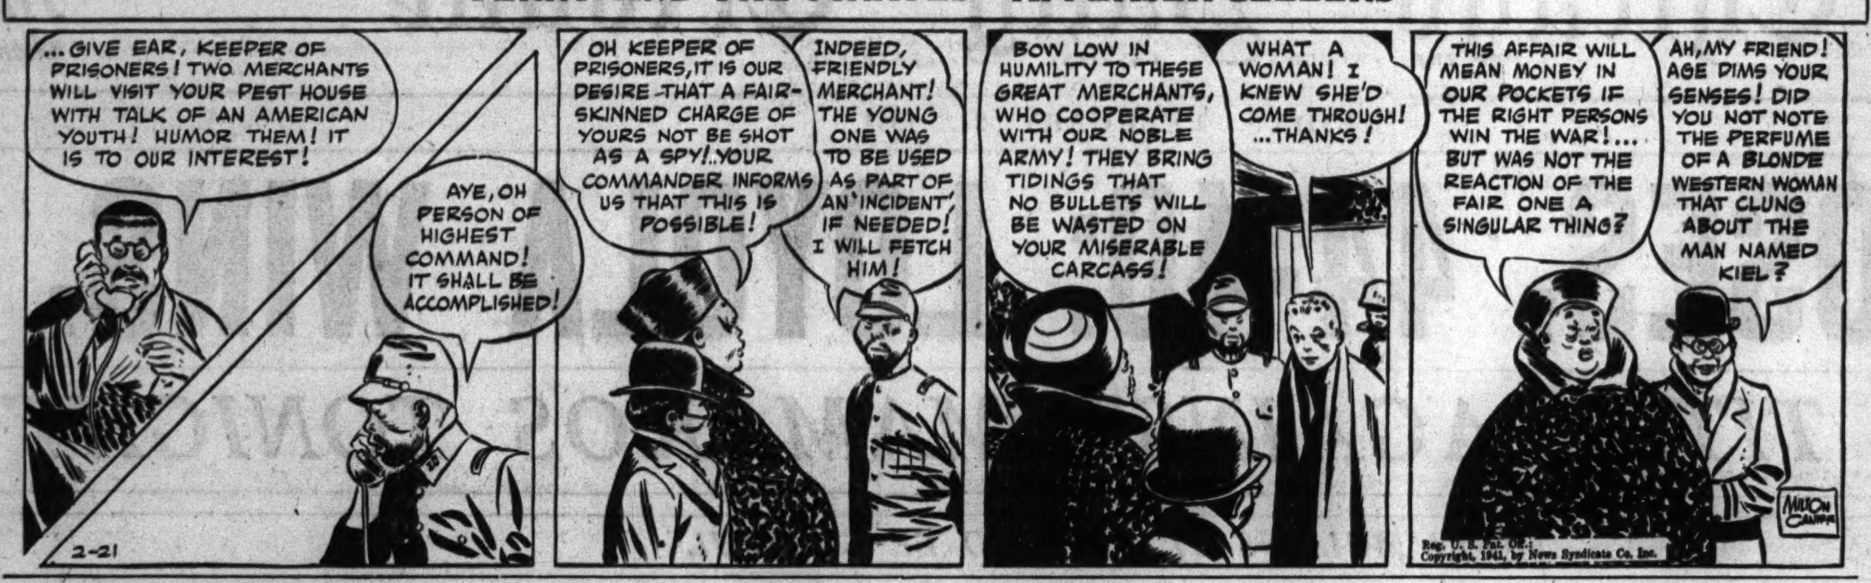
HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 20 (AP).—Pitcher Hugh Casey of the Brooklyn Dodgers was fined $100 today because he reported for training four days late. The pitcher reached camp yesterday, and he accepted the fine without complaint.

In today's routine drill, Manager Leo Durocher sent his players thru a brisk session, with a long batting practice in which half a dozen pitchers took turns on the mound. Alex Kampouris, reserve infielder, was in uniform for the first time.

JIM GLEESON SIGNS.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 20 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds today received a signed contract from Jim Gleeson, outfielder acquired from the Chicago Cubs in the deal for Shortstop Billy Myers. Later Manager Bill McKechnie telephoned from the Tampa, Fla., training camp that Ival Goodman told him his contract was acceptable.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—APPEASER GEEZERS



...GIVE EAR, KEEPER OF PRISONERS! TWO MERCHANTS WILL VISIT YOUR PEST HOUSE WITH TALK OF AN AMERICAN YOUTH! HUMOR THEM! IT IS TO OUR INTEREST!
AYE, OH PERSON OF HIGHEST COMMAND! IT SHALL BE ACCOMPLISHED!
OH KEEPER OF PRISONERS, IT IS OUR DESIRE THAT A FAIR-SKINNED CHARGE OF YOURS NOT BE SHOT AS A SPY! YOUR COMMANDER INFORMS US THAT THIS IS POSSIBLE!
INDEED, FRIENDLY MERCHANT! THE YOUNG ONE WAS TO BE USED AS PART OF AN 'INCIDENT' IF NEEDED! I WILL FETCH HIM!
BOW LOW IN HUMILITY TO THESE GREAT MERCHANTS, WHO COOPERATE WITH OUR NOBLE ARMY! THEY BRING TIDINGS THAT NO BULLETS WILL BE WASTED ON YOUR MISERABLE CARCASS!
WHAT A WOMAN! I KNEW SHE'D COME THROUGH! ...THANKS!
THIS AFFAIR WILL MEAN MONEY IN OUR POCKETS IF THE RIGHT PERSONS WIN THE WAR!... BUT WAS NOT THE REACTION OF THE FAIR ONE A SINGULAR THING?
AH, MY FRIEND! AGE DIMS YOUR SENSES! DID YOU NOT NOTE THE PERFUME OF A BLONDE WESTERN WOMAN THAT CLUNG ABOUT THE MAN NAMED KIEL?

Box Scores that tell Baseball's History

[This is the tenth of a series of baseball's most famous box scores. All are milestones in the history of the national game.]

After two postponements the Boston team played its first American league game on April 26, 1901, meeting Baltimore on the latter's field before 10,371 persons. Previous to the game a parade of about 40 carriages containing officials and players of both clubs, representatives of the trades unions, manufacturing concerns and sporting organizations, passed thru the principal streets of Baltimore. President Ban Johnson of the American league was present and tossed out the first ball. The floral tributes presented to the Orioles were numerous. Boston was given a floral scroll bearing the inscription, "Welcome, Boston." Baltimore won on timely batting. The score:

Sudden Thoughts.

The Cubs' organization certainly is democratic. The managers are sweating over the holdouts now in Chicago so the holdouts can sweat for the managers later in Catalina.

—Mildred.

If Willkie's plan for warship aid to Britain is accepted at 10 a month, we'll be lucky to have a "one lake navy" defending Chicago.

—Capt. Jelliko.

A Million Dollars.

"If I had a million dollars
I'd do a world of good,"
We may have often said it
But I wonder if we would.
Perchance it's wishful thinking
With a bit of tempting bait
That we hope will coax a handout
From a stern exacting fate.

He who seeks to serve his fellows
Needn't wait for fortune's call,
For the things for which hearts hunger
Are not for sale at all;
And the milk of human kindness
Has a worth beyond compare—
Perhaps our hands hold more of wealth

—E. L. Bruce.

EXHIBITS READY; SPORTS SHOW TO OPEN TOMORROW

Casting Tourney Draws Record Entry.

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago's International Sportmen's show will be ready to open its doors at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the International Amphitheater. F. W. Kahler, manager of the show, said last night that scores of conservation department exhibits and displays of fishing tackle, camping equipment and many other outdoor items will be ready for inspection when the show officially gets under way.

Workmen have been busy all week converting the interior of the Amphitheater into a summer woodland setting where deer and other wild animals will be seen in their natural habitats. Among the exhibits stressing vacation possibilities for midwest outdoor fans are those from the conservation departments of Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Canada, and the Ozarks. Two tame deer from the Indian Head country of Wisconsin will walk around among show visitors on the main arena floor.

Exhibit Trained Dogs.

The show this year again will feature exhibitions by Francis Hogan, well known sporting dog trainer, and his group of trained retrievers. Hogan recently appeared in the St. Louis Sportmen's show with his dogs. The West Point Training Club of Chicago also will put on an exhibition every night. Twelve members of the club and their obedience trained Great Danes, cocker spaniels, springer spaniels, Dobermann-Pinschers, and other breeds will appear.

One of the outstanding features of the show will be the bait and fly casting tournament sponsored by THE TRIBUNE. A total of 870 contestants have entered this event, which will be the largest casting tournament ever held in this country. This betters by more than 500 casters the record established last year when approximately 350 took part.

Casting Clubs to Compete.

The tournament opens with two casting club events tomorrow evening. The Illinois Casting club and the North Shore Rod and Reel club will be the participants in these contests. The bass bug event, to be held Sunday afternoon, is the first open event on the schedule.

WEBB FAVORITE TO WHIP TUCKER IN BOUT TONIGHT

New York, Feb. 20 [Special].—Jimmy Webb of Dallas, Tex., ruled a 7 to 5 favorite today to whip Robert [Tommy] Tucker of New York in their 15 round engagement in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. The fight is the first of a series designed to straighten out the light heavyweight championship.

The idea originated with Abe Greene, New Jersey commissioner and vice president of the National Boxing association, who seeks to bring the N. B. A. and the New York State Athletic commission together on the title. New York still recognizes Billy Conn of Pittsburgh as champion, but Conn is expected to give up the crown on invitation, for he's stepping into the heavyweight ranks to meet Joe Louis in June.

Senator Murphy Agrees to Prove Angel's a Phony

Boston, Mass., Feb. 20 (AP).—Shure, and did you ever hear an Irishman dodge a dare?

"Especially a Murphy," added one of the clan, State Senator Joseph L. Murphy [D., Boston], tonight as he accepted Wrestling Promoter Paul Bowser's invitation to oppose Maurice [The Angel] Tillet in a "grudge match" in the Boston arena.

"I still say wrestling is a racket and that the Angel is a faker," said Murphy, trembling not a whit and flexing the muscles of his 200 pound frame.

A Freak Makes It All Even.

The freak shot which tied the score at 1-all was fired by Joe Cooper in the second period. It did not seem to be near the goal, but Goalie Rayner, playing safe, tagged it with his glove and the puck caromed at an odd angle into the net.

Then, after Wingman Pete Kelly had put the Americans ahead in the third, the Chicagoans broke loose with their three goal barrage which left Rayner wondering what it was all about. Earl Seibert made it 2 to 2 with a sizzling shot off the right board's to set the stage for the decisive drive by Thoms and the clincher by Max Bentley.

The Hawks, confident now that they will have a hand in the postseason battles for the cup, will return to their home rink next Thursday to entertain the Detroit Red Wings.

PROGRAM READY FOR BENEFIT ICE SHOW IN ARENA

Arrangement of the Ice Frolics program, to be given tomorrow night in the Chicago Arena, was completed last night following a preview for the executive committee of the sponsoring organization, the Past Commanders club of the American Legion. The show is to be put on to benefit summer camps for veterans' sons.

Carl Stockholm, general chairman, made a few changes in the arrangement of the events. The program will be made up of 27 events, including 20 figure skating numbers, five races, a hockey game, and a broomball contest.

The races will bring together the stars of the Illinois Skating association. Class A men will compete for the governor's cup over a mile course, with intermediate boys racing for the mayor's trophy at three-quarters of a mile, and the junior girls traveling 440 yards for the Maj. Gen. Lawton trophy.

OPEN ICEBOAT REGATTA TODAY ON FOX LAKE

Fifty racing iceboats will compete today, tomorrow, and Sunday on Fox lake in the second annual championship regatta sponsored by the International Skeeter association. Most of the best Skeeter [75 square foot sail area] iceboats in the central states are entered.

PROPOSES STATE LAW TO PROHIBIT UNSIGHTLY SIGNS

'End Billboard Menace,' Aim of Rep. O'Grady.

State Representative Edward P. O'Grady [D., 29th] announced yesterday he is planning to institute legislative action which will end the billboard menace. His statement followed disclosure that the Saddle and Cycle club has begun erection of a commercial billboard 100 feet long and 10 feet high to face Sheridan road north of Foster avenue.

O'Grady recently introduced a bill that would allow county boards to prohibit the erection of billboards within 1,000 feet of any state highway. This bill is now pending before the legislature's committee on roads.

Finds Bill Insufficient.

"I realize now that my bill is not enough," O'Grady said. "Something must be done to prevent further attempts to duplicate what the Saddle and Cycle club is doing. I will offer amendments to grant municipalities the same powers of control as that which the bill proposes to give county governments.

"I will confer next week with the legislative reference bureau in Springfield to frame the amendments necessary to end this billboard menace in the whole state once and for all."

Signs Hazardous; He Says.

O'Grady declared he will push the fight in the legislature against unsightly billboards because he regards them, especially those along state highways, as hazardous and dangerous for motorists.

O'Grady plans to confer with Mrs. John Sharpless Fox, president of the Woman's City club, a leader in the antibillboard campaign. She said Wednesday that the need for new laws to prevent the marring of park and boulevard beauty will be discussed at a meeting of the club's directors March 3.

HARVESTER FIRM REFUSES TO DEAL WITH C. I. O. UNION

The International Harvester company yesterday refused, on legal grounds to negotiate with the C. I. O. Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee as a bargaining agent for the McCormick works in Chicago. The F. E. W. O. C. announced Wednesday night that McCormick works employés had voted overwhelmingly to authorize a strike unless the company started negotiations with this union.

In the company statement it was asserted that the C. I. O. could not be recognized until the National Labor Relations board holds an election to determine a bargaining agency. Formerly an independent union was the recognized agency, but it was ordered disestablished by the NLRB. The independent union leaders have affiliated with the A. F. of L. and have said they would campaign for recognition.

Strikes are being conducted by the F. E. W. O. C. in two Harvester plants, the tractor works in Chicago and the Richmond, Ind., factory. They demand higher wages, elimination of piecework, and seniority rights. No demand except recognition of the union has been made yet for the McCormick group.

EDW. LANDSBERG, HEAD OF BREWING COMPANIES, DIES

Edward Landsberg, a director of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and prominent brewing executive, died yesterday in Henrotin hospital after a month's illness. He was 73 years old.

He was also head of the Available Truck company and a director of the Eddy Paper company and of the Chicago and Calumet Transit company. He was a director and former president of the United Brewers' Industrial foundation. A native of Chicago, he had been in the brewing business since 1885.

His home was at 4234 Hazel avenue. He leaves a widow, Kate, and two sisters, Anna Landsberg of Chicago and Mrs. Carrie Bellman of Albuquerque, N. M. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 10:45 a. m., from the residence to St. Mary of the Lake church.

SUBWAY STAFF ESCAPES CITY'S PAY CUT ORDER

City workers in the department of subways and superhighways have escaped the salary cuts which the city council voted in the 1941 budget. City Controler Robert B. Upham said yesterday that he has not applied the pay cuts to that department because it received a lump sum appropriation in the budget, without specific mention of each job and salary.

In other city departments, whose jobs are mentioned in the budget, the salaries of all workers earning $3,000 a year or more have been reduced from 4 to 10 per cent. In the department of subways, Upham said, the authority to fix salaries lies with the commissioner, Philip Harrington.

Harrington could not be reached for comment yesterday, but Ralph Burke, deputy commissioner, said salaries in the department have not been reduced because they are paid, in part, from federal funds under the city's PWA subway grant. The balance, he said, comes from the traction fund, and none is taken from tax levies.

At the time the budget was being prepared Mayor Kelly said the city feared it might lose the subway engineers if their salaries were cut. Many of them are being sought for national preparedness jobs at higher wages than the city is paying them, the mayor explained.

City pay roll records show that Commissioner Harrington is still receiving the $1,666 a month which he got last year.

TINY BROTHERS DIE IN EMBRACE AS HOME BURNS

La Porte, Ind., Feb. 20 [Special].—Two little brothers died clasped in each other's arms today as fire trapped them in their frame cottage at Poplar Beach, on Pine lake, three miles north of here.

The victims were Gerald Clancy Jr., 4 years old, and Dickie, 2. Death came to them while their father was at work in a machine shop in La Porte and their mother was shopping at a grocery a quarter of a mile away. It was a tragic birthday for Mrs. Clancy, who was 22 years old today.

DRIVER GIVES UP; ADMITS HIS CAR KILLED A WOMAN

Donald J. McCann, 35 years old, 4852 North Keeler avenue, an automobile mechanic, surrendered yesterday to the Albany Park police and confessed that his automobile struck and killed a woman on Monday at Elston and Hamlin avenues. The victim was Mrs. Elizabeth Markham, 43, of 3319 South Claremont avenue, mother of six children.

Accompanied by his attorney, Thomas O'Malley, McCann walked into the station and said that his conscience had been bothering him since he read a newspaper account of the accident and recalled that he heard a thud against his car while driving near there. At the time, he said, he looked back, but saw nothing. McCann was released in $4,000 bond. He will be arraigned in Felony court March 25 on charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident.

Jacob Kirg, 83 years old, 1653 North Oakley avenue, a retired masonry contractor, died yesterday in St. Elizabeth's hospital which he helped build nearly 50 years ago. On Feb. 3 he was struck by a truck at Western and Chicago avenues. The driver was Russell Fairbank, 3312 South Harvey avenue, Berwyn.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 123 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 99 were killed in Chicago, where 3,025 were injured in the same period.

DR. ARTHUR HAAS IS DEAD; NOTED PHYSICS SCHOLAR

Dr. Arthur E. Haas, internationally known professor of physics at the University of Notre Dame, died yesterday in the county hospital at the age of 57. While attending a scientific meeting here last November, Dr. Haas suffered a paralytic stroke in the Asther Health institute, 32 North State street, where he had gone for treatment.

Dr. Haas was born in Bruenn, former Czecho-Slovakia. He taught for several years at the University of Vienna and in Germany and England. In 1927 he came to America.

His widow, Emma, and two children survive. Services will be held tomorrow morning at Notre Dame, Ind.

HUSBAND'S CONFIDENCE IN WIFE KEEPS HER OUT OF JAIL IN TRAFFIC CASE

Because Mrs. Eleanor Struckmeier, 38 years old, mother of two children, had the confidence of her husband, Judge Thomas A. Green of the Safety court relented yesterday. He canceled a five day county jail sentence imposed on Wednesday and instead placed Mrs. Struckmeier on probation for a year and suspended her driver's license for the same period.

She was charged with concealing the identity of a driver involved in an accident. Mrs. Struckmeier insisted she was alone when her automobile struck a child on Jan. 16. Witnesses testified, however, that a man was driving and fled after the accident.

Mrs. Struckmeier's husband, William, a clock inspector, came to court to say that his wife's word was good enough for him. Impressed by this, Judge Green changed the sentence.

BUILDERS CHART COURSE TOWARD A BETTER NATION

Slum Clearance Bill Termed Good Step.

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

Broad approaches to problems of city building, zoning, transportation, mortgage legislation and relations between labor and industry were outlined last night at the second annual dinner and conference of the Chicago Building congress, held at the Palmer House.

Albert W. Hawkes.

Governor Promises Aid.

Gov. Dwight H. Green sent from Springfield a telegram in which he told the building congress that government, capital and labor must unite on a program for slum clearance.

"A large portion of our big city population lives in squalid congested districts which are breeding places of disease and crime," his message said. "These conditions are detrimental to the nation and a smudge on democracy. The general assembly and other agencies of state government are cognizant of these conditions, and every effort is being made to coöperate with private capital in entering upon a program of slum clearance."

Hawkes, declaring that the armament effort requires the proper timing of all projects and expenditures if inflation is to be avoided, proposed that construction of housing be held to the limits of necessity until the rearming job is done, so that building work can absorb the labor and capital which then will be seeking employment.

Shun Dictatorship, He Warns.

Asserting the arms program is making increasing demands on manpower and materials, creating the danger of inflation, Hawkes said: "We should avoid doing any new things that are not necessities. We must lay up a backlog of projects which will call for employment when the military program is completed."

Hawkes said that if the nation is to continue as a democracy and avoid evils which would lead to dictatorship, the public must keep constant watch on its elected representatives. He urged that labor not seek to improve its position at a faster rate than the economic system can sustain, and suggested that capital give further thought to wage dividend plans.

Construction in America since its founding surpasses anything done anywhere else in a similar period in history, Hawkes said, but added the opportunity for improving housing conditions still is almost unlimited.

Contribution to American System.

In this connection he commended the building congress for its Neighborhood Redevelopment corporation bill, which has been introduced in the Illinois legislature. The bill would give private capital limited powers to condemn a fraction of land needed for slum clearing projects.

"This act is one of the most forward thinking proposals I have seen in years," said Hawkes. "Nothing could be more important than the clearing and rehabilitation of slum areas. I hope it will be enacted, because in itself it will be notice to the world that the people of Illinois still believe in our private enterprise system.

"In eradicating slum areas and rebuilding them in line with safety, health, and tax economy, you will be contributing to continuance of the American way of life."

Ald. Lindell discussed the housing program for Chicago which the city council recently adopted and which embraced plans for neighborhood conservation, rehabilitation and demolition of buildings, development of a city plan, expansion of baby parks and playgrounds, rezoning, large scale housing and a study of new methods of construction.

Progress in Rezoning.

"Many of these activities are under way already," Lindell said. "The law department has developed a procedure for rehabilitation of buildings. A new plan commission is preparing a new city plan.

"The general assembly has under consideration the Neighborhood Redevelopment corporation bill, which represents the best judgment that could be given to that subject. Rezoning of the city is proceeding satisfactorily and should be completed this year."

Lindell said that under present zoning rules the city has 12 times as much commercial space as can ever be used.

Inviting the aid of all groups in trying to meet the city's rezoning and rehabilitation problems, the alderman said:

Utility Offers Plan to Limit Its Holdings

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—The United Gas Improvement company asserted today its readiness to dispose of some outlying units in its $800,000,000 empire, but indicated an intention to challenge the limits to which the Securities and Exchange commission might go in enforcing the death sentence of the holding company act.

The commission has proposed that the system be reduced to include about $350,000,000 of electric properties in an area roughly 30 by 80 miles centering in Philadelphia, along with some nonutility interests.

Wants to Sell Some Units.

William Clarke Mason, U. G. I. attorney, offered this general outline of what the company believed was required by the act:

It must dispose of Arizona Power company in Arizona, Concord Gas company and Manchester Gas company in New Hampshire, Wyandotte County Gas company in Kansas, and Nashville Gas and Heating company in Tennessee; also some nonutility properties.

Mason expressed the company's willingness to take those steps and explained that it had been trying for years to sell those utilities.

Mason took the position that a Connecticut law which forbids outside control of a utility in the state answered any showing of control as defined by the holding company act.

Asks 10 Days Delay.

He said that he did not believe that the Philadelphia Gas Works company, which operates under lease an estimated $80,000,000 of gas properties owned by the city of Philadelphia, was affected. He contended that the company, which is wholly owned by U. G. I., was merely an agent for the city.

He indicated that his stand with reference to Public Service Company of New Jersey, in which U. G. I. has a $56,000,000 investment, was similar to that on the Connecticut properties.

Mason asked for at least 10 days in which to prepare to argue three major points:

The SEC ruling in the Columbia Gas and Electric company case that a single integrated system may not include both gas and electric subsidiaries; the SEC's tentative ruling by which it would confine a "primary" system and any "additional" systems to one geographic area, and the disposition of incidental properties of the system.

JOBS, PAY ROLLS DECLINE IN STATE DURING JANUARY

Altho several manufacturing groups reported gains, employment and pay rolls of Illinois manufacturing and nonmanufacturing establishments combined decreased 2.9 per cent and 3.9 per cent, respectively, from December to January, Martin P. Durkin, state director of labor, announced yesterday.

However, Durkin said that the decreases represented approximately the normal or expected seasonal change, and should not be taken as an indication of a setback in the present trend of increased industrial activity.

Compared with like periods of recent years, the January indices of employment and pay rolls were 9.1 per cent and 13.7 per cent above January, 1940; 20 and 29.7 per cent higher than for that month in 1939, and 5.9 and 17.3 per cent over the January, 1937, indices.

CHICAGO AREA FIRMS PUT MORE INTO EXPANSION

More than $5,500,000 in capital investment has been earmarked for further industrial development in the Chicago area during the last 30 days, Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said yesterday.

The Wisconsin Steel works, subsidiary of International Harvester company, is installing additional open hearth furnace equipment and increasing its steel ingot making capacity 100,000 tons annually. Another of the larger programs is the $1,000,000 expansion planned by the Socony Vacuum Oil company at its East Chicago refinery.

During the first two months of 1941 75 Chicago area companies have begun industrial developments of $71,065,000, compared with 40 enterprises and $9,797,000 for the 1940 period.

BANK CLEARINGS RISE OVER YEAR AND WEEK AGO

The total for 23 cities was $6,276,427,000, a gain of $1,901,797,000 over the preceding holiday week. Against last year's $5,178,814,000 the rise amounted to more than 21 per cent.

Detroit showed a 61 per cent gain over last year. Chicago volume was $409,100,000 against $328,006,000 in 1940, up 24.7 per cent.

Bank of England's Gold Holdings Rise Fifth Week

LONDON, Feb. 20 (AP).—The fifth successive weekly increase in bullion raised gold holdings of the Bank of England to £1,520,000 [about $6,080,000], highest amount since last July, the bank's weekly statement disclosed today.

Clear Ground for Chicago Engine Plant

TaxExemption Called Final State Bulwark

The ultimate goal of the present move to remove tax exemption from state and municipal securities is to destroy the last bulwark of state sovereignty and independence, Harley Lutz, Princton university professor of public finance, said yesterday.

Harley Lutz.

Lutz, one of the country's leading tax authorities, asserted there is no question that the removal of the tax exemption will impair the borrowing power of state governments and local political units. He spoke at a luncheon meeting in the Palmer House sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Stripped of Other Powers.

"The power to borrow money is the last bulwark of state independence," Lutz said. "The states have been stripped of most of their other sovereign powers by the encroachment of the federal government and now that power is threatened."

The proposal to lift the tax exemption is being pushed by the treasury department. A bill to make the securities fully taxable was introduced at the last session of congress by Senator Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.] but was decisively beaten in the senate. The administration is expected to revive the measure at this session if it appears to have a chance of passage.

Lutz described as a fallacy the treasury's claims that the lifting of tax exemption will increase net government revenues. Instead, he said, there will be a loss because of the higher interest rates which government agencies will have to pay on borrowed money. Such agencies, he said, hold more than a fifth of the total government debt.

Says States Will Decline.

He cited figures to refute the treasury's assertion that the very wealthy have rushed to invest their funds in tax exempt issues to escape the increasing income taxes in recent years.

A smaller percentage of the assets of large estates are so invested today than in 1934, he said.

State and local governments, Lutz said, are already dependent to a large degree on federal munificence and if their borrowing power is further impaired it will mean the demise of the federal system as we have known it in the past.

"States will pass," he said, "to the status of mere provinces, and the federal government will take over their powers."

CHICAGO STORE SALES CLIMB TO NEW 1941 PEAK

Chicago department stores and department stores in cities in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district last week enjoyed the largest volume of business in the last five years for the second week of February as sales expanded to new records for 1941, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Sales in the district were 15 per cent ahead of the corresponding week in 1940.

The bank has kept records of department store sales on a weekly basis only since 1937. Sales last week surpassed all previous records for a corresponding week.

In the city of Chicago stores did 9 per cent more business last week than they did in the corresponding week in 1940. For the last two weeks they did 12 per cent more than last year.

The Federal Reserve board estimated that department store sales thruout the nation made an aggregate gain of 19 per cent last week over a year ago.

BORROWING COST OF U. S. AGENCY IS UP SLIGHTLY

New York, Feb. 20 (AP).—The cost of borrowing was slightly higher today on new security offerings by the Federal Intermediate Credit banks—securities without the tax exempt feature of former issues.

Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent, sold $25,000,000 of the banks' ¾ of 1 per cent consolidated debentures, due in 6 and 10 months, at prices representing slight premiums for both maturities.

The debentures, while exempt from state, municipal, and local taxation, are subject to federal taxation. Today's issue of debentures yield .35 and .50 per cent to maturity for the 6 and 10 months' issues respectively, contrasted with .25 and .30 per cent yields on 9 and 12 months' issues offered last month.

WORK STARTED AT STUDEBAKER ENGINE PLANT

About 100 workers were engaged yesterday in grading and clearing the site for the plant which the Studebaker corporation is building at the southwest corner of Archer and Cicero avenues for the manufacture of precision parts for airplane engines. The S. N. Nielsen company has the contract for the work.

When the plant is completed, some 4,000 Chicago district workers will be employed. The Chicago plant is one of three which are being built by Studebaker for the production of Wright aeronautical type engines for military aircraft. Other plants will be located in Fort Wayne and South Bend. Engines will be assembled at the latter.

Harold S. Vance, chairman of the board of Studebaker, said it is hoped to have construction sufficiently advanced by May 1 to permit the start of installation of machinery.

EXTRA DIVIDENDS ARE DECLARED BY THREE CONCERNS

Extra dividends were declared yesterday by three companies.

Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago pharmaceutical manufacturer, authorized an extra disbursement of 10 cents in addition to the regular quarterly 40 cents on common. Directors of Chesebrough Manufacturing company, New York, voted an extra of 50 cents together with the regular quarterly $1.

WICKARD PLANS REFERENDUM ON WHEAT QUOTAS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard today announced plans to conduct a grower referendum May 31 to invoke marketing quotas on wheat for the purpose of keeping surplus 1941 production off the market.

He said present estimates indicate that the supply for the marketing year beginning next July 1 would be in excess of the level requiring a quota referendum, as specified by the 1938 agricultural adjustment act.

Quotas would have to be approved by two-thirds of the growers voting.

People and Events

Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington Lines, will be presented the Washington award for 1941 at the dinner of the Washington Award commission Monday evening in the Palmer House. Budd, who was voted the award for "vision and courageous leadership" in railroad transportation, will speak on "Transportation Today." The commission, which confers its award annually, represents five engineering societies in the United States.

David W. Thurston, Los Angeles contractor, has been assigned as operations officer for the war department's sixth construction zone. His headquarters will be in Chicago.

Ralph M. Shaw yesterday was elected chairman of the board and general counsel and Patrick H. Joyce was elected president and chairman of the executive committee of the Chicago Great Western Railway company. The railroad is a newly organized Illinois corporation and yesterday took title to the properties of the Chicago Great Western Railroad company, which has been in trusteeship since 1933.

Motor Freight Rate Raised to Equal Rail Cost

Principal freight forwarders and motors carriers will raise their rates to approximately the level of straight rail rates between Chicago and many southwestern and western points on Feb. 25, officials disclosed yesterday. Rates to other cities in these districts will be raised March 15. The increases are planned to be applied to the eastern territory later.

As an example of the effect of this move, officials cited the charges for hauling merchandise of the first classification from Chicago to Kansas City. Under the new schedule of tariffs, motor carriers and forwarders would raise their present rate of $1.20 per hundred pounds to the $1.43 rate of the railroads.

Makes Service the Basis.

The effect of the increase, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce, will be to place the whole competition between railroads, motor carriers, and forwarders entirely on the basis of service rather than cost on less than carload traffic.

At present forwarders consolidate less than carload merchandise into carload quantities for shippers, whom they charge less than rail rates for less than carloads. Under the proposed new schedule they would lift the rates to the level of the less than carload charges. The new plan also provides for abolishing quantity discounts by the motor carriers.

Opposed by A. of C.

One of the principal reasons for the increase, according to forwarders and motor carriers, is the removal of chaotic price cutting within the business.

The Association of Commerce, however, is opposed to the arbitrary fixing of rates, asserting that any economies of operation of transportation agencies should be passed on to the shipping public. The association contends also that the new plan violates the policy of preserving the "inherent advantage of each" kind of transportation as contained in the transportation act of 1940.

COURT REFUSES TO KILL SUIT AGAINST UNION

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 20 (AP).—Federal Judge J. Cullen Ganey held today that the United States Supreme court decision in the Apex Hosiery company case does not exempt labor unions entirely from prosecution under the Sherman and Clayton antitrust laws.

He said the high court's ruling in dismissing the Apex $3,500,000 damage suit against the C. I. O. hosiery workers union "only relieves unions from being penalized for violations committed in the course of labor disputes.

It does not, Judge Ganey ruled, exempt them from being penalized "for conspiracies to restrain trade in which questions of labor are absent." He made the ruling in rejecting a request by the local A. F. of L. Teamsters' union for dismissal of a triple damage suit for $381,000 filed against the union by Edward A. Hunt and Robert Hunt, former operators of a motor trucking service.

SEC BEGINS QUIZ OF COUNTER SALE IN LISTED STOCKS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission announced today that it had begun a study of over the counter trading in stocks listed on national exchanges.

Particular emphasis will be given, it said, to "the problems arising as the result of secondary distribution by members of exchanges in the over the counter market." It was by this method that millions of dollars in securities recently have been sold in huge blocks.

The SEC sent a questionnaire to all members of security exchanges concerning over the counter transactions in listed stocks last year.

Offer Insurance Stock.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 20 (AP).—An offering of 3,000 shares of Travelers Insurance company stock at $400 a share, reportedly in settling an estate, was made over the counter today by Putnam & Co. The entire issue was reported placed before noon.

Banks and Markets Close Tomorrow

Most United States banks, security and commodity markets will close Saturday in observance of George Washington's birthday. Live stock markets and the Winnipeg, Canada, grain exchange will conduct business as usual. In Chicago the Stock exchange, Board of Trade, and Mercantile exchange will be closed along with the banks.

U. S. PLANS SALE OF 2 BILLIONS IN TAXABLE ISSUES

Remove Exemptions on All Liens.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—The treasury today eliminated federal tax exemptions on all its future issues of securities—from $25 savings bonds to $1,000 units of standard bills, notes and bonds—and prepared to issue about $2,000,000,000 of new taxable securities within the next two months.

Less than 24 hours after President Roosevelt signed an act raising the federal debt limit from $40,000,000,000 to $65,000,000,000 and giving the treasury discretionary authority to sell taxable securities, Secretary Morgenthau told reporters of the new program.

200 Millions of Bills Weekly.

He said he planned to:

1. Issue $200,000,000 of 91 day treasury bills each week starting the first week in March and continuing until further notice. On this operation, the treasury will get $100,000,000 of new money and use the other $100,000,000 to pay off similar maturing securities.

2. Refund $545,000,000 of 3¾ per cent bonds and $677,000,000 of 1½ per cent treasury notes, both maturing March 15. Morgenthau said that "if nothing out of the ordinary happens over the week end," new securities would be announced next week to be traded for these maturing securities.

3. Sell on behalf of the Reconstruction Finance corporation possibly in March but probably in April, about $500,000,000 of securities. He explained that the RFC proposed to use $300,000,000 of the proceeds to repay the treasury for its past contributions to the corporation.

Finance Purchase of Materials.

The RFC will keep the remainder for its own needs, particularly the purchase of strategic materials abroad and financing of factory construction for the military program.

In announcing that these securities would be taxable, Morgenthau said also that all savings bonds sold to the public after March 1 would also be subject to taxation. Income from the securities will not however, be subject to state income taxes.

The secretary told a press conference he was still working on plans for a large-scale sale of savings stamps and other securities to raise money for arms. Congress has been asked for $3,000,000 for publicity and advertising expenses of the sales campaign.

Officials indicated the savings stamps would be "national preparedness" issues of the existing postal savings stamps, which are sold in denominations of 10, 25, and 50 cents, and $1.00. Other securities in larger amounts also are being planned at the treasury.

Promises no High Pressure.

Morgenthau said he could not give any details of the securities or the promotion campaign except that "there is not going to be any high pressure—we are going to try to make it just as interesting as possible but not make anybody feel uncomfortable about whether they invest or don't invest."

During the day, the treasury disclosed that expenditures for the fiscal year which began last July 1, already had reached $7,000,182,011. Arms program expenditures accounted for $2,686,730,126 of the total which was almost exactly double the federal revenues for the period. Borrowing to pay the $3,454,698,104 deficit had boosted the debt today to $46,047,846,690.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC GAINS, AGAINST SEASONAL TREND

Cars of revenue freight loaded in the United States during the week ended Feb. 15 totaled 721,176, an increase of 10,980 cars, or 1.5 per cent, over the preceding week and the highest for any parallel week since 1930, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The week's shipments were 18.6 per cent larger than the same week a year ago and 25.1 per cent ahead of 1939.

Excess Profits Tax Bill Aimed at Inequalities

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Representative Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, said today that he will introduce on Monday a bill to remove what he termed inequities in the excess profits tax law enacted during the last session of congress.

Rep. R. L. Doughton.

He will ask committee approval on Monday and request house consideration the following day, indicating the speed thought essential for clearing up the complexities and confusion inherent in the law rushed thru in compliance with President Roosevelt's request to take profiteering out of the armament program.

Modified Tax Forecast.

Altho Doughton declined to discuss details of the bill, it was understood that it would modify the tax rather than stiffen it to any extent. These modifications are being rushed to permit easier computation of the 1940 tax.

Later, the treasury is expected to have recommendations for boosting the tax penalty on what are considered "excess" profits, in line with an administration claim that the present law is not preventing profiteering.

One provision of the Doughton bill would clarify a section of the law which gives the commissioner of internal revenue "authority to make such adjustments as may be necessary to adjust abnormalities affecting income or capital," but fails to establish standards by which he can make his decisions or by which the taxpayer can apply for relief.

Help Growing Corporations.

The Doughton bill is expected to contain particular relief for growing corporations which are penalized severely by the tax as it now stands. The new formula would reflect growth more accurately for those corporations using the average earnings method rather than the invested capital method of computing excess profits.

Under the average earnings method recent profits are compared with earnings between 1936 and 1939, inclusive. The corporation is allowed a 95 per cent credit of the average earnings for that period, and the remainder is taxed at 25 to 50 per cent, depending upon the amount of earnings.

Under a proposed change, where a corporation showed an upward trend in earnings for the four base years, the average of the first two years would be compared with the average of the last two years and allowance made for the rate of increase.

Other Remedies Suggested.

Other remedies which might be incorporated in the amending bill include suggestions for allowing corporations regardless of size, to carry over into one year any unused portion of the excess profits tax credit from the preceding year—offsetting profits in one year with the losses of the prior year.

The invested capital basis of determining the tax penalty allows a tax credit of 8 per cent of the invested capital in the taxable year, the remainder being subject to the tax. Invested capital is defined as money or property paid in for stock, plus accumulated earnings and 50 per cent of borrowed capital. Under both the average earnings and invested capital methods a flat exemption of $5,000 is allowed before application of the tax rates.

WAGE-HOUR CHIEF HITS EXTRA PAY FOR WEEK-ENDS

Bangor, Me., Feb. 20 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, wage-hour administrator, declared today that agreements for the payment of overtime wage rates for work done on Saturday and Sunday—simply because it is Saturday or Sunday—should be waived for the present.

He referred to payments not required by law but which are arranged for privately to cover the days at the end of the week. The wage-hour law merely requires the payment of time and a half for overtime beyond 40 hours a week, not differentiating between days.

"The Saturday overtime penalty," he declared, "simply prolongs the week-end shutdown and discourages the use of additional shifts."

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (AP).—The Federal Power commission announced today it had authorized issuance of a license to the Pacific Gas and Electric company for construction and operation of the $19,000,000 Cresta and Pulga hydroelectric developments, on the Feather river in California.

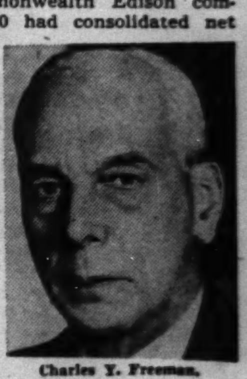
EDISON INCOME FOR 1940 RISES TO 29 MILLIONS

Revenues Largest in Company's History.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Commonwealth Edison company in 1940 had consolidated net income of $29,170,756, compared with $25,414,590 in the preceding year, Charles Y. Freeman, chairman, announced yesterday.



Charles Y. Freeman.

The report on the financial results for 1940 showed that the total revenues were the largest in the company's history. It also disclosed that the company is going ahead with plans to add further to its power generating capacity.

In addition to projects now under way that were previously announced the company disclosed that it will add two new generating units at its Fisk station. Each will have a rated capacity of 150,000 kilowatts. One will go into service in the fall of 1942 and the second a year later.

Meet Growing Power Load.

The company has been adding steadily to its generating capacity in recent years and the latest projects will enable it to continue its policy of maintaining an adequate reserve to meet the growing power load.

The large increase in industrial power consumption in 1940 was mainly responsible for the gain in the total revenues of the company which amounted to $154,805,524, compared with $145,873,845 in 1939. Sales of electric energy to all groups of consumers increased in 1940 but the largest gain [10.7 per cent] was made in sales to large commercial and industrial users. The total of kilowatt hours of electricity sold was 7.4 per cent greater than in 1939.

Larger taxes, particularly federal income taxes, absorbed most of the increase in total revenues. Net operating revenue was only slightly higher than in 1939, totaling $40,564,609 against $40,295,934.

Benefits by Conversion.

However, the reduction in interest charges resulting from the conversion of debentures into common stock resulted in an increase in the consolidated net income altho the earnings per share were lower than in 1939.

The $29,170,756 consolidated net income was equal to $2.32 a share on the 12,565,140 shares of stock outstanding at the end of the year. The 1939 net income of $25,414,590 equaled $2.43 a share on the smaller number of shares [10,471,516] outstanding at the end of 1939.

The company began a program several years ago to reduce its funded debt. Instead of issuing bonds to refund maturing obligations and to raise new money it issued 129 millions of convertible debentures.

These debentures have been gradually turned in for common stock. Of the original issue of debentures only $26,226,200 remained unconverted at the end of 1940. The effect of this program has been to cut interest charges and raise net income but because of the accompanying increase in the shares of stock outstanding there has been a decrease in the earnings on each share.

Taxes Reach 9 Millions.

Federal income taxes of the company increased to $9,956,626 in 1940 from $5,879,760 in the preceding year. Other taxes amounted to $21,447,429 against $20,411,338. The increase in federal taxes resulted from higher rates in effect in 1940. The effective rate of the company was 24 per cent. The company did not incur any liability under the excess profits tax enacted by congress last year.

The new generating units brought into service in 1940, Freeman said, raised the effective producing capacity of the Edison system to 1,985,000 kilowatts. The peak load during the present winter season thus far was 1,600,000 kilowatts.

With additional units to be brought into service this year the total capacity available for the 1941-'42 winter season will be 2,150,000 kilowatts.

Stockholders of the company at the end of 1940 numbered 100,100, the first time the total has exceeded 100,000.

BROADEST RALLY IN MONTHS LIFTS SHARES MARKET

Industrial Stocks Climb 1 to 3 Points.

New York, Feb. 20 (AP).—The stock market retrieved 1 to about 3 points of recent losses for leading industrials and rails today in the best general upturn in nearly four months.

The list opened higner and, while there was no buying rush at any time, the steady rallying trend was maintained thruout the session.

Transfers totaled 451,630 shares compared with 465,430 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, however, held a net gain of .8 of a point at 40.7. It was the largest rise for any day since Nov. 7.

War Fears Remain.

Helping the right-about, brokers said, were reports congress was considering some alterations of the tax laws as a means of easing the burden of excess profits levies for corporations. In addition, a little more notice was taken of the optimistic business picture and Washington opinions that the labor situation was well in hand.

Restraining factors persisted in the fears of a war outbreak in the far east and apprehension over the United States actually getting into the conflict either in the Atlantic or Pacific.

CHICAGO PRICES RISE.

Prices advanced cautiously in light trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of the 86 active issues, 45 moved up, 19 declined, and 22 closed unchanged. Only 17,000 shares changed hands. Libby, McNeill & Libby, the volume leader, was up ¼ at 5¼.

From 2 to 3 o'clock only 860 shares were transferred, one of the smallest totals since the extra hour was added to the trading session last September. A comparison of several dually listed stocks, showing the changes here in the hour after the New York close, follows:

WHEAT FUTURES RISE; REPORT CROP DAMAGED

Wheat prices rose again yesterday. Persistent buying of the May delivery was attributed to mills and cash grain handlers, said to be based on improved flour demand and strength in securities. Futures on the Chicago Board of Trade closed ½ to 1¼ cents a bushel higher, the latter on May.

Corn showed an easy undertone from the start, and futures closed ⅜ to ⅛ cent lower, the latter on May which led the upturn on Wednesday. Oats finished unchanged to ¼ cent higher and rye was ¼ to ½ cent higher. Soy beans closed ⅞ to 1¼ cents higher. A better demand was reported for beans in the cash market.

TIN PRICES SOAR; SILK GAINS, BUT RUBBER DECLINES

Most Other Commodity Futures Advance.

Tin set the pace of a higher trend among commodity futures yesterday by continuing its spectacular rise of the last week. Prices shot up nearly 1½ cents a pound with speculative buying induced by the possibility far eastern developments might interfere with supplies. Silk and rubber, which also come from the far east, took divergent paths, silk extending its gains and rubber sagging under liquidation after reaching a peak Wednesday.

At 53.77½ cents a pound, the May tin delivery reached another in a series of new 1941 highs before closing at 53.60 cents bid. Final prices were ahead 0.95 to 1.40 cents. The cash market jumped 1½ cents to 54 cents a pound.

Silk Rises 2 to 6 Cents.

Silk futures rose 3 to 6 cents to $2.61 a pound bid for February, while the cash price added 2 cents at $2.64½. Rubber fell 0.30 to 0.37 cent a pound to 20.73 cents in the May position.

Copper was outstanding among the other staples for future delivery with a new high in May at 11.69 cents a pound. The contract ended at 11.59 cents.

Zinc rose briskly, gaining 0.40 cent at 10.50 cents a pound for May, while lead inched ahead 0.01 cent to 5.58 cents bid in that position.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Consumer demand for lamb meat and the strong position of the wool trade resulted in the liveliest competition in many months in the lamb and sheep market at the stock yards yesterday. Prices rose 15 to 25 cents to the highest level in seven months and to the highest February basis in 11 years. The $11.25 a hundred pounds top for wool lambs was the highest for this month since 1930.

Heavy steers and yearlings sold off 25 to 50 cents. Light and medium weights were steady to 25 cents lower for the day.

Sheep receipts, 9,500; shipments, 2,000.

BUILDERS CHART COURSE TOWARD A BETTER NATION

Slum Clearance Bill Is Termed Good Step.

organization has proved to be far sighted and community minded in challenging the slum problem. The proposed redevelopment corporation law is a step in the right direction."

King outlined the provisions and purposes of the proposed real estate mortgage act aimed at making real estate more liquid by simplifying and modernizing the present foreclosure proceedings, which many authorities in the field term obsolete.

Predicts Transit Agreement.

D'Esposito, who is federal project construction engineer for the Chicago subway, declared he believed that the present impasse in negotiations for traction unification is temporary, and that an agreement will be reached. He said Chicago's transportation is not speedy enough. A system that requires 30 minutes to carry riders 10 or 15 miles is almost worthless, he said.

Jensen said that reconstruction of Chicago will require tax reform, a modernized foreclosure system, a better zoning ordinance, improvement in transportation, and a remedy for the slum and blight problem. In addition, as a long term program, Chicago will need a master plan of development for the city, superhighways to facilitate speedy and safe movement into and out of the city, and more airplane landing fields, Jensen said.

Angell, as chairman of the banquet committee, welcomed the congress members and their guests.

LEVER BROTHERS.

Is Lever Brothers & Unilever an English or a Dutch company? What is the nature of its business?—D. B.

Answer: There are two separate companies with similar names: Lever Brothers & Unilever Ltd., a British company, and Lever Brothers & Unilever N. V., a Dutch enterprise. The two are affiliated.

The British company controls large soap and margarine manufacturing properties in the British empire, while the Dutch corporation owns margarine and other enterprises in the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, France, Belgium, Germany, Italy, and other countries.

BRITISH HOLDINGS.

I understand that the British treasury has completely liquidated its entire holdings, as of January 1, of 68 leading American securities acquired from British subjects. Do you know whether Consolidated Oil and North American stocks were among those which the British disposed of entirely?—W. M. J.

Answer: T. J. C. Gifford, special agent of the British treasury in charge of selling British owned securities in this country, reported that holdings of Consolidated Oil and North American Aviation stocks have been sold completely.

Investors who desire to learn whether the British treasury continues to hold securities of American companies in which they are interested may obtain the information by sending a stamped, addressed envelope to the Investors' Guide.

PARTLY TAXABLE.

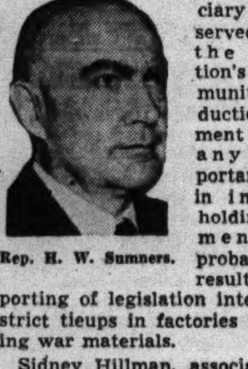
SUMNERS WARNS AGAINST STRIKES AT ARMS PLANTS

Threatens Legislation to Stop Labor Tieups.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rep. H. W. Sumners.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Chairman Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.] of the house judiciary committee served notice on the administration's arms and munitions production management today that any more important strikes in industries holding government orders probably would result in the reporting of legislation intended to restrict tieups in factories manufacturing war materials.

Sidney Hillman, associate director general [with William S. Knudsen] of the office of production management, was on the witness stand thruout the day in the committee's investigation of walkouts hampering the output of planes, tanks, tools, and other weapons.

Sumners Pledges Caution.

After Hillman had insisted repeatedly and with emphasis that no new legislation was wanted or needed by the OPM, Sumners said to him:

"This committee is going to be cautious, but if we have any more strikes like Vultee [airplane strike in California] and Allis-Chalmers [electrical machinery tieup in Milwaukee] we are going to have to do something. This is not a threat to you, but the people expect us to do something if such things continue."

Hillman asserted he had told labor what was at stake and that he was certain of the continued "coöperation" of labor in the avoidance of strikes. He declared that labor leaders had committed themselves to prevent the calling of strikes until sufficient advance notice had been given the government so that it might intervene.

Cites Reports on Contracts.

Hillman replied that the building trades unions, on their own volition, had just recommended that only time and a half should be charged for overtime in war material industries. Their sacrifice of double time for overtime was a "tremendous concession," he said.

BANKS' EXCESS RESERVE FUNDS CLIMB IN WEEK

The federal reserve board reported yesterday that lendable excess reserves of reserve system member banks increased $110,000,000 to a total of $6,440,000,000 in the week ended Wednesday. The board ascribed the gain primarily to treasury spending.

Business loans outstanding of member banks in Chicago dropped $2,000,000 to a total of $497,000,000. However, New York member banks' business loans rose $22,000,000 to $2,002,000,000 during the week.
